Arabs Rush Men, Guns For Drive On Tel Aviv

Gigantic Encircling Move Reported Around Capital of New Jewish State

By Max Boyd

Cairo, May 31 (AP).—Allied Arab armies today poured men, guns and armor into a 40-mile front aimed at Tel Aviv and the entire southern half of embattled Israel's costal strip.

The front extends from Jerusalem to Tulkarm, a dispatch from central Palestine said. It forms the eastern side of a gigantic encircling movement the Arabs said their troops were making around Tel Aviv, initial capital and military headquarters of the new Jewish state.

A bulletin issued by the Arab higher committee in Cairo claimed that Iraqi troops had cut off Tel Aviv from the northern port of Haifa by slicing through the coastal strip. There was no confirmation from Arab military circles.

Highway Battle

The announcement said the Iraqi soldiers captured Natanya, on the coast 18 miles north of Tel Aviv, and added: "Communications between Tel Aviv and Haifa have been cut."

Arab legionnaires from Trans-Jordan announced they had smashed a Jewish attempt to open the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway. The Jews lost 114 dead, an Amman communique said. The highway battle was fought in the Bab el Wad-Latrun area, 10 to 14 miles west of Jerusalem.

Arab troops maneuvered on the northern, southern and eastern approaches of Tel Aviv. One Arab informant said Iraqi soldiers were only 3 miles from the city.

Air Combat Reported

Earlier the British-controlled Near East radio said Iraqi troops in the Natanya area occupied Kfar Yona, halfway through the coastal strip and about 4 miles from the Mediterranean.

An Israeli communique said Jewish fighter planes engaged Arab aircraft over Tulkarm yesterday. This may have been the first air combat of the 16-day-old war. "One enemy Spitfire was seen to explode in the air," the bulletin said.

The Jews also said their planes bombed four Sherman tanks on the Tulkarm road as well as Arab concentrations at the Tulkarm police barracks. Israeli planes and field guns in combined operations carried out night attacks on military targets in Er Ramle and Lydda, site of a former British airfield. Er Ramle is 11 miles southeast of Tel Aviv.

Arab Leaders Meet

Political representatives of the seven Arab League states met in Amman, the capital of Trans-Jordan, tonight to draft an Arab reply to the United Nations' latest call for a four-weeks true in the Palestine war. The U. N. Security Council fixed 6 p. m. (EDT) tomorrow as the deadline for the Arabs and Jews to file replies.

Some neutral circles in Cairo said the Arabs hope to surround Tel Aviv, as they have Jerusalem, before agreeing to any truce. One authoritative Arab source said the Arab League likely will demand cancellation of the U. N. scheme to partition Palestine.

Irgun Zvai Leumi, the former Jewish underground organization, said its units were forced to fall back at Ras El Ain, 9 miles northeast of Tel Aviv, after armor-supported Iraqi troops launched a heavy counterattack. Pumping installations for Jerusalem's water system are located at Ras El Ain.

Arab accounts indicated the most powerful Arab drive on Tel Aviv was coming westward through the heart of Palestine. Israel's army announced strikes against positions on the northern flank of this operation.

The British-controlled Near East Radio said Iraqi troops are within four miles of dividing the Israeli coastal strip in the Natanya area. One Egyptian

Paul Robeson Defiant on Communism

By The Associated Press

Paul Robeson, singer, told Senate questioners yesterday he would go to jail before he would say whether he is a Communist.

Senator Moore (R., Okla.) promptly adopted the idea, with the suggestion that "sometimes a year in jail cools some of these people off."

But Chairman Wiley (R., Wis.) of the Judiciary Committee said he doubted that the committee would take contempt action. Robeson was testifying before the judiciary group against the Mundt-Nixon anti-Communist bill when the dispute arose.

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.), whose direct question Robeson refused to answer, said the committee would decide about contempt later.

The exchange took place after Robeson told the committee he thinks members of the Communist Party "have done a magnificent job in America."

"I refuse to answer that question," Robeson replied with emphatic gestures. "This is an invasion of my right of secret ballot."

Ferguson fired back the same question a second time and a third, and Robeson finally broke out:

"Nineteen leading Americans are going to jail for refusal to answer that question and if necessary I will join them."

There were some hisses mixed

Benes to Quit As Protest, Prague Hears

Ill Health Will Be Given as Reason, Reports Indicate

Prague, May 21 (AP).—President Eduard Benes probably will resign within the next week in protest against Czechoslovakia's new constitution and Sunday's elections, an informed source said today.

The informant, who has been in close touch with Benes, said "ill health" would be given as the reason for resigning.

He said there still was a chance Benes "might change his mind again," because the Communist regime was anxious to keep him in office as a figurehead.

The source said he understood Benes had discussed his resignation with government leaders early this month. But he was persuaded to remain in office through the elections, the source added.

A member of Benes' family told the United Press a week ago that a "surprise" was to be expected.

Official sources announced today that Benes still had not signed the constitution adopted by Parliament May 9. The informed source, discussing Benes' plans, said he was certain the President would not sign before the June 8 deadline.

Benes' specific objections to the constitution and the election were not disclosed. However, observers believed he was against the "single list" election which abolished any semblance of opposition to the regime and did not approve of the voting methods, which prevented the secret ballot.

The Ministry of Interior announced tonight that the government won 89.3 per cent of the valid votes cast in Sunday's parliamentary elections. The final figures, the ministry said, were 6,431,693 for the regime and 772,293 against it.

Members of the Prague statistical office, however, asserted they were dismissed from their jobs Sunday night after early computations showed about 25 per cent of the votes against the government.

Air Carrier Row Faces Probe Today

Senators Want Explanation of Conflicting Stories Of Denfeld, Spaatz

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

Top defense chiefs will be called before a Senate committee this morning to throw light on a confused and bitter inter-service row over building a giant new aircraft carrier.

Among other things the Senators want an explanation of some recent statements by Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations, and Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, retiring Air Force chief of staff, which are in direct conflict.

Denfeld told the House Armed Services Committee that the Joint Chiefs of Staff had approved the Navy plans to build a 65,000-ton or more "flush-deck" carrier capable of launching multi-engined planes bearing an atomic bomb.

Contradiction From Spaatz

Spaatz said publicly last week that this wasn't so—that the Air Force had not indorsed the proposal. (Decisions of the JCS—made up of the military chiefs of the armed forces—must be unanimous.)

Defense Secretary James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan, Denfeld and an Air Force representative are expected to testify today on the issue before the Senate Armed Services Committee. A letter from Spaatz, who is out of town, will be presented. Whether Spaatz will be called later depends on developments.

Here are the facts of the involved controversy over the aircraft carrier and the Denfeld-Spaatz dispute obtained by this newspaper which will be presented to the committee this morning:

Funds for laying down the super-carrier were put into the 1949 Navy budget which was prepared before unification of the armed forces and therefore was not considered by the joint Chiefs of Staff.

Air Needs Investigated

Last fall, after passage of the unification act, the President's Air Policy Commission began its investigation of the Nation's air power needs. Receiving testimony from the Air Force and Navy which it felt involved overlapping plans, the so-called Finletter Commission insisted on receiving an "integrated" program, approved by the JCS.

The Joint Chiefs came up with such a plan, which backed the 70-group Air Force and a 14,500-plane Navy program. The latter was based on the construction of several of the proposed "flush-deck" carriers. After approving this JCS "paper," General Spaatz, the USAF member, put in a supplementary document declaring he indorsed merely the plane program and not necessarily the Navy shipbuilding program on which it was based.

President Truman, the Budget Bureau and Forrestal backed the proposed appropriations for building one of the carriers. Approval of the new flattop and other vessels in the 1949 building program, however, was conditioned upon the Navy stopping work on 13 other warships already under way which naval officials felt were less necessary than the new program.

Denfeld Honestly Mistaken

When the House Armed Services Committee held hearings on legislation to authorize the Navy to abandon work on the 13 ships, Congressmen inquired into the plans for the 65,000-ton carrier. Admiral Denfeld was asked if it had been approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He replied that it had been approved.

An informed naval source said last night that Denfeld had based his answer on the JCS paper presented to the Finletter Commission. Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz was Navy member of the joint chiefs when the matter considered. Denfeld was Pacific Fleet commander at that time. He was ignorant

No Bodies Found In Vanport Ruins; Sixty Injured Sent to Portland

Vanport, Oreg., May 31 (AP). Some 3500 people in Washington towns north of here were fleeing tonight from the flood that destroyed this town of 18,700 Sunday afternoon.

Twenty-five hundred persons were ordered out of South Kelso, Wash., as the Coweeman River dike that caused a disastrous flood in 1933 threatened to give way.

The Lewis River crashed through the dike which protects the 1000-population town of Woodland, Wash., and lowland residents fled to higher ground. There was ample warning and no probability of casualties, workers said.

Brig. Gen. E. M. Llewellyn of the Washington National Guard said the flood waters from the Lewis River, slowed by sandbags, might not touch the city of Woodland for several hours. Woodland lies 30 miles north of here; Kelso, 50.

People fled from the two cities to avoid a repetition of the disaster that drowned the great town of Vanport with little warning Sunday afternoon. Search boats were plying the stricken city here today, seeking victims amid the shattered houses and submerged streets.

Not a Single Body Found

Twenty hours of hunting failed to find a single body in the 10 to 15 feet of water that still swirled over the great housing town.

No one knew how many of Vanport's residents had perished in the flood that broke through a dike Sunday afternoon and roared through the town, sweeping houses, cars, and people before it. Sixty injured were in Portland hospitals.

Three Army 'ducks" and an Army crash boat chugged over the lake that yesterday was Vanport. The rowboats they towed oared their way into broken second stories, searched the rooms for victims.

Chalk marks indicating no bodies had been found stood on thousands of the flimsy houses. But rescuers could not tell what the splintered apartments, the unreachable lower floors of houses, and the hundreds of flooded cars might conceal.

"There undoubtedly are many bodies," said Sheriff Martin T. Pratt. "I will not venture a guess on how many. We will not find the last victim's body until the river recedes, and that will be a matter of weeks."

Dozens Reported Missing

The Red Cross reported "dozens" of missing—but could not yet tell how many lay buried in the flood, and how many were scattered safely through Portland's refugee centers.

Evacuees, crying frantically for missing husbands, wives and children, were barred from the devastated zone by the danger of still more floods.

The waters, swollen by the flooded Columbia River, smashed at other dikes today. Denver ave., the elevated street to which thousands of Vanport residents fled to safety yesterday, caved in at one point this morning.

The water ate at the dike protecting another drainage district east of Vanport, and threatened to break into the suburban area, and the $1,500,000 Portland Meadows race track.

Residents there, and the valuable race horses at The Meadows, had already been evacuated.

Water Halts Trains

The tumbling waters pressed on dikes of still a third drainage district farther east, and flooded low areas around Portland. All airlines abandoned the threatened airport in the third district and all trains bound north or east were halted by water over the tracks.

Workers sandbagged against time, hoping to save remaining dikes until the flood reaches its height tomorrow night. The Weather Bureau forecast that the Columbia would crest here then at the anticipated stages of 31 feet.

Church Group Says Jews Use Christian Institutions in War

Jerusalem, May 31 (AP).—Officials of the Christian Union in Palestine made public today a manifesto saying that Jewish forces had used 10 Christian religious and humanitarian institutions in Jerusalem as military bases.

In addition, the manifesto said 14 institutions in the Holy City were destroyed or damaged by shellfire. Three priests have been killed, two were wounded and more than 100 women and children and other noncombatants have become casualties inside Jerusalem "since the Jews began the attack," the statement said.

The manifesto was drafted at the Latin Patriarchate and circulated for signature by these religious groups: Greek Orthodox and Armenian Orthodox Patriarchate, the Franciscan Order which is custodian of Terra Sancta, the Coptic and Syrian Orthodox Patriarchates, and the Greek Catholic and Armenian Catholic Vicarates.

The Christian Union committee said it had hoped a truce would protect holy places from the "misfortunes of war."

"But, unhappily, the Holy City has become the theater of terrible battles and vast destruction, such as to make churches, convents, religious and humanitarian institutions a target for shells and bullets," the manifesto said.

"In the face of the horrible facts, we feel it our sacred duty, we the representatives of religious leaders of the Christian community, to lift our voices in protest against the violation of our churches, our convents and our various institu-

Race Pays $500 To Finder of Roll Lost by Baruch

New York, May 31 (AP).—Bernard M. Baruch attended the races at Belmont Saturday and later reported the loss of a roll of bills.

George Pearsall, veteran employe in the park's admissions department, had turned in a roll of 22 $100 bills.

Baruch came back today for the Suburban Handicap, claimed his property and said that was "the biggest kick I ever got out of anything at a race track." He said Pearsall would get a $500 reward.

But Arson Charge Stands

Housekeeper-Husband Admits 'A Few Drinks,' Denies He Intentionally Set Home Afire

By Jean Reiff
Post Reporter

A man needs a spree now and then when he has to spend 19 hours a day being a housekeeper and nursemaid, William Mousser, 37, of 69 Randolph pl. nw., explained in Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Walter J. Casey, however, found the excuse not good enough to dismiss a charge of arson against Mousser, who allegedly set fire to his home during a "binge" Saturday night while his wife and two small sons were inside.

Mrs. Dorothy Mousser told the court she had inherited the Randolph pl. property from her mother. The property has been converted into five apartments.

Saturday night her husband came home drunk, she said, and started to strike her and the children. When she ran upstairs to a neighbor's, he threatened to burn the building down, she declared.

While she stood at the top of the stairs with their 1-year-old son, Mousser struck a match and set the drapes at the door of their apartment on fire, she declared. Their 4-year-old son was downstairs with his father, she said.

"I was mad and I may have flipped a cigarette at the drapes but I didn't set them on fire deliberately," was Mousser's answer.

"Your honor, I'll admit I had a few drinks and we got into an argument about that house," the defendant told the court. "There's been nothing but trouble ever since we had it. I was a machinist and my wife had a good job with the Government when we got it, so we decided she would go on working and I would stay home and take care of the place and the children.

"But I have to spend 19 hours a day taking care of the place and the kids. So now and then I go out on a spree," he explained. He said he helped put out the fire as soon as it started.

After hearing testimony from Capt. R. A. Warfield, deputy fire marshal, that the drapes and part of the door they covered were the only egress from the apartment, Judge Casey ordered Mousser held for action of the grand jury on a charge of arson. He set bond at $1000. At the same time he ordered Mousser to pay a $15 fine or serve a 15-day sentence for being drunk.

Johnstown, Pa., Offers Aid

Johnstown, Pa., May 31 (U.P.)—Walter E. Rose, mayor of Johnstown, today wired the Governor of Oregon that the people of Johnstown were ready to aid victims of the Vanport flood.

Johnstown was the scene of one of the worst floods in American history May 31, 1889, just 59 years ago today. Between 2200 and 2300 persons lost their lives.

"Johnstown extends sympathy to the victims of the Vanport flood and stands ready to aid when your needs are known," the telegram said.

[The Vanport flood occurred one day before the anniversary of the Johnstown flood.

[A dam across the South Fork River burst and sent a wall of water raging through the city of 50,000. A vain attempt was made to warn those in the path of the flood but the warning came too late for most to heed.

[The loss of life in the Johnstown flood is listed in the Encyclopedia Britannica at between 2000 and 3000 and the damage at 12 million dollars.

[The Grandview Cemetery, overlooking the present city of 67,327, contains the graves of 779 flood victims never identified.]

at Vancouver and 30.5 feet at Portland, and then start to fall.

Vanport, once the Nation's greatest housing project and Oregon's second largest town, lay in complete destruction today. Only the water towers and one radio tower stood on their foundations. The town's library, stores, schools and houses floated crazily, or lay in splintered fragments.

The worst flood in Pacific coast history broke with little warning Sunday upon a town that had been assured its dikes would hold.

While children played in yards and men and women chatted in the streets, the flood water tore a six-foot breach in the railroad fill that diked one side of the sunken town.

Waves Up to Ten Feet

In waves two feet high, then five, then ten, the water roared through the breach. "Buildings seemed to burst as the water hit them," said an airplane pilot, Calvin Hulbert, who saw the disaster from the air. "I saw the whole wall of an apartment pop out like a balloon exploding."

A warning siren—signal arranged by the Vanport Housing Authority in case evacuation was needed—gave the majority of the populace a chance to escape.

But some residents distant from the dike break, lulled by a reassuring notice distributed at every Vanport doorstep that very morning, failed to realize what was happening until the wall of water crashed down their streets.

Dikes Thought Safe

The Army engineers had checked the dikes Saturday night and thought them safe.

"You will have time to leave," said the notice distributed by the Vanport housing authority to every household Sunday morning. "Don't get excited. You will be warned if necessary."

The Housing Authority chairman, vice chairman and executive director, all expressed amazement at the break. The railroad fill that broke had been checked repeatedly by engineers and maintenance crews, they said, and ranked as one of the strongest points in the dikes that circled Vanport.

"The Housing Authority feels terribly, terribly bad that lives possibly were lost," said the Authority's attorney, Lester W. Humphreys. "But all you can do is depend on the advice of competent engineers."

Fill Built 40 Years Ago

Col. O. E. Walsh, district Army engineer, said the dike "blew out underneath the railway." The railway fill was built about 40 years ago. The engineers were still trying tonight to determine the cause of the break.

Refugees were in hundreds of Portland homes. Others crowded public centers, fed and housed by the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

Municipal and private power companies throughout Washington and northern Oregon agreed on a limited "brown out," beginning tomorrow, to meet a growing power shortage.

Industry, business and housewives were asked to curtail their use of electric energy in every way possible from 7 a. m. until noon and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Production at Bonneville Dam was down from a normal 350,000 kilowatts to 200,000, and at Grand Coulee Dam, from a normal 1,170,000 kilowatts to 960,000, or more than the entire normal output at Bonneville.

The floods cut off Portland's rail traffic northward and eastward, partly inundated the main union depot in Portland, halted all commercial airlines, and cut the Columbia River Highway (U. S. 30) at two points—The Dalles and Arlington.

Later today, however, the Union Pacific reestablished train service, utilizing steam engines to move through the flooded section near The Dalles.

Airlines began operating out of Salem, the State capital, 50 miles south of here.

At The Dalles, about 90 miles upstream, the Columbia broke through a revetment and flooded toward the business district. The main line of the Union Pacific Railroad running west to Portland was partly under water and the railroad yards were submerged.

Relief Is in Sight

Relief was in sight for central Washington as waters of the Yakima, Wenatchee, Kootenai and Clearwater Rivers dropped steadily. The Columbia began dropping at battered Kennewick near the Richland atomic energy plant. The Okanogan River in northeast Washington was the only major tributary still rising.

One death was reported from Pasco, in eastern Washington, today, bringing the known flood casualty toll to 22.

At Umatilla, Oreg., about 100 miles upriver from The Dalles, crews of men and trucks fought desperately to hold dikes—eight feet high in places—against the Columbia.

The interstate bridge on the Pacific highway was closed between Vancouver, Wash., and Portland to all but emergency travel.

The Fraser River and its tributaries ran wild in British Columbia and the Alouette River was spreading out over a 25,000-acre area, 30 miles southeast of Vancouver, B. C., after bursting dikes near the villages of Pitt Meadows and Mission, B. C.

Property damage was estimated at 30 million dollars in the Columbia basin alone. Other areas said their loss would reach "fantastic proportions."

Truman Orders Aid To Flood Disaster Area

By The Associated Press

President Truman yesterday declared flood-swept sections in the Northwest a "disaster area" and ordered use of surplus war property for relief and rehabilitation. Mr. Truman acted aboard the Presidential Yacht, Williamsburg, where he spent most of the day.

The order also permits distribution of large quantities of Army and Navy materials. Mr. Truman acted upon the recommendation of Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Public Works Administrator who had received pleas for aid from the Governors of the three States. Housing Administrator Raymond Foley also is making a check on flood damage.

President Basil O'Connor of the Red Cross set aside $250,000 to meet the immediate emergency needs of the victims of Vanport, Oregon. He said additional funds will be made available to the extent necessary for meeting immediate needs of families in the area.

Red Cross Sends 21 More Flood Workers

The American Red Cross last night dispatched 21 additional rescue workers to the Vanport City, Ore., flood disaster.

The workers, Red Cross President Basil O'Connor announced here, were sent from Washington, St. Louis and Atlanta and will augment the 40 workers from the national organization now at Vanport City.

The announcement said reports from Red Cross chapters in Oregon, Washington and Idaho indicate more than 8000 homes have been destroyed or damaged by flood waters, affecting 45,000 persons.

Earlier yesterday, the Red Cross had announced an initial allocation of $250,000 to care for immediate needs of the flood victims and said more funds would be made available as needed.

Leveled Town Rose in Flash

Vanport, Oreg., May 31.—(AP).—This vity rose with the same startling speed that it vanished.

It's 10,286 apartments went up in nine months on the 647-acre lowland site north of Portland. Started in the fall of 1942, it was completed in the summer of 1943.

Within 3 miles were three Henry Kaiser shipyards and it at first was known as Kaiserville. The Maritime Commission was in charge of construction under a shipyards facility contract and administration was in the hands of the Portland Housing Authority.

On the day it was completed it was Oregon's second largest city, housing 35,000 persons—shipyard workers and their families.

It cost 26 million dollars.

When the flood hit, many of its 18,700 residents had been there since the town was built. Mostly, however, it had become known as a veterans' city.

To meet postwar overcrowding at colleges, the State set up Vanport College, a two-year institution. It was near the dike's break and the first to go under.

Witness Describes Drowning of a City

By Gordon G. Macnab

Vanport, Oreg., May 31 (AP).—A little red-haired girl ran screaming down the street: "Wait, wait, wait for me!"

I patted her head and ran on in the direction of the break in the Vanport dike.

The street was jammed with cars and people all trying to get out of Vanport, once Oregon's second largest city, now a place where only death could live.

Denver avenue runs north from Portland toward the Interstate Bridge over the Columbia River. Before it reaches the river it crosses a dike and immediately to the west is Vanport. The Vanport dike surrounds the housing project. The break came on the western side, the most distant from where I left Denver avenue and ran down the street past the red-headed child.

Says 'They're Crazy'

No water was in sight. I passed an apartment where a dozen people lounged, the men in shirt-sleeves (the day was bright and warm). A woman said, "they're crazy, the water won't get here."

In the street before her, refugee cars were jammed to the bumpers and some people were moving along toward the dike that Denver ave. makes.

I ran west toward the break. The crowd thinned. Suddenly across a little dip I saw the water. It swept down the street in a wall maybe 2 feet high. In front it broke over like waves at the beach only the water wasn't white like at the ocean. It was a dull, dirt color.

Across the dip I saw the water slap against a 16-apartment building. Three men were there. In little more than an instant they were hip deep.

A sheriff's car was there. It moved from dry to hub deep and one of the deputies jumped in. The car roared toward me, through the water across the dip.

Hears Splintering Sound

There was a splintering sound, sharp and loud. The big apartment building where three men had been began to swing around slowly as if on a lop-sided railroad turntable. There was a crack and kindling began to break away on the front waves of the water.

I stopped the sheriff's car. "Anybody dead?"

"God knows," one of the men said.

There was a shout from a middle-aged man, neatly dressed in blue, struggling knee-deep in water toward us. He held the arm of an old lady.

"Save my mother," he cried. "I don't care what happens to me but save my mother!"

Swirling Up to Windows

I saw two men in a building, with water swirling up to the windows.

"They'll never get out," I thought, then turned and ran.

A woman, barefoot, was running ahead of me. She moaned, then screamed.

I began to move past the parked cars. High-pitched screams rose over the roar of car engines. There was a hoarse cry: "Let the damn stuff go. Get out!"

The apartment where people had lolled a short time before was deserted, its door standing open.

I cut to the right away from the street. The south dike was there. I was behind the apartments and crossing a deep-grassed slough. A glance to the right showed debris-filled water surging in the slough toward where I ran.

There were fewer people here but streams of them were headed for th south dik, too.

I grabbed a little Negro girl. Maybe she was three years old. Water splashed against my ankles. The dike was a 100 yards and a 1000 years ahead.

A woman ran beside me. The little girl's mother, I learned.

Safe on Dike Side

Then we were on the dike side, and safe.

The little girl was sober-faced, big-eyed. She might have been seeing Clyde Beatty's act for the first time. Just something to look at and ponder over.

"I've got a little girl about your age," I said.

She didn't look interested.

I put her down at the top of the dike. The mother said "Thanks."

"Your family get out all right?"

"We did but everybody didn't," she said. "Place next to us got hit before they knowed the dike broke. They was anyhow 20 people in it."

"That's right," said a man who might have been her husband. He carried a couple of big suitcases. "Twenty people. Mighty hard on them."

People filled the top of the dike. I looked back where we had come. Water was running deep and Vanport residents had cut across on an angle through the slough toward Denver ave. Cars began to leave the street, race through the slough toward the dike. Most of them made it. Some stalled and were left.

Everywhere there were children. Some ran at their elders' heels, but most were in arms.

A suitcase broke open and a man stopped to pick up his gear. There was a moan from the crowd. "The damned fool," said someone next to me. But he got it and beat the flood to safety.

I walked along the top of the dike toward Denver ave. It looked as though the big jam of people would make it. Then I saw the water pouring in from the north, making a two-way drive at the southeast corner where Denver and the south dike meet.

Buildings began to drift in. Water inched up, but slowed as it hit the Denver ave. fill. Soon it was a quiet, debris-filled lake. There were people still in some of the buildings that drifted in.

Boats went out after those who couldn't swim.

I headed toward Kenton, business district half a mile from Vanport.

A young men in a baseball suit with "Vanport Merchants" across his chest dug his cleats idly into the ground.

Got Family Out

"Got what I got on," he said. "Got my family too; they got out."

I walked along the pavement through the thousands of sightseers who jammed the place for miles; past buses ready to evacuate the people; and stepped aside for siren-screaming ambulances, police cars and fire engines.

I came abreast of a couple. the man carrying a child. His black, curly hair was wet, his clothes dripping.

"Family all out?"

"Yes," he said. "All out."

His voice was far away. I looked and his eyes were glazed like a fighter's before the lights go out.

"Swim for it?"

"Wife did. I carried the baby. Swam I guess. That's all I can say; that's all I know." He was Larry Moran. Telling his name seemed an effort. Most people couldn't do it.

"Three people next to us didn't make it, I guess," he said. "A woman and her child and her sister. We put the baby on top of the car and my wife and I held them but the water took them away. Then I took the baby and we got out. That's all I know; that's all I know."

A young couple stood at the curb, staring at every car and truck that passed. The girl was crying. The man held a handkerchief and wiped at her tears.

"Their baby,". I thought, but couldn't ask in the face of that grief.

South African Senate Facing Dissolution

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, May 31 (AP)—Die Transvaaler, official publication of the Nationalist Party, said today it could be assumed that Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan would advise the Governor-General to dissolve South Africa's Senate.

The newspaper said the present Senate, whose term expires next year, could hinder a Nationalist Party government since it is controlled by the defeated Jan Christian Smuts' party.

Union League Invites Taft to Philadelphia

Philadelphia, May 31 (AP).—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, aspirant to the Republican presidential nomination, will speak at the Union League here June 11.

Taft is expected to discuss his candidacy for the presidential nomination and review the record of Republican leadership in Congress during the past two years.

State Department Calls Note Fraudulent

By The Associated Press

A State Department official described as a "complete fake" yesterday a Rome report that the United States has proposed a new five-point anti-Communist program to western European countries.

The report was published in the Communist line newspaper, Il Paese, which quoted "circles close to the De Gasperi government." The newspaper said the program, including a "military alliance system," had been outlined in a United States note to Italy, France, Britain and the Scandinavian countries.

Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, told a reporter "we sent no such note."

Ruhr Valley Steel Strike Plans Canceled

Frankfurt, May 31 (NYHT).—Orders for a Ruhr Valley steel strike were canceled today. Hans Boeckler, chairman of the Trade Union Council in the British occupation zone, announced the two-day walkout set for tomorrow and Wednesday had been called off pending negotiations.

Boeckler said he had been invited to discuss union grievances tomorrow with the Economic Council of Bizonia.

300,000 British Autos Will Get 'Gas' Again

London, May 31 (U.P.)—An estimated 300,000 British motorists will put their cars back on the roads tomorrow for the first time in six months.

Effective tomorrow, the government has resumed rationing gasoline for pleasure driving to the extent of 90 miles a month for the next six months.

Fire Damages Big Stockyard

South St. Paul, Minn., May 31 (AP).—Flames raced with prairie-fire speed today through a six-block section of the huge corrals of the South St. Paul Union Stockyards Co.

The dealers' division, 86 cattle cars, 30-odd head of cattle and a test barn were destroyed. The loading division was damaged heavily.

Three firemen were overcome by smoke.

The fire was discovered in a shed of baled hay near the loading sheds, situated on the west side of the yards. The yards cover an area three quarters of a mile long and a half mile wide.

Packing plants of Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. occupying sites adjacent to the fire area escaped damage.

PEOPLE In The NEWS

Paul Robeson, Negro Singer and Leader, Has Been a Star Athlete, Lawyer, Actor

A "huge man with the deep voice and a great personal dignity," as he was once described by a New York Times drama critic, was yesterday asked a question which has tumbled many, "Are you a Communist?"

This is not the first time Paul Robeson, student, athlete, lawyer, actor, singer and Negro leader, has been asked the question. Like yesterday, he has declined to answer, often asserting that his politics are his own business, safeguarded by the ballot box, and reiterating that his interest is in opposing fascism.

Known around the world from his many concerts, Robeson's appearance makes him unmistakable. He is 6 feet, 6 inches tall, broad-shouldered and big-chested and weighs 215 pounds.

Now 50, Robeson has lived a full life already. Born the son of a Negro minister who had escaped from slavery and a school-teacher who was two-thirds Indian, he has made an outstanding record at whatever he attempted. At Rutgers University, he won 12 letters in track, football, basketball and baseball and was chosen All-American end for two years. In addition, he annexed several speaking prizes and a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Later at Columbia University Law School he helped work his way by playing professional football on weekends. Next was a short stay in the practice of law. Racial discrimination and a brief experience in amateur theatricals led him to the stage where he took the lead in a revival of Eugene O'Neill's "Emperor Jones." He was unknown as a singer then, but a jungle scene gave him what later turned out to be his great opportunity.

The script called for Brutus Jones to whistle a Negro spiritual, but since Robeson couldn't whistle, he sang a song instead about "John Henry," the mythical hero of the Negro race. The audience thought he was terrific and from then on it was a rapid succession of triumphs on stage, radio, screen and concert platforms around the globe.

But this was not enough. "It became clear to me while I was traveling around Europe in the pre-Hitler days that the artist is part of the social scheme, too, and obviously cannot live apart from the world in an ivory tower. He must concern himself with social problems if he is to be a real artist of the people."

In 1940 he opposed conscription. Always he fought segregation, refusing to appear before segregated audiences. His rich baritone, which could have brought him a lucrative income, was channeled in 1947 into a "two-year fight on fascism"—recitals were shelved while Robeson took up the platform cudgels for the forces he felt were right.

Lately, particularly since the House Un-American Activities Committee listed him as a person "invariably found supporting the Communist Party and its front organizations," his announced appearances have often evoked storms of opponents and supporters.

Robeson is married and has a son, Paul, jr., who was educated partly in Russia while Robeson made concert tours. This was done because Paul, sr., felt that "racial differences in the Soviet Union have been eliminated." New York City is "home" for the Robesons.

Korea Wants U. S. to Stay On

Seoul, May 31 (AP).—Chairman Syngman Rhee, speaking before Korea's first elected national assembly, said today he hopes U. S. troops will stay until the fledgling government can arm for its own defense.

And to Russian-occupied North Korea, which boycotted the recent assembly election, he declared defiantly:

"The government born of this assembly will be the sovereign, independent government of the entire nation."

It was a great day for Rhee, and for Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, the U. S. military commander. Both had plugged for the election of an assembly and won despite a Communist campaign of terror.

Hodge was applauded when he addressed the assembly.

"The U. S. command," he said, "does not intend to dictate to you. What you do in the next few days will determine to a great extent the future of your nation."

Rhee urged the 198 assemblymen to adopt a constitution, form the first democratic government in history, initiate friendly negotiations with Russia and settle economic and other urgent matters with Japan, Korea's former ruler.

Bands and other organizations paraded, streetcars were decorated like floats and thousands lined the street to the capitol, celebrating what they regard as one of the most important days in their history.

11 Indonesian Parties Plan National Front

Batavia, Java, May 31 (AP)—Antara, the Indonesian news agency, said tonight 11 political parties in the Indonesian republic have decided to create a "national front with a national program."

A conference of the parties has been called by Mohamed Hatta, premier and vice president. Antara said a projected re-shuffle of the cabinet has been postponed until the "national program" is adopted.

i Government Named

... May 31 (U.P.).—President Chiang Kai-shek today appointed China's first constitutional government, headed by Premier Wong Wen-hao. Except for six changes and two newly created posts, it is the same as the pre-election cabinet hand-picked by the Kuomintang (government party).

The Kuomintang received 19 of 21 portfolios. The Young China Party, only minority party participating in the government, was given the same two posts it held in the out-going government of Premier Chang Chun.

Wong's cabinet will hold its first meeting tomorrow.

Cabinet changes, in addition to premier, included the appointment of Ku Meng-yu, deputy premier; Wang Yung-wu, finance minister; Gen. Ho Ying-chin, national defense; Kuan Chi-yi, food minister, and Sun Yueh-chi, chairman of the national resources commission.

Wang's appointment as finance minister was regarded as significant. Several months ago he suggested relaxing government import-export and foreign exchange controls as a measure to bring foreign money into China, and help combat inflation, but he was turned down.

Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, who was replaced by Gen. Ho as minister of national defense, was named "supreme Communist suppression commander" of central China.

On the fighting front, meanwhile, government dispatches claimed that two strong Nationalist columns were racing to the relief of Chengteh, capital of Jehol Province in Manchuria, which has been under Communist attack for more than week.

Robeson Won't Say If He's Communist with the audience applause that greeted the singer's statement.

His reference to 19 Americans covered the Hollywood writers and others charged with contempt of Congress for refusal to answer similar questions before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

"Maybe if I were a Republican I might not answer the question either," Robeson told Ferguson at another point. "I'd say come to the ballot place and see for yourself."

That was his response to an inquiry whether he holds a card "in any Communist organization in any State."

"Robeson seems to want to be made a martyr," Moore told reporters later. "Maybe we ought to make him one."

Ferguson, however, said a legal question is involved in the matter of a contempt citation, since a committee quorum was not present during the exchange.

Headline Witness

The Mundt bill would require registration of the Communist Party and its affiliates and outlaw all activities aimed at creating a foreign-controlled totalitarian regime in the United States.

The singer, who was an All-American football player at Rutgers in 1918, was the headliner among a group of opposition witnesses for whose benefit the unusual holiday session of the committee was called. Wiley said the session was arranged when the scheduled three days of hearings ended with many opponents still asking to be heard.

Wiley said he wanted to "avoid any complaints that opponents did not get a chance to be heard."

Backing for the bill came yesterday from Kenneth Parkinson and Godfrey L. Munter of the Washington, D. C., Bar Association. They testified a panel of attorneys have studied it and believe it is "constitutional and legal."

"Our conclusion was that communism is a menace," Munter said. "It intends to overthrow the Government by illegal means."

Self-Preservation Involved

Many witnesses have said the measure is unconstitutional, Munter went on, "but none of them has said why."

Parkinson said the bill defines communism and fascism satisfactorily.

"We felt," he testified, "that the adherents of any 'ism' should be prohibited from holding a key office in Government, industry or labor."

Another witness yesterday was James Imbrie, New Jersey candidate for the United States Senate on the Henry Wallace ticket. He complained that the measure gives "too much power" to the Attorney General and the FBI.

Many of "the most conservative people" are against the bill, Imbrie said. He cited a petition against it which he said was signed by 55 professors from Princeton and Rutgers.

Aaron Lewittes of Malvern, Long Island, representing the American Jewish Congress, said the measure would "prohibit peaceful advocacy of constitutional amendment." Lewittes described the Jewish Congress as anti-Communist.

An early afternoon witness, Joseph Kehoe of New York, secretary-treasurer of the CIO American Communications Association, also refused to say whether he is a Communist.

"I am glad to associate myself with Paul Robeson," he said.

"I'm sorry we do not have a quorum here," Ferguson shot back at him.

John Rogge, former special assistant to the United States Attorney General, said the theory behind the Mundt-Nixon bill is that "the people can't judge ideas for themselves."

If Congress should pass the bill, Rogge said, "it is inconceivable to me that the Supreme Court would hold this monstrosity constitutional."

Rogge said he is chairman of the New York State Wallace-for-President Committee.

"To say the third party is dominated by Communists is nonsense," he said.

William Lawrence, president of the Los Angeles CIO Council, said the bill threatens collective bargaining negotiations in the maritime industry. He called it a part of a general "red scare" trend under which he said unions are being accused of striking against the Marshall Plan.

Recess Brings Protest

Angry cries rose from the audience when Ferguson recessed the hearing late in the afternoon "until a future date." Ferguson said he was only acting chairman and had no authority from Wiley to continue the hearings or set another date.

A group of about 30 men and women milled around still demanding to be heard.

Len Goldsmith of New York, who identified himself as executive secretary of the Committee of Democratic Rights, shouted: "We are tired of being pushed around."

He said "thousands of us" will be back Wednesday and demanded that some member of the committee be named acting chairman to hear them.

Robeson, on the questions he was willing to answer, told the committee:

He has "many dear friends" who are Communists, and he is "interested in a party and a people who stand for complete equality of the Negro people in the United States."

"I walked the earth (in Russia) for the first time with complete dignity."

His son went to school there and found complete freedom from racial prejudice.

Robeson said his father was a slave in South Carolina. His voice rising, de declared the slaves built the South's cotton industry. "What did we get out of it? Poverty!"

Moore asked Robeson if there is any country other than the United States where people have the opportunity to rise in one generation from slavery to a position of wealth and prominence.

"They have infinitely more opportunity (in Russia) than I would have in Mississippi," he replied. He added there have not been as many people "liquidated in Russia as in American slavery."

He doesn't know whether the Communists believe in world revolution.

U. S. Communists "don't have as much allegiance to Russia as some Americans to Fascist Greece."

Robeson owes "allegiance to my government" but in case of war "if it was a Fascist act I wouldn't support it. I would decide at the time."

He thinks Henry Wallace and his third party are "carrying on New Deal principles." He also thinks Wallace has the support of the Communists.

And if the Mundt-Nixon bill under consideration is passed, Robeson will class it as fascism and refuse to obey it.

Bavaria Vote Cuts Strength Of Top Party

Munich, Germany, May 31 (AP).—Communists and right-wing parties cut sharply today into the strength of western Germany's strongest political party, final returns from yesterday's municipal elections showed.

The conservative Christian Social Union Party (CSU), which won 35.1 per cent of the total vote in Bavarian cities in 1946, slumped to 18.5 per cent.

Communists, showing unexpected voting power in some areas in the U. S. zone, polled 10 per cent of the total vote, compared with 9.3 per cent in 1946.

New Party Scores

A new party, the separatist Bavarian party which calls for "Bavaria for Bavarians," scored the biggest success, polling 4000 more votes than the CSU and winning 16 per cent of the vote. Only the leftist Social Democratic Party (SPD led the Communists there.

Conservatives attributed the Communist rise in Nuernberg to an effort to "frighten the military government into giving more food aid."

Herman Schirmer, Communist district chairman, said the vote reflected dissatisfaction with occupation policies and a demand for a unified Germany.

Reds Gain Over 1946

In Munich, Communists won 11.4 per cent of the city vote compared with 10.2 per cent in 1946. The separatist Bavarian Party won 24.6 per cent of the valid votes cast in Munich and 15.6 per cent of the total statewide balloting. It put up candidates in only 26 of the 41 cities.

The CSU dropped from 35.1 per cent of the 1946 vote in Munich to 18.5 per cent.

The Social Democrats led in almost every city. But they dropped considerable votes either to the Communists or small, right wing groups. The Social Democrats received 30.9 per cent of the statewide vote compared with 37.1 per cent in 1946.

Commons Has Woman As Speaker 1st Time

London, May 31 (AP).—For the first time in Britain's history, members addressed the speaker in the House of Commons tonight as "Madam."

For Mrs. Florence Paton, a Labor member, was presiding as pro tem speaker. The House was sitting as a committee of the whole.

Hundreds gathered to watch. They found nothing. Police said the missing boy was Ronald Guise, 10. He showed up later at home, 491 H st. sw.

First A-Bomber to Be Preserved

Plans to rescue the world's first atomic bomber from the dusty oblivion of an Arizona airport and preserve it for posterity have been disclosed by officials of the Smithsonian Institution.

They said the historic Boeing B-29 Superfortress, Enola Gay, which hastened the end of the Pacific war by its deadly blasting of Hiroshima, will be moved shortly after July 1 to Orchard Place airport near Chicago. There it will be stored in a part of the wartime Douglas DC-4 plant recently made available to the Smithsonian by the War Assets Administration until the institution's projected national air museum can be built to house it and other famous airplanes.

At present, they added, the Enola Gay is gathering dust in "outside storage" on Davis-Monthan Field, near Tucson, where it has been sitting, forgotten by the world, for the past two years.

Dalton Back in British Cabinet

London, May 31 (AP).—Hugh Dalton, who resigned as Chancellor of the Exchequer last year after premature publication of some of his tax plans, returned to the British cabinet tonight.

He was appointed Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in a cabinet reshuffle following the resignation of Lord Nathan as Minister of Civil Aviation. The post of Minister of Civil Aviation is being taken by Lord Pakenham, who has been Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The Duchy of Lancaster was made a post carrying no specific departmental responsibility. Until now the holder of this job was in charge of administration of the British zone of Germany.

"Under the new cabinet setup this responsibility has been transferred to Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin," the announcement said.

"Dalton's new job will leave him free to deal with general cabinet business and any special duties assigned to him by the Prime Minister."

Dalton resigned as Chancellor of the Exchequer last November, a day after presentation of his general budget. He had been accused of giving a London newspaper an advance tip on tax changes he was making.

French Output Up 20% Over 1947

Economist Says

Rearmament Seen Leading To Inflation

New York, May 21 (AP).—A new wave of "hyper-inflation" as a result of rearmament is underway in the United States, Martin R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, said today.

Speaking before the thirty-third annual international convention of the National Association of Purchasing Agents, Gainsbrugh said:

"In my opinion each dollar spent for rearmament in the months ahead will push us steadily away from the possibility of absorbing the unparalleled inflation of World War II toward a new sequence of hyper-inflation."

The National Industrial Conference Board is a private national research organization.

Gainsbrugh said, "We were slowly approaching a price level under which we could live and remain both solvent and strong a few months ago. We now are embarked upon a new advanture with inflation which may not be so favorably resolved. It is sheer national folly to justify rearmament as an antidote."

By Sidney Keller

Paris, May 31 (NYHT).—Marked symptoms of recovery in French industrial production are being noted here as stronger injections of American aid begin to circulate through France's war-paralyzed economy.

Indices of French heavy industry, electric power production, agricultural output and other key figures compiled in the New York Herald Tribune's monthly review of France's economy bore out this observation today. The report underscores that French recovery for some time to come must be measured in relative terms, preferably by comparison with recent postwar results rather than with prewar standards.

The industrial index was listed at 20 per cent above its 1947 level. Electric production, which several months ago reached a new high of 9 per cent above 1947 output, showed no signs of dropping despite a reduction of 12 per cent in French purchases of Swiss and German current. Coal production was at 111 per cent of 1938 output, and the agricultural outlook encouraging.

Against this broadly optimistic background the economic review added a few cautious observations. It noted, for instance, that French foreign trade in 1947 reached an all-time record deficit equal to $1,120,000,000. It was 445 million dollars in 1938. Thus even substantial gains in French recovery by comparison with recent years would still leave France far from what economists would regard as "absolute" recovery.

Benes to Quit, Prague Hears

Thel said officials of the Communist Ministry of the Interior told nist Ministry of the Interior told ing.

There were only two choices in the voting—for or against the regime. Checks in the Prague area showed that in most cases hand-picked election officials could determine a voter's choice by watching him discard his unused ballot. In at least one section in the Communist stronghold of Kladno, officials escorted voters through all phases of the balloting.

Invalid votes, which dismissed officials in Prague said were running about 10 per cent, were not included in the government's final count.

Many voters publicly threw away their blank ballots—a vote against the government—kept the pro-government ballots in their pockets and cast pieces of paper or pictures of Benes.

The source close to Benes said that by resigning this week, the President would avoid having to accept the results of the parliamentary elections.

Communist Premier Klement Gottwald was believed to have the best chance to succeed Benes as President, if he wanted the post, but it was not expected he would accept it. The President is largely a figurehead in 'people's' democracies."

Persons who have been in touch with Benes recently said he had no plans to leave the country. Officials said they found Benes not downcast, and "hopeful for the future."

The controlled Czechoslovak press cheered the "glorious victory" in the elections and said the results were a warning to the west to keep hands off Czechoslovakia.

Air Carrier Hearing Today

of the existence of the supplementary Air Force paper qualifying its stand.

Spaatz was in Europe when Denfield testified. Upon his return two weeks ago, he phoned the latter and called his attention to the latter document. Everyone concedes that Denfeld was honestly mistaken in the matter and will so testify today.

Navy Officials Incensed

Many Navy officials, however, are incensed at what they term the Air Force's lobbying against the carrier. They declare USAF generals are telling individual Senators and Congressmen the project is a mistake and a waste of public funds. The USAF chiefs stress the fact that the carrier will be too wide to go through the Panama Canal, it is said.

The Navy leaders say they have similar doubts about some phases of the 70-group Air Force, and particularly the B-36 superbomber. They state they did not put in a similar supplementary objection to the JCS paper to the Finletter Commission, though they might have.

Air Force officers, say these Navy sources, are "violating the rules" and engaging in "some dirty fighting" in attempting to sabotage the carrier project.

The airmen deny the lobbying and say they are merely keeping the record straight on the carrier. Answering another point made by the Navy, they say that General Spaatz did not agree to the big flattop at the Key West conference in March, but merely went along, as a subordinate, with Secretary Forrestal's decision to build it.

Today's hearing of the matter is expected to straighten out the situation and help formulate congressional opinion on the carrier. Actually the bill under consideration is not an authorization for the flattop. The legislation before the Senate committee merely deals with suspending work on 13 warships now building.

Money for building the big carrier is asked under the old Vinson-Trammell Act setting the size of the Navy. The showdown on whether or not to construct it will come late this week, when the 1949 Navy appropriation bill reaches the House floor. The House Appropriations Committee, like the House Armed Services group, is expected to approve it.

Confederacy's Descendants List Events

Greater Washington descendants of the old Confederacy this week are observing two events: the eighty-seventh anniversary of the death of the first Confederate soldier in the Civil War and the 140th anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis.

First Southerner to be killed in the war is said to be Capt. John Quincy Marr, commander of Warrenton Rifles, who was fatally wounded at the battle of Fairfax Courthouse.

At 4 p.m. today, at the Confederate Mound in Fairfax Cemetery, a memorial service will be held under the auspices of the Fairfax Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. Flowers will be placed on the mound. The service will mark Captain Marr's death.

At 3 p. m. Thursday, three organization, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Jefferson Davis Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Stedman Chapter of the Children of the Confederacy, will lay a wreath at the foot of the Jefferson Davis statue in Statuary Hall at the Capitol. Thursday is the anniversary of the Confederate President's birth. Representative John B. Williams (D., Miss.) will speak.

At 7:30 p. m. Saturday, the Confederate Memorial Committee will hold a banquet at the Burlington Hotel and at 2:30 p. m. Sunday President Truman will place a wreath at the foot of the Confederate Monument in Arlington Cemetery. Senator Clyde R. Hoey (D., N. C.) afterward will address a ceremony in the cemetery's amphitheater.

Denied Scooter, Boy, 13, Kills Dad With Seven Shots

Los Angeles, May 31 (U.P.).—A freckle-faced boy of 13 impassively told police today he pumped seven bullets into his father because he wouldn't buy him a motor scooter.

Robert

"I hated his guts," Robert Weitzel said. He said he fatally shot his father, Elmer, 50, after they returned from a day at the beach. "I'd been thinking of shooting him for six months," Robert added.

Mrs. Weitzel, the mother, said she saw Robert aim the gun, but paid no attention because the boy often did that with an unloaded gun.

"I didn't know he hated his father so much," she said.

Robert said his father slapped his face several times when they discussed buying a scooter, which the father regarded as too dangerous for the boy.

War Damages Institutions

tions, of which certain ones have been destroyed and others have become prey to flames."

The manifesto said, "We can state that the largest part of the shells falling on the Holy Sepulchre and on churches, convents and Christian institutions (as listed by the committee) are of Jewish origin."

It continued: "To declare the truth and an objective fact we add: "The Arabs have stated they respected the holy places, the churches, the convents and Red Cross institutions. In fact, they have respected them up to the present time."

The manifesto gave this list of institutions "from which Jews directed their fire in the Holy City:

The Greek Orthodox Convent of St. George, the Armenian Orthodox Convent, the Convent of Notre Dame de France, the Convent of the Redemptionist Sisiters, the French Hospital, the Italian Hospital, the Apostolic Delegation Building, the Monastery of the German Benedictine Fathers, the English School of Mount Zion, and the Greek Orthodox Convent of St. John.

The manifesto list of institutions hit by shellfire, those seized by Jews having been shelled subsequently by Arab forces, included the following:

The Convent of Notre Dame, the Redemptionist Convent, the German Benedictine Monastery, the Seminary of St. Anne, the Church of Saints Constantine and Helena, the court of the Orthodox Syrian Church of St. Mark, the Orthodox Greek Convent of St. George, the Convent of Archangel of Orthodox Armenian Convent and the Convent of Orthodox Copts.

The manifesto said information was incomplete on the condition of churches and convents "still under Jewish domination."

The statement was addressed to "religious and political authorities throughout the world."

Sanctuaries Reported Only Slightly Damaged

By Robert Miller

Inside the Old City of Jerusalem, May 31 (U.P.).—A visit to the Old City area, captured by the Arabs, showed today that both Christian and Moslem sanctuaries here have been damaged only slightly despite the bloody 11-day battle.

Jewish holy places, however, are mostly in ruins.

There are a couple of bullet holes in the dome of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Two mortar shells landed nearby and one dud hit the Greek Orthodox section. Another exploded last night 50 yards from the Church of the Holy Sepulchre but only knocked off bits of masonry.

newspaper, Al Zemane, said the Iraqi units reached the coast. This account, if true, would mean that Tel Aviv and Haifa have been separated from each other.

In the highway battle Trans-Jordan's legionnaires crumpled an assault by Israeli troops in the Bab El Wad-Latrun area, an Amman communique said.

Arab observers in Amman said today's defeat may spell the end of Jewish hopes to break the Jerusalem blockade by operations from the Tel Aviv area unless Israel's army can uncover a stronger offensive punch.

According to the Amman communique, legion artillery continued pounding Jewish posts and armored convoys in the Jerusalem area.

Count Folke Bernadotte of Sweden, U. N. mediator for Palestine, reached Haifa from Egypt and went on to Tel Aviv. He is confegring with leaders on both sides.

Jews Face Loss of Jerusalem

By Kenneth Bilby

Kyrenia, Cyprus, May 31 (NYHT) This is the first uncensored dispatch on conditions in Jerusalem and Amman, Trans-Jordan, since the war began.

Because of one military miscalculation, Jewish hold on the new city of Jerusalem is today in grave peril. Barring a quick and forcible bi-power intervention, the Arab Legion units grouped on the hills around the Holy City have an excellent opportunity, either by siege or assault, to force capitulation of 100,000 Jews.

Nine American and British correspondents immured in the Jewish section since the British withdrawal May 14 were allowed yesterday to pass through Arab lines and to glimpse for the first time the extent of Arab preparations for completing the conquest.

The Jews planned to conquer all of Jerusalem. They thought that the demoralized Arabs would make only a token defense and then withdraw to the hills after the mandate expired. The operation was to be spearheaded by the Palmach, elite infantry striking force, and home guard units would occupy and defend the conquered territory.

To supply these troops and adequately provision the civilian populace, it was planned to open briefly the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem road and rush through several huge food and munitions convoys.

Haganah headquarters realized it must be done before the British departure, which was certain to be followed by the real battle for Jerusalem. Jewish military commanders thus decided to attack the road less than a week before the British left.

Palmach was to do the job and return for the Holy City battle.

This startegy backfired badly. Bab Al Wad was cleared in one quick thrust, but the Arabs brought up reinforcements and clung tenaciously to the road west of the gorge to Latrun. Palmach did not have the strength by itself to push further and no major Jewish attack came from the Tel Aviv area.

When the British troops left Jerusalem the Palmach was still committed on the road. The city was short of food and munitions. The Jews simply did not have enough men and supplies to drive out the local Arabs, construct a defense perimeter around Jerusalem and then brace for the expected Legion assault.

From the start, the Old City needed help. It had been intended to rush through reinforcements in the wake of the British but some 300 Haganah men were left to fight a losing battle within the walls.

"What this country amounts to depends on what happens to its homes." . . . That's why the life insurance companies and their agents are bringing you this series of messages from the nation's foremost authorities, to help you plan for happiness in the handling of your family money. (This is Message No. 37.)

Joe Thomas joined the "Cards" at 65!

Today, Joe hasn't a worry in the world!

Your last years can be your best years . . . but it takes good planning, as this true-to-life story shows

by DR. LLOYD E. DEWEY
Professor of Finance
New York University

DR. LLOYD E. DEWEY

VERY FEW people are ever able to quit work in time to enjoy life, and yet all of us dream of doing it.

Today the average child at birth can expect to live eighteen years longer than his grandfather lived. Are these years to be some of the best of your life, as they are for my friend Joe Thomas, or will you miss your chance to have your dream come true?

Joe used to be in the machine shop at Stewart & Brown. (I am changing real names, of course.) A great sports fan, Joe's ambition was to retire and see every home game of the St. Louis Cardinals, his favorite team . . .

Go to the ball park any day now, and you'll see Joe cheering in the stands!

Joe will tell anyone he owes it all to a man he met by chance in his early thirties, a life insurance agent named Ed Barrow, who became one of the best friends he ever had. It was Barrow who sold him the idea of planning for the future—a hard job when most of us are interested only in the present.

He set up a retirement income program for Joe that required no more money than he had been intending to save (and was never quite saving), but made his saving systematic!

Also, he pointed out to Joe that some of the family life insurance protection he carried could safely be rearranged when he was 65 years old, to provide additional income that he and his wife could enjoy together.

Make retirement plans early!
Nearly half the people over 40 answering a recent survey did not expect to be able to retire in reasonable comfort at 65! Let your life insurance agent explain why it's important to make retirement plans early. You can start with a modest amount.

Agent can be a real help

Your life insurance agent can be a real help with your plans for retirement. If you have social security benefits and perhaps a company pension to look forward to, your agent can fit both into a program that will really give you what you need.

If you are planning to start taking it easy, get used to it gradually. The next problem to the financial one is that of empty time. An interesting hobby can add years to your life. My friend Joe Thomas looks like he has many a ball game ahead of him!

How to PLAN for Family Happiness

● Planning for retirement is only part of sound money planning. You'll be more likely to have enough money on hand when you need it, if you'll follow these few simple rules:

FOR TODAY . . . The first thing, for most families, is to take care of the larger fixed items such as rent, taxes, insurance, mortgage and installment payments, etc.

So start by adding up all your fixed items for the year, divide by 52, and set aside that amount weekly.

Also, every family should have a "rainy day" fund equal to at least four weeks' income. Set aside a little every week until you have that much. Then, you'll know how much you can spend for food, clothing, heat, light, amusements, and so forth.

FOR TOMORROW . . . We live in a changing world. Family needs and circumstances change . . . living costs . . . taxes. If you have not had your life insurance program reviewed lately, the chances are 2 to 1 that it should be brought up to date.

There are so many ways in which you can use your life insurance, that you should have the life insurance you now own checked to see if it is suited to your needs. This is a service that comes with your life insurance.

The person best equipped to help you with this is the well-trained life insurance agent. Get in touch with your agent, or write your life insurance company. INSTITUTE OF LIFE INSURANCE, 60 East 42nd Street, New York 17, N. Y.

'Hot' Cruiser Sobers Atom Defense Ideas

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press Reporter

Civilian defense experts find in the latest sinking of a radioactively "hot" ship a sobering hint of the problems an atomic war would bring.

When the cruiser Salt Lake City was sent down off the California coast by gunfire, bombs and torpedoes 22 months had elapsed since it got its coating of the radioactive spray and solid green water thrown up by the underwater burst of an A-bomb in the Bikini tests of 1946.

Yet the ship remained so contaminated that it was deemed unsafe for workmen to scrap her for salvage metal. This bore out the prediction of scientists that some of the ships might remain dangerous for years before the slow decay of the residual radioactive material was complete. Attempts to cleanse the target ships of the invisible but deadly poison brought little success.

Experts of the national military establishment's civil defense planning unit are giving close attention to residual radioactivity, the result of "fission products" or unexpended particles of the explosive material flung outward by the bomb when detonated in water. Translating the target ships into terms of cities, defense workers can foresee the possibility of communities made uninhabitable for prolonged periods if a bomb should be exploded in nearby water.

An air burst bomb, such as those used in the attacks on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, presents no problem of residual activity because the fission products ascend into the air and drift away.

It has been suggested, however, that in the absence of a large body of water near a city a bomb could be exploded in the middle of rain clouds. The dispersion of fisson products over the ground might then be even more complete than in an underwater burst.

Like Unburned Portion

Curiously, improvements in the explosive efficiency of atomic bombs conceivably can reduce their power to produce lingering radioactive contamination. In a rough way, fission products from a bomb are something like the unburned portion of a coal fire—the better the fire, the fewer the ashes that remain.

Official statements strongly indicate that the three atomic explosions set off this spring at Eniwetok Proving Grounds in the mid-Pacific were more efficient than any of the first five A-bombs exploded.

How inefficient the first model was is made plain in the official report of the original atom bomb project. That report said the energy released in uranium fission corresponds to the utilization of only about one tenth of 1 per cent of its mass.

There seems adequate reasons to believe that while the new bombs may explode with even greater ferocity than the old ones, the improvement in nuclear efficiency might still remain small. Efficiency approaching the order for standard explosives probably would create a suicidal weapon.

Thus, while there may be a lessening in the residual radioactivity produced by improved bombs the difference probably would be academic to folks residing in an atom bomb target area. The "half life" (the measurement of the rate of decay in fission products) might be shorter and the period during which an area was dangerously contaminated correspondingly shortened. However, the initial phase of the contamination might be even more lethal than that produced in the Bikini experiments.

Industry Urged to Plan Atom Mobilization

By the United Press

The Armed Forces Munitions Board called on private industry yesterday to start making its own plans for quick mobilization in case of atomic war.

Chairman Thomas J. Hargrave issued a 48-page guide to help the management of each plant in the Nation prepare now for its production role in any future emergency.

Emphasizing that the program "should not be taken to imply that a war is expected in the near future," he said:

"After the atom bombs start falling is no time to start planning. We must do it now.

A Peace Foundation

"Preparedness is a foundation of peace. An alert nation, militarily and industrially prepared against a national emergency, has an excellent chance of avoiding such an emergency."

Hargrave said any war in the near future will be no "push-button affair." Atomic bombs, guided missiles and other new weapons would be "usable" but will not overcome the need for "full-scale mobilization and equipment of manpower."

He said that from three to six months of precious time could be saved in any future mobilization if private industry will make its own advance plans.

He asked each plant in the Nation to appoint a "mobilization director" to blueprint quick conversion to military production, and to keep in close touch with military procurement officials.

Suggests Six-Point Guide

The board suggested a six-point general guide:

1. Each plant should plan to produce at the same rate as in the month of January, 1944, or if that is not appropriate, at a rate equal to its peak output in World War II.

2. Plants should prepare to make "approximately the same type of item or items" as they turned out in 1944.

3. It is "logical" to assume any future conflict would be a major war, long and costly, demanding a total national effort.

4. Manpower will be essential in any war within the near future and that industry should be prepared for its "full-scale" equipment.

5. "A war within the next few years would probably find our economic structure about the same as at present." There would be few shutdown plants and unemployed workers to absorb the initial impact, as in 1939-40. Thus shortages of manpower and of plant capacity would probably develop at the very outset.

6. There also would be immediate shortages of many basic raw materials such as steel, copper, aluminum, rubber, and oil, and "our transportation and power systems would be severely taxed."

Would Bring Quick Controls

The board said in connection with Points 5 and 6 that any M-Day would undoubtedly bring prompt application of strict Government controls over manpower and materials, as well as anti-inflation steps (such as rationing and price controls).

Hargrave pointed out that regional procurement planning officials have been named for every part of the country to advise and assist industry in making mobilization plans.

He gave industrial management a stern warning that mobilization planning is a top-priority matter.

"Should you be unprepared in time of emergency, and unable to participate in production of essential goods, there would be no way in which you could be protected. Unless you can shift to essential production, your suplies of raw materials might be cut off and your labor force drained away. The very existence of your company might hang on your preparedness for the emergency."

Australia to Start Free Medicine Plan

Sydney, Australia, May 31 (U.P.)—The Australian government's free medicine plan is to be inaugurated tomorrow despite fierce opposition by physicians, who say they will boycott it.

Under the plan druggists will dispense free of charge medicines prescribed by doctors, and will debit the cost to the government. Even the wealthiest may obtain medicine free.

Police Reserves Used In Panama Disorder

Panama, Panama, May 31 (AP).—Police reserves were used today to restore order at the palace of justice after a disturbance in the national jury of elections, which is recounting ballots in the May 9 presidential elections. Witnesses said some members of the jury had drawn pistols.

8th Precinct Detective Is Promoted

Precinct Detective Edwin F. Talbot, attached to the Eighth Precinct, has been promoted, effective today, to detective sergeant to fill a vaiancy, created by retirement of Detective Sergt. Timothy A. Fitzgerald.

Talbot's squad assignment had not been determined as of yesterday. Now 35, he has been a member of the force since 1937, serving at one time in the Missing Persons Bureau. A brother, Detective Sergt. Robert E. Talbot, is a member of the homicide squad.

Other detective promotions announced yesterday were:

Probational Detective Robert D. Weaver, attached to the Thirteenth Precinct and detailed to the sex squad, to precinct detective.

Pvt. James H. Knott, of the Eighth Precinct, to probational detective.

Pvt. Andrew T. Gerber, of the Fifth Precinct, to precinct detective to fill a vacancy created by transfer of Precinct Detective Benjamin F. Bean, of the Fifth Precinct, at his own request to First Precinct as a uniformed private.

The retirement of Fitzgerald, the Police Department's one-man bike squad for 25 years, ends a long career for one of the best friends of Washington youngsters. His was the job of hunting down stolen bicycles. He estimated he recovered about half the 1100 bicycles stolen here each year.

District Sales Tax

A Senate Appropriations Subcommittee is currently engaged in revising the District's spending program in an effort to cut down a prospective budgetary deficit estimated at 5.5 million dollars. Until this work has been completed, the amount of new revenue required to balance the budget during the next fiscal year cannot be determined. The situation is further complicated by uncertainty regarding the fate of legislation increasing the pay of District government employes. A pay raise would, it is estimated, add seven million dollars or more to the prospective deficit.

Members of Congress who are struggling with the District's fiscal problems agree that a sales tax will be needed at once if the pay of District employes is raised. However, Representative Bates, head of the fiscal subcommittee of the House District Committee, advocates postponement of an actual levy until the fiscal year 1950, unless pay increases are voted. As matters stand, he favors a limited loan to finance pressing school construction projects during the coming fiscal year. On the other hand, Chairman Horan of the House Appropriations Subcommittee, considers a sales tax necessary, in any case, to meet the needs of 1949.

Since Messrs. Bates and Horan agree that the District is faced by a deficit next year calling for additional revenue, there does not seem to be any good reason for deferring introduction of the sales tax for a year. Nor is there any valid excuse for delaying action on the Bates companion proposal to reform the present inequitable District income tax law by raising taxable income levels and elliminating the exemptions granted Government workers living here but claiming domicile elsewhere.

In any event, quick action is required on supply and revenue-raising bills to take care not only of deficits in prospect but also to provide for the additional deficits that will arise if pay increases for District employes should be voted at the eleventh hour. Unless this is done, the full burden of financing deficits will fall on real estate owners. That is a frightening prospect from the viewpoint of property owners as well as tenants whose rental payments would assuredly rise following sharp and sudden increases in realty taxes.

Science And Security

No one can review the development of the atomic bomb and other wartime inventions without being struck by the amount of basic theory that was borrowed from discoveries made originally in other countries. This situation is typical of what has been happening to American science. The whole trend of American scientific endeavor is toward applied science—toward better automobiles and refrigerators—rather than toward uncovering the fundamental theory on which such applications must rest. To the extent that an adequate science is the core of national security, this trend represents a dangerous tangent. The country has been using up the fuel of scientific advance without giving sufficient attention to replenishing that fuel.

The movement for a national science foundation has its strongest support in the attempt to correct this condition and restore a balance between applied and pure science. Governmental efforts obviously are necessary to place the whole of American science in broad context and point up the weaknesses. Last year President Truman was forced to veto one bill to establish a science foundation on the ground that it was administratively unworkable. Now two new bills are before Congress. The Smith bill has passed the Senate, and hearings are to be held today by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee on it and the companion Wolverton bill.

In some ways these bills are a distinct improvement over the measure vetoed last year. Although they do not specifically include the social sciences within the scope of the foundation, neither do they exclude them arbitrarily. Likewise, they provide for the foundation director to be appointed by the President, though in our opinion they do not go far enough in giving him authority apart from that delegated by the 24 part-time scientist-members of the foundation.

There are, however, serious objections to other provisions in the two current bills, some of which are outlined in a letter elsewhere on this page. A basic flaw, it seems to us, is the failure to guard more adequately against concentration of research grants in a few favored universities. Undoubtedly the interests of short-term efficiency would be served by such concentration, but the long-run strength of the Nation lies in the spread of research in many places. Another defect, in our opinion, is in the lack of a specific requirement that patent rights accruing from use of foundation funds be assigned to the public.

Finally, the bills seem to us to run into an obstacle in the application of security classifications and in their attempt to direct science along the lines of foreign policy. For one thing, this latter provision is a slight to such international organs as UNESCO. Beyond that, it seems to us, any bill that seeks to promote the basic stuff of science—pure research—ought to recognize that a directed science, which implies direction along the lines of military endeavor, soon becomes a compartmentalized science which falls of its own weight. Hitler's error in this respect is a prime example of what happens when attempts are made to nationalize ideas that do not respect national boundaries.

Old Master

A familiar object on the world landscape has gone temporarily out of sight in the defeat of 78-year-old Premier Smuts in the South African elections. Foreigners are left to wonder when a political leader who belongs to humanity is rejected by his fellow countrymen. Perhaps the reason lies in the sharpening of the issues that afflict mankind. Essentially the Old Master (as Smuts is affectionately called in South Africa) was a man of compromise, a meliorist, and such a man was supported mainly by his personal reputation in the race-muddled politics of South Africa. The Nationalists who will take the reins from Smuts' United Party are more representative of South Africa's present temper. They are extreme racists who believed in Hitler's theories long before Hitler expressed them. South Africa is a kind of Mississippi—with 2½ million Europeans and 9 million non-Europeans, mainly Bantu, in its population. Dr. D. F. Malan, the Nationalist leader, hopes to solve the race problem "for all time" by a segregation more rigid than anything that has ever been suggested in other countries where the problem resides.

A government that intends to turn the clock back is bound to command interest far beyond its jurisdiction. British comment is full of misgivings though only in part because the Malan policy stands out starkly in contrast with the general race policy now being pursued under the British flag. The British have a more practical concern. Dr. Malan and his party are Republicans who would like to sever the remaining ties with Britain and the Commonwealth and the sterling bloc. This issue was not stressed during the bitter campaigning. But it lay beneath the surface, and is bound to mark the actions of the new government, perhaps before it tackles the race issue. Racism and nationalism as a compound for a government's policy seem bound to invite both trouble at home and complications abroad.

Not that Malan is poles apart from his predecessor, except in intellectual outlook and allegiance to the British Commonwealth. Smuts was by no means an equalitarian in practice, whatever he may have been in theory. This was shown by the rebuke he sustained at the hands of the General Assembly in 1946. The Indians had protested residential segregation in Natal, and the Assembly passed what to all intents and purposes was a vote of censure on South Africa. Smuts felt the snub deeply. As a politician who believed in politics as the art of the possible, he thought that the treatment accorded South Africa was unrealistic though he remained a stanch supporter of the United Nations. His deeper interest, however, lay in developing federation, if not fusion, in the world neighborhood, and his ideas are more or less expressed in the country by Federal Union. He may now be spared to preach this "holistic" approach, as he calls it [from the Greek word meaning "whole"] in other lands while his own is experimenting with the opposite.

Confidence In U. N.

After all the concern voiced on Capitol Hill over strengthening the United Nations, it would be the height of inconsistency for Congress to deny the U. N. the means with which to establish its permanent home in New York. We are confident that Congress does not intend to let the U. N. down in that fashion. The danger is that legislation approving the 65-million-dollar interest-free loan negotiated between Delegate Warren Austin and U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie in March may be shunted aside in the adjournment rush. A long road remains before the loan can be made effective. Authorizing legislation must be reported out by committees and passed by both houses, and then funds themselves must be voted. To accomplish all this by the latter part of June will require spirited leadership. Meanwhile the United Nations remains, in effect, a sort of nervous tenant leasing quarters at Lake Success. If nothing else, this transient atmosphere presents a poor psychological background for deliberations so intimately connected with world peace.

The urgency of the loan is increased by the fact that plans are at a standstill until the money is forthcoming. Land donated to the U. N. along New York's East River has been cleared, and everything is in readiness to begin construction. The 65 million dollars will provide for an office building, a library, a large conference hall to house the General Assembly and another meeting hall for the Security Council and other U. N. bodies. New York City already has evinced its faith in the venture by authorizing accompanying improvements costing 13 million dollars.

There is no question about the soundness of the investment; the entire amount of the loan will be recoverable. All that remains is for Congress to meet its responsibility toward the organization it helped create. Perhaps an end can be put to the dawdling by reflection on the probable consequences if Congress should fail to act. Not only would our delegate stand repudiated before the nations with which he is dealing, but, far worse, the inaction would be widely interpreted as a vote of no confidence in the United Nations.

Churchill On Palestine

Till the other day Mr. Churchill, except for one intervention, had kept ostentatiously out of the postwar debate on Palestine. The reason is said to be the death of Lord Moyne. In killing Lord Moyne in 1944 the Stern gang murdered Mr. Churchill's friend, and Mr. Churchill felt his objectivity toward Palestine would be injured along with his heart. But last week he found his voice again, and launched a scathing attack on the Labor government for its policy, or lack of it, on Palestine. He called it "the outstanding item in a catalog of incompetence."

The speech may be put down as the speech of party oppositionism. But Mr. Churchill's record on Palestine relieves him from such an indictment. Indeed, in looking over his writings and speeches in the 1937 debate on the Peel Commission's partition report, this newspaper was struck once again by his statesmanship. He was not wedded to the Peel report. One gathered that he thought the partition was drawn in a way that discriminated against the Zionists. His concern was for action. Resolution to back up solution was his recipe, and, when the government of the day shelved the report, he inveighed against its "temporizing and drifting." He was for Peelism rather than procrastination. After the war he again demanded action. This time it was to get out of Palestine. In August, 1946, two years after his friend had been killed, he warned the government that, by pursuing its present course, the accusation would be invited of a Britain more interested in strategy than in the Holy Land.

Again he was a voice crying out in the wilderness. What has been called Mr. Bevin's "treaty mania," expressive of the strategic concern that Mr. Churchill feared, has ruled British conduct. Mr. Churchill publicly held his tongue about the policy that was being followed, though in private, as Mr. Sumner Welles reveals in his excellent book, We Need Not Fail, he voiced private misgivings. Mr. Welles had expressed to Mr. Churchill his slow and reluctant conclusion that, as in the case of India, "only some form of partition could now solve what would otherwise remain an insoluble problem." Mr. Welles reports the Churchill reaction:

> Mr. Churchill was gratified and apparently surprised by what I told him. He said that in both of these cases the accumulated errors of the past now made necessary solutions that were far from perfect, but which at least contained the essential basis of justice, and offered the best chance of avoiding far greater difficulties in the future. His chief emphasis was laid upon the need for prompt and decisive action.

The avoidance of "prompt and decisive" action has compounded the present problem in the Middle East, until, as in the case of Ireland after the first World War, a premium is being put on the extremism exemplified in the Irgun's appeal to Moscow.

Eminence Grise

Mr. Robert L. Sherwood's digests of The Private Papers of Harry L. Hopkins, now appearing in Collier's magazine, throw an interesting light on one of the most curious personalities and one of the strangest relationships in American political history. Hopkins was never a popular man; it is doubtful that he could have been elected to any public office. He had many enemies even within the New Deal hierarchy. Yet for many years he was one of the most powerful men in Washington, and by that token one of the most powerful men in the world.

Other favorites of the White House came and went, but Hopkins was in perennial favor. Those who had causes to plead knew that the road to Mr. Roosevelt's attention was through Hopkins, and that whatever cause Hopkins might oppose was well nigh hopeless. At the Chicago convention of 1940 it was Hopkins who, sitting at one end of a direct telephone wire to the White House, gave the orders. It was the professional politicians who cursed, snarled and obeyed him. It was Hopkins who was sent as Roosevelt's personal envoy to Stalin, and the dictator was urged by the President to "treat him with the identical confidence you would feel if you were talking directly to me."

The secret of Hopkins' influence and power is contained in a memoir by the late Wendell Willkie, quoted by Mr. Sherwood. In the interview at the White House which preceded Mr. Willkie's famous trip round the world, Mr. Roosevelt said:

> Someday you may well be sitting here where I am now as President of the United States. And when you are, you'll be looking at that door over there and knowing that practically everybody who walks through it wants something out of you. You'll learn what a lonely job this is, and you'll discover the need for somebody like Harry Hopkins who asks for nothing except to serve you.

Other Presidents no doubt have felt a need for such loyal and unselfish servants, but no other has ventured to appoint a personal confidant to a series of official posts. To find an analogy perhaps we must go back to the relationship between Cardinal Richelieu and the Capuchin Father Joseph, who served him in difficult matters of state and whose favor was assiduously sought by the courtiers.

But, then, the rule of Richelieu was personal and absolutist, and there remains the question whether the elevation of personal followers to positions of great power is compatible with the republican and constitutional concepts of the state. Anyway, it is clear from Mr. Sherwood's narrative that Hopkins' extraordinary devotion was to the person of Franklin Roosevelt and not to the abstract office of President of the United States. And it is also clear that neither of them bothered much about constitutional niceties.

Public Welfare Funds

In view of the many vital national and international issues claiming our attention, it is perhaps not surprising that so few Washingtonians are speaking out in behalf of our Board of Public Welfare. Yet the Senate Subcommittee on District Fiscal Affairs, is even now considering a further reduction.

The writer is a housewife who does not pretend to have all the facts and figures at hand. But I have had a personal and happy experience with the children's service of the Board of Public Welfare. We adopted a baby through them two years ago. The service we received was highly competent professionally and courteous and considerate personally, although it was apparent that the adoption unit was understaffed and overworked. A staff member devoted a large portion of a cold, rainy Saturday (not a working day) to us on the day we brought our infant girl home.

We have applied for another baby. Among the reasons they have no suitable baby for us is that they are out of funds until the new fiscal year begins. They have had to refer cases to private agencies, which are also handicapped by the failure of the Community Chest drive. What is to become of the District's excellent adoption law under these circumstances?

Through inquiries I made of professional social workers with the Council of Social Agencies I learn that while the new budget for children's services is not really adequate, the primary concern is for the public assistance division. I am impressed by the fact that the House cut $198,000 from a budget request which allowed a bare subsistence level on the basis of 1946 food prices; that this request estimated an increased case load of only 150 persons, although the experience of other cities has shown that the tuberculosis survey will probably push relief loads up through the hospitalization of family heads; that only unemployables are considered for relief; that lay investigators have declared the board is too cautious in deciding on eligibility; that the same number of case workers is employed as in 1944 while the work load has greatly increased. Small wonder if these workers are unable to maintain top efficiency as has been alleged.

I believe that public provision of the essentials of life for those who are unable to provide them for themselves should be recognized as an obligation and in the long run, a matter of public self-interest. I appeal to Senator Dworshak and his colleagues to make it possible for Washington to discharge this obligation.

Australian Haircuts

A time there was when Australians living in Washington were amused and amazed at the cost of a simple haircut in this Capital City. Now they are only amazed. My latest haircut cost me $1.25, and if I had a tonic (which I usually do have) the cost would have been an additional 50c. On this occasion I had a shoeshine, and with the tips, the payout was $1.75. It is easy to see that price control in hairdressing shops is as dead as the Dodo.

In Australia the cost of a haircut is one shilling and six pence (just under 25c at the exchange value). If you want a tonic in addition, you just say so, and the extra cost is nil. Tipping is most unusual in Australian hairdressing shops.

Seeking reasons for the extortionate charges made in America, I have learned, among other things, that the proprietor of hairdressing shops often not only overcharges his customers but underpays his employes. In Australia, the barber in common with all other employes, works under an award of the arbitration court which guarantees him more than a living wage—a wage so good that he does not have to look for tips.

I predict that the time cannot be far distant when Washington wives will be cutting the hair of Washington men in their own homes.

Arab Side

The papers cast blame upon the Arabs in the miscalled "holy" war in Palestine. However, Washington Post editorials have helped much to balance the picture.

The Arabs have lived for centuries in Palestine. Are they not justified in fighting against eviction from or partition of their home, especially when they know no other means of defense? On the other hand, the Jews are attempting to force a home for themselves from religious conviction that as God's chosen people the Holy Land belongs to them, as well as upon a British promise made years ago which was, to say the least, unwise. Are the Jews right, then, in wanting a home based upon a war which imperils the whole Gentile as well as the Jewish world?

President Truman's action in recognizing the Jewish state could not have come from considered judgment, for such judgment is not hasty. Secretary Marshall had just requested that no action be taken until time could be had for thinking. Upon what, then, was the President's action based? Could it have been for votes that he laid himself open to reactions of righteously indignant people and further confused and imperiled this country?

"Revising The Charter"

It is with interest and encouragement that I note from your editorial of May 26 "Revising the Charter," that you have come to the realization that "the Charter will certainly have to be amended to make the Council the positive agency for peace that it ought to be." Would you have said as much a few months ago?

You are even willing to agree that at "an appropriate time" a general review conference under Article 109 may be indicated. To one who has despaired of so great a newspaper's determined unwillingness to face the facts clearly admitted in the May 26 editorial, this is heartening progress in the right direction.

That you still assume that to invoke 109 now would mean a risk of destroying the U. N. seems to me merely to encourage that tendency to bypass, and to split into regional defensive blocks, the U. N. members now striving to achieve security in an anarchic world by means of competitive armament races well calculated to make the "appropriate moment" for revision under 109 a case of stable-locking after the horse is long gone.

Here is one reader who welcomes even so faltering a recognition that the U. N. as presently constituted is quite incapable of dealing with contretemps like the seizure of Czechoslovakia, which from the Russian point of view is just a way of forming a defensive alliance, and no violation of the Charter. But please make haste in recognizing and supporting revision when the "appropriate time" arrives.

MARY-STUART CHAMBERLAIN.
Broad Run, Va.

Editor's Note: We have repeatedly recognized the desirability of modifying the United Nations Charter so as to make it a more effective instrument of peace. We would go further than the Vandenberg-Lovett revisionists and try to incorporate in the Charter a definition of the kind of indirect aggression that captured Czechoslovakia. What we have objected to is the reckless attempt to have the United States withdraw from the U. N. if American proposals for revision are not accepted.

National Science Foundation

A risky and somewhat humiliating choice will be given several American scientific groups Tuesday and Wednesday by the House of Representatives Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. They will be allowed to testify in open hearings on the 1948 National Science Foundation bill.

Although the ostensible aim of the bill (actually two bills: S. 2385 and H. R. 6007) is to give Federal aid to basic science, it also contains provisions potentially harmful to science in America as scientists see it. Probably the shapers of the bill have given it this complexion purposely, partly in the hope that criticism by scientists themselves can be used to kill it.

Currently the billion-dollar yearly bill for research in the United States is paid 60 per cent by the armed forces, 37 per cent by industry. Free initiative in experiment is being economically choked to death. The science foundation measures now being considered would merely disguise, not relieve, this constriction. The scientists who testify are aware that a foundation is drastically needed and that the hearings may trap them into endangering the whole project. Nevertheless there are changes some of them will have to demand. Needed provisions are:

(a) A form of administration in which the responsibility for the disbursement of public funds is given entirely to full-time personnel responsible to the President, not to part-time personnel subject to pressures through outside affiliations;

(b) Distribution of funds to insure the development of science throughout the Nation as a whole, with particular emphasis on regions which are underdeveloped, and with safeguards against overconcentration in present scientific centers;

(c) Assignment of responsibility for formulating national science policies, surveying public and private research and making recommendations for its coordination;

(d) Free availability, or dedication to the public, of all patentable discoveries made during research financed through the Foundation;

(e) Promotion of international scientific cooperation without nationalistic implications;

(f) Restriction of support for basic research to projects that do not require security classification.

The National Science Foundation issue is not a spectacular one, nor does the absence of a comprehensive national science policy result in dramatic symptoms likely to awaken public alarm. Rather, it is like the effects of "hidden hunger," the need for essential nutrients which makes itself felt only when, in emergency, the body calls upon its reserve resources. The future strength of our scientific resources may depend on the statesmanship today of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Peace Policy

THIS CONGRESS is likely to end with a record of having appropriated more for military expenditures than any other peacetime Congress in history. In the same session it has pinched and pared on the things that make for stability in this country and in the world.

The last goes even for the State Department although, after a great struggle, it was possible to get an appropriation for an information service that approaches adequacy. Peace starves while war is fattened on what is scarcest and dearest.

When we look at Russia, the contrast is even sharper. World War II did enormous destruction in Russia, so that it is necessary to build back toward a level that was already painfully low in comparison to American standards. Yet the little that comes out of that oppressive land is almost all concerned with armed might. The pictures of Stalin and the members of the Politburo taken in Red Square on May Day show them in full military regalia, viewing fleets of planes and miles of marching men. We are told of the largest tank ever made and of new bombers and fighters.

But also, from the little that trickles out, we know that the Russian people are no more desirous of war than the American people are. Here was one real accomplishment of the recent exchange of notes and the public declarations that followed. Both peoples are longing for an assurance of peace.

THE KNOWING speak of Russia's "peace offensive," putting the whole affair down to a tactical maneuver intended to deflect American interest and weaken American determination. It can be interpreted that way and with considerable supporting evidence.

Certainly Stalin's reply to Henry Wallace's open letter was almost entirely propaganda rather than a realistic effort to remove the obstacles that stand in the way of true peace. The reply repeated all the stale generalizations that have come out of the Soviet propaganda machine for the past three years.

But it is a mistake, in my opinion, to dismiss it entirely as a new tactic aimed at gaining what the tactic of bluster and threat failed to gain.

In the same way it is a mistake to assume that the little group of men in the Kremlin can entirely ignore popular feeling. The Soviet "peace offensive" may have been fully as much for home consumption as it was a new move in the Soviet-United States chess game.

There is at least one piece of tangible evidence showing why the Kremlin might hesitate to send Russian troops into western Europe. That is the continuing desertions of Soviet officers attached to occupation troops stationed in eastern Germany.

At a rate that is growing fairly rapidly, they are seeking refuge in the zones of Germany under control of the United States and the British. The common soldier in the ranks of the Russian occupation troops would probably be doing the same thing if he were not so closely supervised and, in fact, locked up each night in barracks.

HERE IS the sign of an internal problem that may go much deeper than any one can know. A recent visitor here from Berlin, thoroughly familiar with the trend of desertions from Soviet ranks, put it this way:

"The trouble is that we aren't set up to exploit what is apparently a pretty wide desire to get out and not go back to the old life of privation and oppression. I believe if we could make a bona fide offer of 40 acres and a mule in the U. S. A. for every deserter—and really make good on it—they wouldn't have an army in Germany very long. Not unless they locked them up all the time."

He was, of course, only half serious. But the point is that we should never cease trying to go over the heads of the men in the Kremlin to appeal to the desire of the great mass of the Russian people to live in peace, free of the threat of war.

It has been said, and again with some supporting evidence, that the Soviet "peace offensive" has weakened United States determination to stand firm in western Europe with the strength and the resources to maintain independent nations there. That is a sad commentary on the uncertainty, the vacillation, of our own policy.

Our position in the world requires strength—productive and military strength beyond the power of any "peace offensive" to shake. But our position also calls for the strength and the confidence to wage peace and to wage it effectively at every opportunity.

"The Iron Curtain"

I do not agree with Helen M. Irwin (letter published May 22) that dramatic critic Coe did "a far better job on The Iron Curtain than your editors did" on May 15. While the picture has its faults (what picture hasn't?) it is a powerful and factual presentation of one of the most daring and ruthless plots to undermine the government of a friendly nation that history has yet revealed. Your correspondent should read Life magazine's review of the picture, which is much superior to Coe's, and more in line with The Washington Post editorial.

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

The Voice Of Mr. Borgia

LIPPMANN

ANYONE with experience in journalism could have told the State Department, and several of us did, that it would get into trouble if it took responsibility for radio programs. That is because it is a technical impossibility for the department to direct or to supervise broadcasts to all parts of the world in dozens of languages on all kinds of subjects.

For how is it conceivable that officials of the department can read all the scripts before they are broadcast? How can they know what has happened to the scripts when they have been translated into foreign languages? How can they know what they sounded like when the broadcasters had supplied their own personal inflections and emphasis?

IN THE case of the scandalous, and perhaps malicious, broadcasts to Latin-America, the Voice of America seems to have been Mr. Rene Borgia of Venezuela and a Mr. Alberto Gandero who is now working in Cuba. Obviously their broadcasts were not "supervised" successfully. But where are we going to find the all-seeing eye and the all-hearing ear which will supervise hour by hour what the Voice of America says to the world in Spanish, Portuguese, French, German, Italian, Czech, Hungarian, Polish, Romanian, Greek, Finnish, Swedish, Norwegian, Arabic, Chinese — or even in English?

Mr. George V. Allen, the Assistant Secretary of State, who now chaperones the Voice of America, had nothing whatever to do with the scripts which have aroused Congress and the public. Mr. Allen was our Ambassador in Iran when they were broadcast. But from now on he will be responsible, and so he really ought to consider whether he could, as he says in his letter to Senator Smith of New Jersey, "supervise the programs" if he had "the authority and the machinery for supervision." What authority and what machinery would he like to have in order to discharge successfully the responsibility of supervision? It will take some machinery to enable Mr. Allen to supervise Mr. Richardson of NBC who was supposed to supervise Mr. Gandero who was supposed to supervise Mr. Borgia.

MY OWN view is that the Voice of America to the outer world should be the voice of the President of the United States and of the Secretary of State, and that to let anyone else call himself the Voice of America is certain to diminish, not to enhance, the prestige and influence of the United States.

I think it absurd that the Voice of America, an official organ of the Department of State, should be heard around the world singing songs, cracking jokes, entertaining the kiddies. It is arguable that a summary of the news from the press associations should be broadcast, and that the Government could facilitate such broadcasts. But I do not believe that this country can conduct an official propaganda of ideology, doctrine, and opinion. For this country, being truly a free country, does not have any such thing as an official ideology, an official doctrine and an official set of opinions.

BUT EVEN if it be granted that the Government needs to conduct such a propaganda, then it ought not be the Department of State which does it. The department should always speak for itself. No one, not Mr. Borgia and Mr. Gandero, should be allowed to speak for it, not even if Mr. Borgia and Mr. Gandero are being "supervised." If the department speaks for itself, it will know what it is saying. It does not know, in the nature of things it can never know, what the Voice of America is saying.

The only scripts that the department ought to have anything to do with are speeches, statements, press interviews dealing with foreign affairs that come directly from the White House and the department through authorized officials. To supervise effectively even those scripts is a big enough job for the department.

And if it confined itself to doing that job as well as it can, it would not be in endless trouble because it has bitten off more than it can chew.

Twentieth Century Fund Calls ITO Charter Weak on Cartels

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

The United States should, "as far as possible" seek to eliminate international cartels, in the opinion of a committee of the Twentieth Century Fund.

The committee, appointed two years ago to study the subject, "Cartels or Competition?" reported that a broad policy against cartels depends upon United States support of the International Trade Organization. It found, however, a "basic weakness" in the ITO charter, in that it did not outlaw cartels or similar restrictive business practices.

To strengthen ITO procedures and machinery, despite the weakness of its charter, the committee recommended for immediate ITO action:

1. Patent reforms, to check the use of patents for cross-licensing in cartel agreements.

2. Registration of international business agreements.

3. Registration and disclosure of ownership and control, as well as the financial relations of all corporations engaged in international trade.

4. United States assistance in assembling a competent ITO staff and United States insistence on rapid consideration of cartel cases brought before the ITO.

Regardless of any action the ITO might take, the committee said the United States should take these independent actions:

1. Reform its own patent laws to block cross-licensing in cartels.

2. Strengthen its anticartel policies in Germany and Japan by adopting "positive" measures to promote competition as well as break up monopolies and cartels in areas it controls.

3. Give strong support to the ITO in its efforts to regulate agreements restricting or affecting production and consumption of basic commodities.

"As far as possible," said the report, "the United States should seek the elimination of international cartels. When this is impossible, the aim should be to keep an effective curb on cartels and restrictive practices.

"Coupled with action against existing cartels should be measures to prevent the growth of new ones.

"To foster competition requires Government action on a wide front and by many instruments. If governmental policy does not foster competition it is likely to give way to economic concentration and private monopoly.

"The ITO is a step in the right direction, and deserves strong American support. At the same time, it is only a first step and Americans should know its weaknesses, the loopholes in the agreement, the places where failure may appear.

"Otherwise United States policy is likely to be faulty and inadequate, and the American public may become cynical about an agreement from which it expected too much."

Members of the committee were James M. Landis, former chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, chairman; A. S. Gross, master of the National Grange; Marion Hedges, research director, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Donald M. Nelson, former chairman of the War Production Board; Jacob Vinero, professor of economics, Princeton University; Raymond Walsh, radio commentator.

Chamber Schedules Foreign Trade Talks

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States announced yesterday that it will sponsor an economic institute here June 15 to discuss the proposed International Trade Organization charter.

William L. Clayton, former Undersecretary of State, and Clair Wilcox, former State Department director of international trade policy, will present the case for the ITO charter.

Five business leaders will give their views for or against. The chamber is on record as advocating withholding United States ratification until the charter is amended to assure greater freedom for private enterprise in foreign trade.

Martin Declares United States Won't Permit Red Domination

Gettysburg, Pa., May 31 (U.P.).—House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr., said today the United States will not permit the world to be "overrun by the despots of the Kremlin."

In a Memorial Day adress here, the Massachusetts Republican said the American people "want to get along agreeably and amicably with Russia."

"Nobody knows that better than the rulers of Russia," he said. "The men of the Kremlin are not blind. They are not stupid.

"They know the mood of America. They know we do not seek war with Russia."

Martin said that Americans are not "saber rattling" when they insist on having a strong military establishment.

He denounced what he called the Administration's "secret diplomacy" and said it could result in "the people's liberties . . . (being) whittled away one by one."

Declaring the present Congress "determined that the Communists and fellow travelers who infested the Government service must be driven out," he added:

"It is a strange paradox that when we seek to curb their seditious activities, the subversionists seek refuge under the protection of the same Constitution and the same Bill of Rights they are attempting to destroy."

Forest Fire Rages Out of Control in Northern Ontario

Blind River, Ontario, May 31 (U.P.).—A forest fire, said to be one of the largest ever to strike northern Ontario, raged out of control today over 20,000 acres in the Mississagi area, 45 miles from here.

Over 400 firefighters battled desperately to confine the flames, spreading in three directions. Scores of fresh replacements and additional equipment were being rushed to the scene.

As firefighters worked to the point of exhaustion, it was believed men from nearby districts might have to be conscripted to help fight the fast-spreading fire.

Caribbean Storm

By Sumner Welles

Call For U. S. Cooperation

IN THE present world crisis the solidarity of the American republics is as indispensable to our security as it was at the time of Pearl Harbor.

The Bogota uprising was a dramatic warning of impending trouble. But there are equally ominous signs of danger throughout the Caribbean region.

Little attention has been paid to the recent revolution in Costa Rica. Yet its implications could hardly be more disquieting.

Dr. Rafael Calderon Guardia was President of Costa Rica from 1940 to 1944. His truly democratic administration was responsible for some of the most enlightened social legislation that has been enacted in the hemisphere. Under his leadership Costa Rica was the first Latin-American republic to declare war on the Axis. His government cooperated unswervingly in all defense measures.

After an interval of four years, Dr. Calderon Guardia again ran for the Presidency last winter. On the face of the returns he was defeated. When the Costa Rican Congress, in accordance with the constitution, declared the elections void on the ground of fraud in the registrations and in the computation of the votes, and because of the alleged connivance of two of the three members of the electoral tribunal, a successful revolution was launched.

The people of a republic long regarded as a shining example of democracy are now governed by a military junta, headed by the revolutionary leader, Jose Figueres, who has announced that he will not give place to any elected government until after 1950, if then. All semblance of respect for life or property has vanished. Eminent figures in the life of the republic have been deprived of their citizenship. Their properties have been confiscated.

Figueres, who is of Catalan parentage, only acquired Costa Rican nationality in 1935. During the war he was accused of serving as a front for German interests.

Skillful propaganda made it appear that the revolution was directed against communism. There are only a few thousand Communists in Costa Rica. They are members of the Vanguardia Popular Party, which is headed by the notorious Communist, Mora. During the revolution the Communists declared they were opposing Figueres. It is now known that before the Communist leader fled from the country he conferred with Figueres and reached a secret agreement with him. He is expected soon to return to Costa Rica.

Conditions such as these in a republic whose friendship for the United States is traditional, and whose southern boundary is close to the Panama Canal, are sufficient cause of concern. But there is additional reason for preoccupation in the fact that Figueres is welcoming to Costa Rica opponents of the constitutional governments of Nicaragua, of Honduras and of El Salvador, that many of these revolutionists are recruiting military forces, and that landing barges and arms and ammunition are now being smuggled into Costa Rica.

THERE IS, unfortunately, reason to believe that the government of Guatemala is by no means disinterested. President Arevalo is a fanatic. He has evolved the theory that he must oppose any Latin-American government that does not square with his own political standards. He is a fervent exponent of the doctrine that the neighboring republics should take over the European colonies still remaining in the Americas. He is backed in both of these endeavors by the individuals now dominating the government of Venezuela. The recent flare-up over British Honduras showed how serious the results of such activities can be.

But President Arevalo's most dangerous obsession is that a Central-American Union should be immediately created.

The reestablishment of the Central-American Union has been the ideal of many statesmen. A true union of the Central-American republics cannot, however, be imposed. It could only be durable if it were established in response to an overwhelming popular demand in each of the five republics. There is no such demand today. Any present attempt to impose a Central-American Union would result in war.

Overshadowing all of the danger signals in these neighboring republics is the popular distress brought about by postwar economic maladjustments. Only effective measures of cooperation on the part of the United States could relieve conditions which are an open invitation to subversive influences to foment social and political upheavals, and such measures have not yet even been initiated.

If the United States, by cooperation within the organization of the American States, is to dispel this grave threat to the peace of the hemisphere and to its own security, it must move, and move fast.

May Rainfall Twice Normal

Yesterday's belated holiday sunshine wasn't enjoyed by all Washingtonians for many of them kept busy cleaning up or pumping water from Sunday night's rainstorm, which brought the month's rainfall to more than double normal.

The thermometer skipped up to 77 degrees at 4:55 p.m. The forecast for today is continued mild and probably cloudy.

The pumping-out process ended about noon in the 3900 block of Minnesota ave. ne., where overloaded street sewers backed up Sunday night, flooding parked cars and stores.

More than a foot of mud remained on a parking lot behind the Senator Theater, 3950 Minnesota ave. ne., where about 100 vehicles had been submerged to the rooftops. About 50 were towed away and the remainder left under their own power, Tom Rosa, theater manager, reported.

Yesterday the deep end of the lot was barricaded and theater workers labored to clear mud from in front of the theater.

At the A. & P. food store nearby, water flooded into the basement submerging several thousand dollars' worth of soap, soap flakes, flour and canned goods, Henry Frey, manager, said.

The Standard drug store at 3939 Minnesota ave. ne. lost 5000 rolls of toilet paper and many drug items when water poured into the store basement.

In Silver Spring, residents reported mud washed into Luzerne ave. and Kensington. The same thing occurred on Ferndale st., Marlboro. Police reported Naylor rd. between the District line and Branch ave., Silver Hill, had been washed out, but remained passable.

In nearby Prince Georges County, Sligo Creek overflowed near the East-West highway Sunday night bringing water to the entrance level of several homes.

The rainfall began about 4:45 p. m. Sunday and continued to 1:05 a. m., turning to a drizzle then, the Weather Bureau said. The total rainfall from 7:30 a. m., Sunday to 7:30 a. m. yesterday was 1.61 inches, making the month's total 8.87 inches. This is 5.17 inches above the normal, but short of the 1889 record of 10.69 inches.

Housing Seen As Big Issue In Campaign

By The Associated Press

A leading Democrat said yesterday "it looks like" Congress will fail to enact the Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill. He predicted Democrats will make housing one of the principal issues of the presidential campaign.

Representative Spence of Kentucky, senior Democrat on the House Banking Committee, told newsmen all indications are that comprehensive home-building legislation will be sidetracked in the drive to adjourn Congress two weeks from Saturday.

"If so, he said, "housing will be one of the big issues in the presidential election."

The bill, passed by the Senate, has been before the House Banking Committee since April 23. In hearings thus far, only supporters have been heard. Some 60 persons have requested time to speak in opposition to the measure.

"The Democratic membership of the committee wants the bill sent to the House floor for action," Spence asserted. "The housing situation is one of the most critical situations in America, and something should be done."

Meanwhile, a leading Republican told reporters privately that it is "increasingly unlikely" that a housing bill anywhere near as far-reaching as the T.-E.-W. measure can pass before Congress adjourns.

Alexandrians to Seek Action on TEW Bill

A plea for support of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill will be presented today to Representative Howard W. Smith (D., Va.) by representatives of more than a dozen Alexandria organizations.

The delegation, representing civic, welfare, veterans and labor groups, will confer with Representative Smith in his office at 2:30 p. m. to present a petition asking him to "use all means at his disposal to promote prompt enactment of the bill."

The measure, already passed by the Senate, is now before the House Banking and Currency Committee.

The group will be accompanied by Mayor William T. Wilkins, who said yesterday he had indorsed the petition "purely as a private citizen."

The petition, prepared by the Alexandria branch of the League of Women Voters with the assistance of R. S. Marshall, jr., director of the Alexandria Housing Authority, stresses the need for an expanded public housing program, more medium priced houses and rental units, slum clearance and a new survey of housing needs in the city.

In urging Smith's support of a phase of the bill which would provide some 500,000 more public housing units, the petition points out that Alexandria, a city of 75,000, has available for low-home families only 421 rental units which are not specifically allotted for Army or Navy personnel. These include 130 units for white families and 291 for Negroes.

In addition to the voters' league and the housing authority, supporters of the petition include the Alexandria Welfare Council, Family Service Society, Americans for Democratic Action, Council of Ministers, American Veterans Committee, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Community Health Center, American Legion Auxiliary, Alexandria Womens' Club, the Central Labor Union and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Annapolis, May 31 (AP).—Francis John Suttill, jr., 24-year-old midshipman who interpersed his career with study at Cornell, where he won a B.A. degree, was named today as honor man of the Naval Academy's 1948 graduating class.

Suttill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Suttill, sr., of Collingswood, N. J., had the best academic average of any man in the class.

No. 2 man was George Lee Hoffman, 24, son of Mrs. Vernettie Farmer of Tampa, Fla., and No. 3 was George Addison Fowler, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Fowler of Torrington, Wyo.

Suttill entered the Academy in 1942, left in 1944 because of physical disability, and entered Cornell, where he was graduated in 1946. In June of that year, he reentered the academy and was advanced to the 1948 class.

At the annual presentation of awards parade on Wednesday, one of the highlights of June Week, Suttill will receive:

The Military Order of Foreign Wars Award for the highest average in mathematics; National Society of the United States Daughters of 1812 Award for highest average in electrical courses; Veterans of Foreign Wars Prize for graduating at the head of the class, and the Gardner L. Caskey Memorial Award, also for graduating at the head of the class.

The entire brigade turned out on this holiday for the presentation of "N" awards to 284 Navy athletes. Extra-curricular awards went to 139 members of the graduating class.

The two outstanding recipients of athletic awards were Robert Searle of Monterey, Calif., basketball and baseball luminary; and E. Newbold Smith of Ardmore, Pa., who was on the football, wrestling and track team.

Each of them received "N" stars representing participation on teams which beat Army. Each of them now has five "N" stars, the largest number held by any Middie since "Red" Vories was graduated in 1935.

The "N" winners were honored tonight at a dance at the boathouse on college creek.

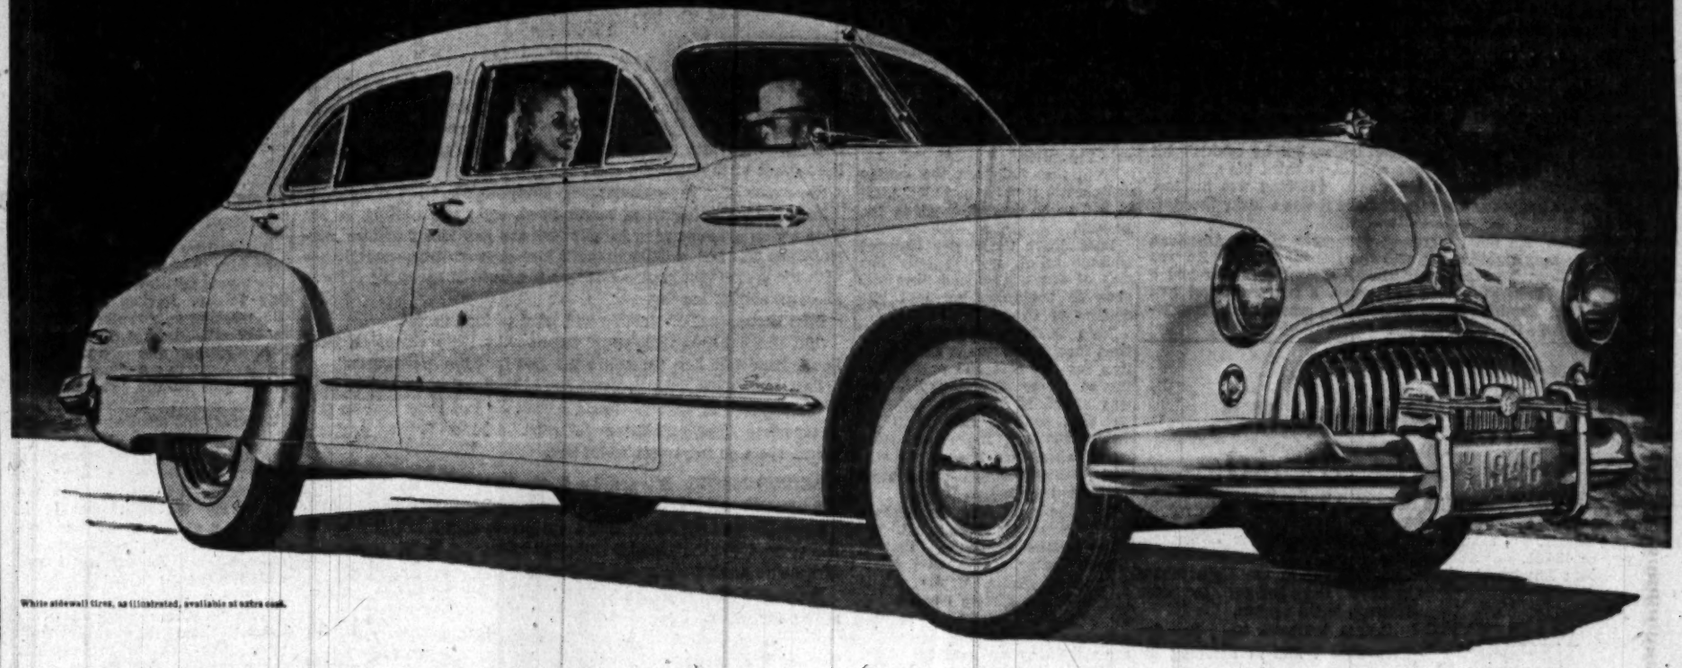
Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard



White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

REMEMBER that rough patch of road up yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample roadweight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton.

It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

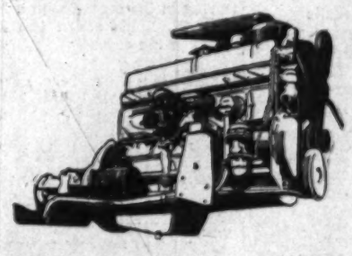
And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-smooth and quiet — long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.



REASON FOR THE VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE
Placed with scientific exactness, 3 fat cushions of special composition cradle the engine so as to control its vibration frequency. Engine vibration is thus kept "out of tune" with those that might come from other parts of the car. The result is to shield car occupants against tiring pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible and motoring practically fatigue-free.

Yanks Spank Nats Twice, 10-0, 5-4, Before 62,626

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

YANKEE STADIUM, N. Y., May 31.—Baseball off the cuff:

CLIFFORD MAPES, utility outfielder of the Yankees, will literally lose his shirt, come Sunday, June 13. That's the day when the Yankees' front office will retire and enshrine Babe Ruth's famous "No. 3," never to be worn by another Yankee player.

POVICH

No Yankee since the late Lou Gehrig has worn the "No. 4" shirt that adorned his broad back, and Ruth now gets a similar tribute. Mapes was the latest of a line of Yankee outfielders to succeed to Ruth's number, none of them with outstanding success.

George Selkirk was the first Yankee outfielder to inherit Ruth's No. 3, and he was the best of the later lot. He was never to be confused with Ruth, however, and the customers let him know it with their boos.

During the war years Outfielder Bud Metheny inherited No. 3, and later Ducky Medwick had it on for a spell. Charley Keller, smarter than the others, wouldn't wear it.

THE YANKEES are making a show of what they call their twenty-fifth anniversary on June 13. They date it from the first year the Yankees won a World Series. That happened in 1923, after the Giants had licked 'em in the series of 1921-22.

Silver Anniversary Day will bring back Yankee heroes of the last quarter century. Ruth will manage the returning stars of that 1923 team—among them Whitey Witt, Joe Dugan, Bob Meusel, Wally Pipp, Aaron Ward, Joe Bush, Bob Shawkey, Everett Scott, Waite Hoyt, Wally Schang, Sam Jones and George Pipgras. They'll play a team of later stars managed by Ed Barrow.

In that latest group will be Earl Combs, Bill Dickey, George Selkirk, Pat Collins, Sammy Byrd, Myril Hoag, Lefty Gomez, Ernie Bonham, Wiley Moore, Bump Hadley, Red Rolfe, Joe Sewell and Jake Powell.

On display for the admiring Yankee public will be the 13 American League pennants and the 11 World Series flags won by the teams that finished out of the first division only once in the last 25 years.

WHEN CLEVELAND'S second catcher, Joe Tipton, was hurt the other day and Manager Lou Boudreau met the emergency by going behind the bat for two innings, it was a reminder that Washington, like Cleveland, is operating with a two-man catching staff.

Manager Joe Kuhel admits the danger of that situation. He says, however, "Our second catcher will have to be pretty badly hurt before we take him out of a game." If it does happen, however, the Nats will introduce a new note to modern big league baseball—a left-handed catcher.

Outfielder Earl Wooten is the fellow who will inherit the catching job despite the fact he is left handed. The Washington club is carrying a left-hander's mitt in its equipment trunk just in case.

THIS IS a memorable baseball season in one sense. Bob Feller, who has been the best pitcher in the American League for 10 years, isn't the best pitcher on the Cleveland club this sason. That distinction belongs to Bob Lemon, who was listed as a third baseman a year ago.

In a year when Feller has been blowing leads and can show only five wins against five defeats, Lemon is breezing to a sensational record with seven won and two lost. Feller, who has just authored another book titled "How to Pitch," has chosen a poor year in which to peddle his by-line.

Lemon came to the Indians as an outfielder, but he couldn't hit enough to justify that job. He was shifted to third base, but he couldn't field enough to earn a job there. Pitching was his last port of call in the majors and for the Indians it was a lucky thought.

Last September the most talked-of youngster in the American League was a young righthander with the Detroit Tigers. He was going to be a 20-game winner, you heard. Only Bob Feller had a better fast ball, 'twas said. He had poise, a curve, control and everything. But something has been misfiring somewhere. Houtteman hasn't won a game yet, lost six.

Shutout On 4 Hits

Indians Trim Browns, 8-3, Then Drop Nightcap, 6-0

Cleveland, May 31 (AP).—Cliff Fannin shut out the Cleveland Indians with four hits today as the St. Louis Browns won the nightcap of a double-header, 6-0, after dropping the opener to the Tribesmen, 8 to 3, before 48,961.

Manager Lou Boudreau's grand slam homer in the sixth inning sparked the Indians to their triumph in the opener.

Rookie Southpaw Gene Bearden gave up six hits in notching his fourth victory against one loss.

The Browns blasted former Teammate Bob Muncrief from the mound with a three-run uprising in the third inning of the afterpiece. Les Moss had started the scoring in the second with a home run. St. Louis added two more tallies in the seventh.

Rose Wins Speedway in Record Time, 119.9 MPH

By Charles Dunkley
Associated Press Sports Writer

Indianapolis, May 31 (AP).—Mauri Rose, the grand little driver with the big black mustache, today streaked to his third triumph in a 500-mile automobile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the fastest time in history.

The exciting finish was almost identical with the 1947 race in which Rose, a South Bend, Ind., automotive engineer, and his teammate, Bill Holland, Reading, Pa., finished first and second. Holland trailed Rose today by barely a mile. Duke Nalon, Los Angeles, was third and Ted Horn, Paterson, N. J., fourth.

The Top Ten

Driver	Speed	Winnings
Mauri Rose	119.813	$28,000
Bill Holland	119.147	10,000
Duke Nalon	118.034	6,900
Ted Horn	117.844	12,000
Mack Hellings	112.808	3,400
Hal Cole	111.587	2,750
Lee Wallard	109.177	2,200
Tommy Hinnershitz	.....	1,950
Johnny Mauro	.....	1,850
Charles Van Acker	.....	1,750

As Rose steered his four-cylinder blue crown spark plug special across the finish line, the winner in 4 hours, 10 minutes, 23.38 seconds, or at the average of 119.813, he blotted out the previous record set 10 years ago. The late Floyd Roberts had established the record of 117.200 in his 1938 victory.

He's 3d 3-Time Winner

Rose, 42 years old, joined Wilbur Shaw, president of the speedway, and Louis Meyer of Los Angeles, builder of automotive racing engines, as the only ones ever before to win the Memorial Day classic three times.

Closest to Rose, winner of the $20,000 first prize and $8000 in lap prize money, came his teammate, Holland, who had combined with Rose to make a two-car race of it in the thrilling last 50 miles. Holland's average speed was 119.147.

In the 32d annual 500-mile race, it was established early, often and convincingly for more than 175,000 spectators, that the drivers could take it, but the cars could not. At the finish there were only seven of the cars that started on the track.

Mechanical failures dogged the drivers from the start when Harry McQuinn of Indianapolis was forced to surrender after driving only 2½ miles.

From that point on the engine and chassis trouble mounted until 26 had to be dragged back to the garages.

Rose drove the entire distance without relief, making only one stop of one minute and nine seconds to replenish his fuel and change of tires.

Rose never was farther back than fourth. He was in No. 4 position for the first 100 miles, then moved up to second at 200 and was ahead at 300. He jockeyed for first position with Horn between 300 and 350 miles, Horn going ahead on Rose's pit stop and Rose regaining the lead when Horn had to refuel.

For the most part the mishaps to the cars were mechanical. The only serious wreck was that of Duane Carter, a speedway freshman from Santa Monica, Calif. His Belanger Motors Special lost its left front wheel as he was speeding on his 96th mile. The car skidded into the infield at the southeast turn and broke an axle. He escaped without a scratch.

Mays started the record-breaking with the all-time fastest first lap—123.102 miles an hour. Records were shattered at practically every mile post after that and at the finish the first four cars all had traveled the 500 miles faster than any one had ever driven it before.

A HAPPY DAY FOR ROSE—Mauri Rose waves from the cockpit of his Blue Crown Special yesterday after winning the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway classic. Behind Rose is Movie Actress Barbara Britton, there to bestow a kiss on the winner. But Rose eluded her and kissed his bride-to-be, who was also waiting. He'll be married in June.

Rose Eludes Movie Starlet, Prefers His Fiancee's Kiss

By Merrill Swedlund

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP).—When Maurie Rose drove into the victory bull pen at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today to pick the winner's big Borg-Warner Trophy Cup, Screen Actress Barbara Britton waited with a smile and the kiss that traditionally goes to the winner of the 500-mile race.

She turned out to be temporarily unemployed.

Miss Ruth Wentworth of South Bend, Ind., was waiting in the winner's cage, announcing happily that she and Mauri will be married June 13. She got the winner's kiss—two of them—complete—with the grease that always smudges the faces of speedway drivers. She just smiled happily.

Miss Britton smiled gravely and tried to look useful.

"I'll shake hands with you," the swarthy little champion from South Bend told her, "and save the kiss for Miss Wentworth."

Last year, when Rose also won the 500-mile race, he was so busy getting bussed by Actress Carole Landis he had little time to talk to reporters. This year it was different. All Miss Britton got were grease spots on her smart white suit.

LITTLE MAURI, Jr., son by a previous marriage, was there, piggy-back on the shoulders of Speedway Manager Wilbur Shaw. He and his younger sister, Doris, got greasy kisses, too, and young Mauri tried out the seat his father had bounced in for more than four hours around the speedway track.

Some one offered Rose a bottle of beer, and he waved it away, asking for water.

The crowd jostled blue-eyed Miss Wentworth away from the winning Blue Crown Special race car and she rubbed off the grease smudge from her lips with an embarrassed giggle.

The prospective Mrs. Rose has been a gift shop employe in South Bend.

Rose broke a flock of speedway records in the race, including the total time. Wilbur Shaw, who had done pretty well himself in his driving days, said: "I'm tickled to death." Mauri had shared in the 1941 speedway victory as well as winning last year in the same Blue Crown Special he drove Tuesday. Winner's plaudits didn't compare with family joys today.

"Come on," he told his fiancee, "Let's go to the garage."

Macks Split With Bosox, Cling to First

Philadelphia, May 31 (AP).—The Philadelphia Athletics bounced out of the American League lead today and then quickly recaptured the top spot as Joe Coleman notched his sixth victory of the year, beating the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, in the second game of a holiday twin bill.

Joe Dodson blanked the A's with four hits in the opener, 7-0.

A crowd of 24,838 watched Red Sox Pitcher Mickey Harris balk the winning run across the plate in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Harris and Manager Joe McCarthy put up a vigorous verbal battle with Umpire Art Passarella, but the umpire's decision held and Hank Majeski strolled home with the payoff tally.

The A's had not gotten a man as far as second base until the sixth, but Harris suddenly lost his control. He walked Ferris Fain, yielded a single to Majeski, and then passed Sam Chapman and Mike Guerra, forcing home Fain with the tying run.

With the bases still crammed, Harris paused in mid-windup and stepped from the rubber while pitching to Don White. Passarella called the balk and the game was won.

WAITING FOR A FIGHT—The Jake LaMotta-Ken Stribling fight scheduled for last night was postponed until tonight because of "rain." Sports Announcer Steve Douglas (WRC-NBC) was among the early birds at Griffith Stadium. Completely oblivious to what few rain drops may have fallen, Steve rests in comfort and puffs on a stogie while waiting for the fight thoat didn't go on. He'll try his luck again this evening.

Until Tonight

Didn't Rain Pennies—So Fight's Off

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

GHOSTLY showers which augured a ghastly night at the turnstiles resulted in postponement of the Jake LaMotta-Ken Stribling fight last night.

If the Oregon floods don't reach Griffith Stadium and if it rains a few more pennies into the cash register, the scrap will be held tonight.

Matchmaker Gabe Menendez reached his decision at 7:02 p. m. (EDT), 1 hour and 43 minutes before the show was to go on. At that very moment, he was hit by a drop of rain and an idea and the one-day postponement was the result.

That makes Menendez even with rival Promoter Goldie Ahearn who had the first opportunity to postpone a show. Ahearn called off his May 17 Beau Jack-Tony Janiro bout for a week because of a bare financial cupboard and held it the following week when the weather was worse, but the receipts better.

Menendez must hold his card tonight or wait until June 14, when the ball park is available again.

THE TURNER'S Arena matchmaker was asked by the Boxing Commission at 2 p. m. yesterday if he wished to postpone his first outdoor show of the season for a day, but he declined with thanks. The weather looked threatening then, much more so than at the actual time when the bout was called off.

After a strong start, the advance sale for the fight petered out to practically nothing. Many persons, however, were waiting until the last minute because of the inclement weather over the weekend. There were several hundred at the park purchasing tickets when the loudspeakers blared forth the announcement that the fight was off.

One of those caught by surprise was Police Inspector Clarence Talley, a member of the Boxing Commission. Talley and his party reached the park at 8:20 and the Commissioner was more than somewhat put out when he learned that there was to be no fight.

LaMotta scaled 164 at the weigh-in yesterday, three pounds more than his Washington opponent. The Bronx Bull was also a 4-1 favorite and even money to win by a kayo.

Interhigh Game Delayed a Day

The Eastern-Anacostia Interhigh semifinal baseball game, scheduled for this afternoon at Griffith Stadium, has been shifted to Wednesday afternoon.

The shift became necessary when last night's fight was postponed until tonight. Griffith Stadium attendants decided to let the ring setup remain intact when high school officials agreed to postpone their game until Wedensday at 3:00 p. m.

Shea Pitches Two-Hitter; Brown Makes 7 Hits in Row

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

Yankee Stadium, New York, May 31.—This was a Memorial Day that produced un-fond memories for the Nats who were wreathed with a double defeat by the Yankees before a very un-solemn delegation of 62,626 Yankee fans.

Frank Shea attended to the obsequies of the Washington athletes in the first game with a two-hit shutout and a 10-0 victory. The Nats regained some self-respect in the second game but the best they could achieve was a 5-to-4 defeat.

That opening game was high carnival for the Yankees, who rapped, thumped and cow-tailed Sid Hudson, Milo Candini and Ramon Garcia for 16 hits, including two-run homers by Tommy Henrich and George McQuinn.

The Washington pitchers had a horrible time of it all afternoon trying to get Second Baseman Bobby Brown of the Yankees out. He cracked out three hits in a row in the opening game and then banged four straight hits in the second engagement.

Shea was separated from a no-hitter in that opening game only by Al Evans' second-inning single, and a single by Eddie Yost in the sixth. Except for those two isolated instances, the Nats went completely hitless.

Relief Pitchers Forrest Thompson and Tom Ferrick made a brave attempt to keep the Nats in the second game by shutting the Yankees out after they had mauled Chic Piretti for all of their five runs in the first two innings.

The Yanks called on Joe Page to protect their dwindling lead in the late innings after the Nats batted Red Embree out, and he held 'em to one hit through the seventh, eighth and ninth. At that, they had the tying run on second in the eighth.

Pieretti botched his first starting job of the season quickly. He was greeted with a single by Brown at the outset and then got progressively generous. He pitched a double to Henrich and a long left field triple to DiMaggio and with Berra's deep fly it added up to a 3-0 lead for the Yanks.

They upped it to 5-1 in the second inning with one swat—Brown's home run into the right field seats. It scored McQuinn, who had drawn a walk.

Kozar Takes Third Strike

Jake Early singled, but Sullivan fanned. A walk to Pinch-Hitter Tom McBride filled the bases and Eddie Yost banged a two-bagger to center for two runs. Page moved in at that point and curved a third strike past Kozar.

The Nats' fourth run was a gift. Wooten walked in the eighth, and after two were out McBride doubled over third base. Wooten stopped at third but then raced home when Johnson relayed the ball wildly to second base. Yost left the tying run on second with a pop to Brown.

That first game was an awful

Braves Break Even in Pair With Phillies

Boston, May 31 (AP).—Boston's Braves today snapped a four-game losing streak by whipping the Philadelphia Phillies, 10-4, in the second game of a doubleheader. The Phils won the opener 6-3, ending a three-game losing streak of their own.

The Braves opened the afterpiece with a three-run blast which drove out schoolboy Rowe who was making his first start since suffering a broken hand on May 6.

It was the fourth victory for Lefty Warren Spahn and achieved before a paid turnout of 17,400, a surprising gathering as rain lasted almost until the start of the first game.

Cincinnati Pours It On, 4-3 and 7-0

Cincinnati, May 31 (AP).—Nippy Jones' eighth-inning single spoiled Kenny Raffensberger's try for a no-hitter today as the Cincinnati Redlegs copped both ends of a doubleheader from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, and 7-0 before a Memorial Day crowd of 24,009.

Hank Sauer's 13th homer broke a tie and won the first game. A three-run circuit clout by Augie Galan and a two-run homer by Ted Kluszewski provided most of the second-game scores.

The victories raised the Reds to sixth place and toppled the Cards from the league lead.

The shutout was the first of the 1948 season for the Reds and the victories were their fourth and fifth in succession.

Howard Fox won his second victory against two losses as he scattered five hits in the first game.

Sauer's homer, the 31st of the season for the Reds, landed on top of a one-and-one-half-story building across the street from the Crosley Field leftfield fence.

Red Knight Wins Jump Title At Iron Bridge Horse Show

By Harry De Mawby, Jr.

A new open jumping contender came into the spotlight at the annual Iron Bridge Horse Show held yesterday at Burtonsville, Md., as Avon Shockey's chestnut gelding Red Knight won three of the four open jumper classes to gain the unchallenged supremacy in the open jumper division.

Red Knight, sired by the well mannered Blond Knight, proved his value in the open division by winning the Knockdown & Out event's final jump-off over five-foot obstacles. Given an outstanding ride by Lee Stanley Jones, Red Knight also accounted for the blues in the Open Jumping and Go-As-You-Please classes.

mess for the Nats. Sid Hudson lasted only 3 2/3 innings. By that time the Yanks had a 5-0 lead. Henrich whaled a massive homer into the third deck of right field with a man on in the third, and in the fourth a walk and consecutive singles by Henrich, Keller and DiMaggio accounted for two more runs.

McQuinn got into the homerun act in the fifth with his homer that followed a walk to Johnson. Candini was the victim of that blow. Cuban Ramon Garcia yielded the Yanks' last two runs when a lot of fellows made a lot of hits in the eighth.

IN SHORT. Before today's games, Manager Bucky Harris made a heated denial of a Broadway columnist's assertion of: "Terrible brawls between two of the Yankee team in the dressing room. Had to pulled apart twice." Joe Dimaggio thought he must have seen Al Gionfrido's ghost in the first game. Gil Coan took a triple away from him with a running catch in the same spot where Dimag lost his world series homer to Gionfrido last October. . . . Russ Hodges and Mel Allen, the Yankees' broadcasting team, have been engaged to do the blow-by-blow of the Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale middleweight title fight June 9. . . . The Yankees have hit more homers on the road this year (24) than they have in Yankee Stadium (18) which was built for homers. . . . Walter Masterson, who blames his recent wildness on the sharply raised pitching mound at Griffith Stadium, will work off a gently sloping mound tomorrow night at Yankee Stadium. . . . Allie Reynolds, twice winner over the Nats, will pitch for the Yanks.

Tigers, Chisox End Up Even, 5-4 and 3-9

Detroit, May 31 (AP).—Belting four pitchers for 15 hits, the Chicago White Sox came back to beat the Detroit Tigers 9 to 3 before 55,875 fans in the second half of a double-header today after Detroit had won the opener 5 to 4.

Ike Pearson, 35-year-old former National Leaguer the Sox picked up this spring as a free agent, hurled two-hit shutout ball for five innings in the nightcap and took credit for the victory though he gave way to Lefty Bill Wight in the sixth.

Chicago piled up a 9-0 lead to breeze to its ninth victory in 35 games this season. Biggest blow of the nightcap was Don Kolloway's three-run homer in the fifth.

The Tigers ran up a 4-0 margin off Orval Grove in the first two frames of the first game and staved off a game Chicago comeback to squeeze out the decision.

Detroit's biggest crowd of the year saw the season's first twin bill here. Tiger Third Baseman George Kell returned to action for the first time since his wrist was fractured three weeks ago.

These Little Girls Didn't Forget Walter Johnson

Washington's most famous baseball player was not forgotten yesterday. As the Nation observed Memorial Day, three little girls pedaled their bicycles into Rockville Union Cemetery with their arms laden with red and yellow roses.

Stopping at the grave of Walter Johnson, the three youngsters carefully placed the flowers on the Big Train's final resting place.

Then, after a short, silent prayer, the girls, who appeared to be about 10, 12 and 14 years old, mounted their bicycles and rode away.

Suggs Leads Yank Advance

St. Anne's-on-the-Sea, England, May 31 (AP).—Six of the ten American starters gained the third round of the British women's amateur golf championship today in a bid to duplicate the triumph of American Frank Stranahan in the men's tournament last week at Sandwich.

Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., United States women's champion, set the pace with a one-under-par 34 on her outgoing nine this afternoon.

FIRST ROUND

Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare (Philadelphia) defeated Mrs. Noel Sabine (England), 5 and 4. Ann Cosgrove (Pinehurst, N. C.) won from Rosemary Heslet (Ireland) by default. Dorothy Kirby (Atlanta) won from Anne Blunn (St. Annes-on-the-Sea) by default. Polly Riley (Fort Worth) defeated Mrs. Val Redden (Ireland), 2 up. Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Jr. (Chapel Hill, N. Miss Suggs vs. Jean McIntyre, 4:20 a. m. (EST).
Miss Kielty vs. Nellie Howarth, 4:30 a. m. (EST).
Fourth-round matches begin at 7:45 a. m. (EST).

Cubs Win, 4-3, Then Lose, 4-2, To Pittsburgh

Chicago, May 31 (AP).—The Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader today, the Cubs edging the Bucs 4 to 3 in the first game, and the Pirates winning the second 4 to 2 before 46,965 fans.

The paid attendance of 46,965 was the highest in the history of the Chicago club. The previous high of 46,572 was set a year ago when Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson made his Windy City debut.

Eddie Waitkus and Andy Pafko paired singles in the ninth inning of the first game to give the Cubs the victory. Bob Rush, Cubs rookie righthander, registered his first big league win.

Elmer Riddle's seven-hit pitching paved the way for Pittsburgh's second game victory. It was Riddle's fifth win of the season and the third against the Cubs.

Miller Drives In Midget Race

Former National Champion Charlie Miller, one of the most versatile and poular of the little-car drivers, brings his roaring red new Offenhauser back into the competition on the West Lanham Speedway's weekly midget automobile racing card Friday night.

Miller will join Tony Bonadies, Mike Joseph and George Fonder in a field that is to include at least eight Offys.

X-Ray Today for Robinson's Knee

Brooklyn, May 31 (AP).—Jackie Robinson's right knee, which has been slow in healing since it was injured in Cincinnati on May 13, will be X-rayed tomorrow to determine whether there is a break.

The Brooklyn infielder collided at first base with Benny Zientara, who was covering the bag on a bunt play. Robinson has been in and out of the lineup ever since.

Bums, N. Y. Split; Mize Socks Two

Brooklyn, May 31 (AP).—Johnny Mize walloped two homeruns and Sid Gordon one to lead the New York Giants into first place in the National League with a 10-1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the afternoon half of a Memorial Day doubleheader.

A morning turnout of 22,753 saw Ralph Branca help win his own game with a run-scoring single which gave the Dodgers a 4-3 win.

The split in the twin bill enabled the Giants to take over undisputed possession of first place in the National League, a half game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who were beaten in both ends of a doubleheader by the Cincinnati Reds.

Jim Gardner, Rippey Win Exhibition

By Roger Wolbarst
Post Reporter

An 8-foot putt by Jim Gardner on the seventeenth green enabled him and partner Claude Rippey to defeat Bobby Brownell and Ralph Bogart, 1 up, in an exhibition match before a large crowd yesterday at Washington Golf and Country Club.

Despite the slow course and threatening weather, several hundred spectators watched the close match.

Runners-up for the Maryland State Fourball Championship to Bogart and Jerry Hart, Gardner and Rippey got partial revenge yesterday. All even going into the seventeenth hole, Gardner's beautiful second shot stopped 8 feet from the pin and the burly Washington star dropped his putt for a birdie to win the hole.

The two teams halved the eighteenth with fours and Brownell and Bogart, the youthful Chevy Chase stars, found themselves on the short end of the score—a rare occasion for them.

All four men shot 72s but Gardner, who only last week won the Indian Spring Invitation tournament, made the difference with that seventeenth hole birdie.

AT INDIAN SPRING, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bower won the Memorial Day Mixed Scotch foursome tournament yesterday with a 39-35—74. With half of their combined handicap subtracted, they finished with 63, three strokes better than Mrs. Frank Butler and M. L. Long, who scored 93-27—66. Mrs. Mel Rose and Alan Weisberg were third with 89-22—67. Low gros sprize went to Mrs. John Long and George Thornton, who had 38, 40-79...Indian Spring also held held a Flag Tournament for women, with Mrs. George Thornton winning by finishing on the lip of the cup on the eighteenth hole. Mrs. W. F. Patterson was second, 50 yards from the eighteenth, and Mrs. Louis Watzman was third 100 yards from home.

WILLIS HURD, JR., shot 154—16—138 to win Manor's Class A Sweepstakes yesterday. Class B was won by Charles Hurd, 164—20—144; Class C went to George E. Martin, 161—28—133 and S. C. Sutton captured the Class D title with a score of 182—40—142 . . . Manor's men's flag tournament was won by E. M. Milans, who finished on the twentieth fairway. G. Y. McCully followed in the cup on No. 19, while M. R. Tinsley was third on the nineteenth green. The women's flag tournament went to Mrs. R. E. Zuber and Mrs. H. E. Davies, both 8 feet from the pin on No. 16. Merrill Whittlesey won the men's driving contest with a 230-yard effort, while Mrs. H. L. Lacey's 160-yard drive took the women's division crown. Mrs. M. D. Guthrie captured the Little Nine Flag tourney, finishing on the ninth fairway. Pitch and putt contests were won by Ted Burrows and Mrs. Ted Burrows.

KENWOOD'S 36-hole two-man team tournament was won by C. P. Redick and his son Bob Redick. The family two-some scored 140, 143—283 to edge Nick Hollander and Ted Rutley, who had 142, 143—285. Tied for third were G. M. Cahill-A. C. Doyle, 140, 146—286 and J. G. Martenson-Ed Fox, 144, 142—286. . . . Comdr. William A. Sullivan finished 150 yards from the pin on the nineteenth hole to win Bethesda Country Club's Flag Tournament. Second was H. D. Hoyle, 200 yards from the nineteenth pin; followed by Phil Donaldson, in the eighteenth cup and Danny Pontone, 3 inches from the pin on the eighteenth.

WOODMONT held a Flag Tournament which went to Dave Wortman, whose fine 72 enabled him to finish in the cup on the eighteenth hole. Mel Kraft was second, 26 inches from the cup and Pat Berger, Dr. Jack Alexander and Buddy Brylawski trailed in that order . . . Lee Katz took the hole-in-one contest, with a shot 14 feet from the pin. Second was L. E. Harris, 17 feet from the cup and Jon England was deadlocked for third place with Mel Kraft—18 feet away. Woodmont's driving contest was won by Alvin Dulcana, with a 250-yard belt. L. E. Harris hit one 240 yards and Bob Cramer was 235 yards down the fairway . . .

MRS. G. M. STREET and B. L. Eberts scored 86—17—69 to win the low net prize in Congressional's Mixed Scotch Foursome tournament. Low gross was won by the Mrs. H. M. Chapman-J. L. Geddes team with 40, 43—83 . . . Anacostia's two-man team match was postponed due to the rain; Prince Georges called off its scheduled four-man team championship until next Sunday and rain also caused cancellation of Army-Navy's flag tournament . . .

PHILIP N. ISRAEL captured the playoff for the Victor Kauffman Memorial Day Cup at Chevy Chase by defeating Merrill Thorpe, jr., and J. L. Newbold, jr., after the three had tied for the trophy Sunday. Israel was 1 down to par after the 18-hole playoff round, with Thorpe and Newbold each three down . . . Argyle's flag tournament was taken by M. J. Sheppard, 10 feet from the pin on No. 20. He was followed by R. H. Mothershead, in the 19th cup and C. L. Turner, 15 feet from the 19th hole . . .

PAUL LIPPS, finishing one half foot from the hole on No. 18, won Belle Haven's Flag Tournament yesterday. Col. Ben Schrieber, whose 69 earlier broke the Belle Haven course record, was second 150 yards from the pin. Most disappointed member of the club was Jimmy Thompson, whose 77—7—70 round would have won the tournament, but he failed to enter bectuse of his mediocre play earlier in the week . . .

GEORGE W. HUGUELY 3d, who is only 16, shot a hole in one yesterday at Annapolis Roads Club. George used a four iron to drop his tee shot on the 165-yard eighth hole. The ace was witnessed by playing partners, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brown and Horace Walker . . . Lieut. Col. and Mrs. L. J. Fields had a 47—18—29 to win Quantico's Mixed Scotch Foursome Tournament. Maj. and Mrs. R. L. Conrad came in second with 40—9—31. In a match play against par tournament, Capt. J. A. Young triumphed with an 88—11 to finish three up to par. Capt. F. Stampfli was runner up, shooting 83—10 to come in even up on par.

Crowd Bets $460,514 For Record

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Charles Town, W. Va., May 31.—Racing customers and sightseers—an estimated 13,000 of them—crowded every inch of the grandstand and clubhouse of this sporty 6-furlong track today.

There were more than 10,000 paid admissions and more than 9000 programs were sold.

More than 1000 others watched the doings from the hill at the first turn and around the stretch fence.

Those who could get close enough to bet, set a track record by wagering $64,827 on the Decoration Day purse featuring the holiday program, and made Allen M. Hirsh's La Vega the favorite in the field of seven. Under Jockey Sammy Palumbo's handling, this odds-on choice finished fourth.

Crowd Sets Bet Record

Charles Town, W. Va., May 31. A crowd of 13,000 wagered $460,514 today to set a record for this track which opened in 1933. The previous mark was $402,453 bet on the December 14, 1946, program.

Hezekiah the Winner

W. Schimansky's Hezekiah, a winner of his most recent race, got home in front again today, winning by 5 lengths while under the guidance of Jockey Peewee Hummer. Two lengths back came Mrs. E. Muller's Don Scotch to be second and another 2 lengths in advance of the Shangrila Stable's Rugged.

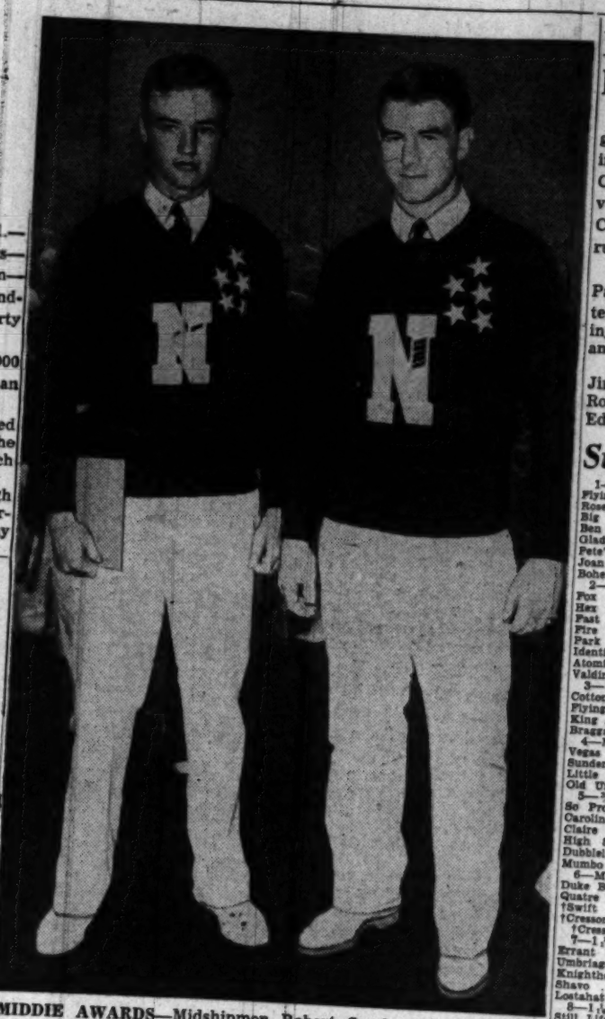
Hezeliah, a 5-year-old, paid $16.80 and was clocked in 1:32 1/5 for the about 7 furlongs over a track that was heavy and holding as a result of downpours here yesterday and last night. Overhead, however, the weather was clear.

Palumbo took La Vega away on top but was soon being given a tussle by Hezekiah. On the backstretch, the long shot shook off the favorite and from that point to the wire he simply had no catchers.

Don Scotch Fails

Don Scotch came wide to get to contention but could not seriously menace the leader. Rugged rallied mildly but too late to do more than force La Vega out of the money.

Apprentice Charlie Richmond brought L. A. Hancock's Concluded home in the fourth race. Concluded was the horse who ran out entering the stretch last week and paved the way for the $1600 daily double. The 7-year-old shied at the gate entering the stretch that day. Today, he shied again, but Richmond was ready and roused him to take the mile and one-eighth test at a $22.20 mutuel.



MIDDIE AWARDS—Midshipmen Robert Searle, Monterey, Calif. (left), and Newbold Smith, Ardmore, Pa., reecive "N" star at presentation of athletic and extra-curricular awards at the Naval Academy. The last time such a presentation was made in 1935 to Frederick Borries, now a commander on active duty. Searle starred in basketball, baseball and other sports, and Smith in football, wrestling and track. Both won numerous nonsports honors also.

Robert Le Bruce Team Leads in De Molay Loop

The Robert Le Bruce chapter, undefeated, took first place in the DeMolay League yesterday by defeating Silver Spring, 2-1, on the Meadowbrook field. Jack Sanger was the winning pitcher, allowing one hit and fanning 16.

Blimline Heads Trot Mutuel Windows

Joe Blimline of Baltimore has been named mutuel manager for the new Laurel Raceway trotting track opening June 21. Applications for jobs in the betting department of the new oval are being received by Blimline in care of the racing plant.

Devers' Double Beats Cameo, 4-3

Pitcher Ken Devers won his own game with a run-scoring double in the ninth inning yesterday as Cameo Furniture defeated Rockville, 4 to 3. Devers' hit scored Charley Aquilino with the winning run.

The game was a benefit for Boots Panella, who pitched for both teams last season. Panella recently injured his knee and underwent an operation.

Four home runs were hit—by Jim Belt and Larry Snyder of Rockville and Mayo Pittman and Eddie Lloyd of Cameo.

Harmonica Beats Stymie In Suburban

By Fred Hayden
Associated Press Sports Writer

Belmont Park, N. Y., May 31.—Before 63,499 fans—a record for Belmont and the second largest crowd ever to visit a New York track—a feathery-footed filly named Harmonica beat Stymie in the sixty-second Suburban Handicap today.

Rank outsider in the six-horse field traveling a mile and a quarter of the $50,000 added classic, Harmonica carried Arnold Hanger's silks to an easy two-length decision over Mrs. E. D. Jacobs' world money-winning champ.

Fred W. Hooper's Colosal, beaten less than a length by Stymie in the recent Metropolitan Handicap, trailed the one-time $1500 plater by three lengths in running third this time. Faultless, Miss Grillo and Donor completed the field as named.

Harmonica Pays $28.80

Harmonica, which just a year ago scored her greatest triumph here in the Coaching Club American Oaks and last winter set a mile and a furlong track record at Gulfstream Park in Florida, paid $28.80.

The 4-year-old filly made the excellent time of 2:03 in the going and earned $39,700. She carried 109 pounds, including Jockey Warren Mehrtens, compared to Stymie's topweight of 128.

Stymie, a 9-to-10 favorite, added $10,000 to his account to make his all-time earnings $850,635. It was the fourth straight time he failed in the Suburban. He ran fourth last year, third in '46 and second in '45.

Jamaica Holds Record

Memorial Day is known for setting New York attendance records. Belmont's biggest previous throng was on the same holiday in 1946, when 60,905 were present. The New York mark is 64,670, established when Memorial Day went to the Jamaica track in 1945.

Today's figure will be larger when the final returns are in, as at least several hundred always are added when the official check-up becomes available the following day. Even a constant threat of rain failed to keep the hordes away this gray afternoon.

Georgia Delegates To Fight Civil Rights

Atlanta, Ga., May 31 (U.P.).—An anticivil rights delegation will represent Georgia at the Democratic National Convention, but the group definitely will not bolt the party even if the racial program is "forced upon us."

State Chairman James S. Peters made this clear today as the Georgia executive committee meeting here named convention delegates and alternates and chose State Representative Robert Elliot of Columbus, Ga., as the national committeeman from Georgia.

Elliott, an attorney, was House floor leader for Herman Talmadge's forces during the 1947 legislative fight over Georgia's governorship.

Selection Is Informal

His selection was made informally by party leaders and is scheduled for routine ratification by the delegation.

Peters, one of Talmadge's chief lieutenants, said the delegation will keep the civil rights fight within the party.

"If we are defeated in our civil rights fight, we are going back to Georgia as good Democrats," he said, "and then leave the question to the Democrats of Georgia to decide."

Peters said his withdrawal from a recent States' rights conference in Jackson, Miss., was a refusal "to compromise on Georgia democracy and sell it down the creek."

The Georgia chairman attended the conference but refused to participate following committee approval of a resolution authorizing a bolt from the Democratic Party.

"We didn't walk out of that meeting," he commented, "because we never walked in."

To Replace Rivers

Elliott will replace former Gov. E. D. Rivers as national committeeman from Georgia. Rivers and former Gov. Ellis Arnall recently ended a three-year political feud to merge the anti-Talmadge forces in this State.

Speculation has arisen that Arnall and Rivers may attempt to have a rival delegation seated at the July 12 national convention in Philadelphia. They would base their claim to the seats on party loyalty and accuse Talmadge supporters of disloyalty.

Both Arnall and Rivers say the speculation offers "interesting possibilities," but have refused to amplify this remark.

State Senator Iris Blitch of Homerville was picked by party leaders to succeed Mrs. Virginia Polhill Price, a Louisville, Ga., newspaper woman, as national committeewoman.

Philadelphia Convention Rents Hiked

Philadelphia, May 31 (AP).—The overwhelming demand for housing accommodations for the Republican National Convention the week of June 21 has skyrocketed prices to a point where a house has been rented for $1000.

An apartment taking up a whole floor went for the same price. Some apartments in buildings are bringing $200 for the week of the convention.

But Frank C. P. McGlinn, chairman of the city housing committee, said today that these are exceptions.

"Small apartments for delegates or others usually can be rented for $100 for the week," he said. "As far as renting a house, or a large apartment with servants, the prices haven't been too bad. A thousand dollars for a nice house that will accommodate a dozen people for a week is not too bad."

Convention managers say the demand for rooms is the heaviest in their experience. The Republican housing committee has had to scout nearby cities for space and is now offering late comers rooms in Atlantic City, Trenton and Camden, N. J., and Wilmington, Del., in addition to suburbs.

Silver Spring Beats Colesville in 3-2 Fray

Silver Spring of the Montgomery County Park League defeated its arch rival, Colesville of the Montgomery County League, 3 to 2, yesterday. The two teams are in first place in their respective leagues.

Dave Butner doubled home two of Silver Spring's runs in the fourth inning and scored the third run himself. Butner made three hits in four times at bat.

Race Driver Killed

Lockport, N. Y., May 31 (AP).—Lelan Ray Morrison, 40, of Rochester was killed today when his car overturned in a Memorial Day race on the Niagara County fairgrounds track.

Miss. State Champions

Opelika, Ala., May 31 (AP).—Mississippi State won the Southeastern Conference baseball championship today, defeating Auburn 6 to 5 for a clean sweep of the title series.

Late 'May Day' Feted

Forty children, 6 to 15 years of age, at Episcopal Home for Children, 5901 Utah ave. nw., observed "May Day" yesterday with songs, square dancing, treasure hunts and races.

The celebration, held on the last rather than the first day of the month, also included a picnic dinner and a play presented by the children.

In Maryland

Democrats Talk Truman And Tydings

Baltimore, May 31 (AP).—Talk that Maryland Democrats may send a Truman-Tydings delegation to Philadelphia was heard in several high quarters tonight as leaders gathered to make last plans for a State convention opening Tuesday.

There was no open comment from State leaders, but there was significance in the preconvention reports that Maryland might be the Southern State to send out delegates pledged to the renomination of President Truman.

The general belief after the May 3 primary was that the delegation would go uninstructed and some party leaders are known to feel that way still.

Gov. William Preston Lane, jr., who is Democratic national committeeman, was reported by sources close to him to favor the instructed delegation. Maryland has 20 votes in the national convention.

Lane is chairman of the Conference of Southern Governors but he has maintained a neutral position with respect to the hubbub which arose in some States after the President made his civil rights recommendations.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore recently proclaimed himself in favor of a Truman-Tydings delegation.

Senator Millard F. Tydings, although silent on pre-convention plans, for weeks has occupied a favorite-son place in the minds of many delegates who will be here tomorrow. His name has been mentioned in Washington as a vice presidential possibility.

Only One Set Of Canvassers For Primary

A single set of canvassers will compile the returns of both Democratic and Rephblican primaries in Virginia's Eighth District this fall, Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond ruled yesterday.

The ruling was issued in response to a query from Hugh B. Marsh, jr., Fairfax County Commonwealth's attorney, who asked if it would be necessary to appoint two sets of canvassers since District Republicans, as well as Democrats, are nominating by primary this year.

Heretofore, Republican congressional candidates from the District have been chosen by convention.

The attorney general said the canvassers are to be chosen from among the election judges. Three judges are designated from each party participating in the primary.

In another opinion made public yesterday, Almond ruled that Virginia counties cannot spend money on secondary road construction. An act of 1932 turned the secondary road system over to the State. The ruling was issued at the request of Delegate John H. Daniel of Charlotte Courthouse.

Frank Parker Wins in Belgium

Brussels, Belgium, May 31 (U.P.).—Frankie Parker moved into the third round of the Belgian international tennis championships today with a 6—1, 6—2, 6—2, victory over Andre Lacroix of Belgium.

In the women's bracket, Mrs. Mary Arnold Prentiss of Los Angeles downed Miss N. De Ridder of Belgium, 6—0, 6—0, in a first round match, while Patricia Todd of Lajolla, Calif., downed E. Scholten, 6—2, 6—1, and Miriam De Borman, the Belgian champion, defeated Argyll Rice of New York, 4—6, 6—3, 10—8, in second round matches.

Southern Cal Wins Coast Baseball Title

Pullman, Wash., May 31 (AP).—University of Southern California today won the Pacific Coast Conference baseball championship defeating Washington State College, 6 to 3.

The Trojans defeated Washington State, 7-5, Friday in the first game of the two-out-of-three-game playoff series.

Arlington Driver Wins

Dover, N. J., May 31 (AP).—Carl Anderson of Arlington, Va., won the feature 25-lap roadster race over the half-mile Dover speedway track today. He beat Ronnie Cash of Alexandra, Va., by one lap.

Taft Wants A Specific GOP Platform

By The Associated Press

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) came out yesterday for a detailed Republican platform that will make the Democrats "get specific" in their presidential campaign pledges.

Taft told a reporter there has been the usual talk among Republicans of adopting a short, readable platform outlining the general principles on which the party will stand in the November election.

"But I don't think we can afford just to generalize," he said. "We have a record in Congress that must be spelled out in some detail.

"Besides, I want to put the Democrats in a position where they will have to get specific about where they stand on such issues as civil rights. If we dealt only in generalities, it would be an invitation to them to gloss over issues like that."

Early Parleys Suggested

Taft said there has been some discussion among Republican leaders of calling the party's resolutions committee into preconvention session here for early work on the platform.

The idea is to give 31 members of Congress who have been elected as delegates a chance to sit in, either as members or observers, on the writing of a platform that most of them think will have to be based largely on Congress' record.

The choice of a platform committee chairman apparently is still up in the air, with Senator Eugene Millikin of Colorado and Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana being mentioned. Halleck won't be named officially as an Indiana delegate until June 11.

Senator Millikin said last night he has asked to be counted out when it comes to choosing the chairman.

Millikin Too Busy

Millikin told reporters he has too much legislative business ahead of him as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee to give any time in advance of the convention to proposed platform meetings.

The committee, made up of two members from each State delegation, elects its own chairman when it is organized formally. But usually a recommendation from the GOP National Committee chairman carries weight.

Several of the 19 Senators who have been elected convention delegates are expected to become platform members.

They include Senators Baldwin of Connecticut, a presidential favorite son candidate; Knowland of California, a supporter of Gov. Earl Warren; Ives of New York, a backer of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey; Moore of Oklahoma, who is supporting Taft, and McCarthy of Wisconsin, a backer of Harold E. Stassen.

South Dakota Votes Today

Representative Herter of Massachusetts, who helped develop Republican policy on the European Recovery Program, is expected to be his State's representative.

Convention delegate choosing enters its final stages for the Republicans this week, with South Dakota picking 11 today. That State's Democrats will choose eight delegates the same day.

Alabama rounds out its 26-vote delegation by naming 11 Tuesday in a run-off primary. Fifteen were chosen previously.

CIO Charges Smoke Screen To Hide Profits

By the United Press

The CIO accused big business yesterday of covering up huge profits with "smoke-screen" propaganda as an excuse for advocating lower wages.

In its monthly "Economic Outlook," the CIO said that corporations recently have begun to "admit to huge profits, but say that much of these profits is not 'real.'"

The CIO attacked these claims. For instance, it said that profits obtained through increases in the value of a firm's supplies are "as real as any other profits and are so regarded by the Bureau of Internal Revenue."

The publication said that corporations are now claiming that their profits must be high enough to provide money to expand their supplies and their factories, though funds for such purposes "have traditionally been obtained" from floating stock and bond issues.

"There are more savings available for investment purposes today than ever before in all history," the CIO said in reply to this. ". . . Far from having a shortage of capital, we are literally swimming in it."

It said corporations are urging lower taxes and higher profits to encourage "additional incentives" by investors, but asserted that "the real reason people with money are not flocking to the stock market is because they are afraid of another depression."

"What the corporations' proposal amounts to, then, is that workers should accept a lower wage and a lower standard of living because people with capital don't have enough faith in these corporations' future to invest in stocks."

Despite the charge that corporations are seeking to lower wages, the CIO Auto Workers Union has just won wage increases ranging from 11 to 13 cents an hour from General Motors and Chrysler Corps.

However, the CIO Steelworkers Union, headed by CIO President Philip Murray, was turned down on wage increases by the United States Steel Corp., with which it has a guaranteed no-strike contract. The company said it preferred to lower its prices. Other steel companies have followed suit.

Murray will get another chance to win a substantial raise for a large segment of his steel union Wednesday when he opens negotiations in Pittsburgh with the Aluminum Co. of America.

PRESS CLUB'S "MASTER MIND"—Dr. Wejoe Bondero checks hats without checks. He uses his crystal ball, but mostly his mind

Press Club Hat-Check Wizard Backs Crystal Ball With Eye

"I just look at you, suh" is a phrase familiar to all National Press Club regulars.

It comes from 73-year-old Dr. Wejoe Bondero, the miracle man of the hat-check room. Since his 12-year stay with the Press Club, check numbers have been "exonerated" and replaced by his powerful "masterminding."

"Doc," whose real name is Clifton Watson, concentrates on customers' faces with a gold-toothed grin. Their coats and hats are as safe as if they were checked by more conventional methods.

The 20-by-10-foot hat-check room in the club figuratively holds 168 hats and coats. "Doc" packs them in with sometimes three wraps on a hanger. His memory wizardry extends to remembering whether a coat is on the bottom, middle or the top.

It is when large parties cause an overflow of waiting hats and coats that "Doc" begins to perform with added flourishes. Then he hauls out his 2-inch crystal ball and breezes through a thousand "checked" articles with ease.

"Doc" began his masterminding when a Navy messman. His extra time he spent checking coats at officers' parties without checks. His 32-year stretch in the Navy carried him to all corners of the earth. He got the name of Dr. Wejoe in India where properly awed Hindus called him "maker of magic."

His crystal ball he picked up in Damascus. He claims it would not be much good without his potent memory. The "reading" he does with it is mostly for curious women. They are often skeptical about trusting their minks and moutons to "Doc's" memory, and may come out several times a night to be sure he hasn't forgotten the coat that goes with their face. The man of magic would rather "read" 1000 men than 500 ladies.

"Doc," who now lives at 1617 13th st. nw., also owns a home at 1409 Belmont st. nw. He was born in Gordonsville, Va., a sleepy suburb of Charlottesville. His father and mother both died when the five children were quite young. His mother was a "seer," able to predict crop failures and weather cycles.

Radio Club, Relay League Will Convene

The Washington Radio Club and the Amateur Radio Relay League, Atlantic Division, will hold a convention this weekend, beginning with registration at 9:30 a. m. on Saturday at the Hotel Statler.

The all-day meeting Saturday will include operational activities and technical sessions.

On Sunday the amateur radio groups will continue their program with a transmitter hunt, and visits to stations of local "hams," the Red Cross emergency station, Naval Reserve station at the Naval Gun Factory and the WTTG television station.

Two other meetings of scientific and technical societies will be held Saturday. They are:

National Capital Astronomers, 8 p. m. at the National Museum. Dr. Homer E. Newell, chief of the rocket-sonde research section, National Research Laboratory, will speak on "From the Ground Up."

Botanical Society of Washington, annual picnic with botanical and bird trips, 2 to 8 p. m. at the home of Dr. Paul Bartsch, Gunston Hall rd., near Pohick Church, in Pohick, Va. Dr. Bartsch will conduct the trips.

University Seeks Fund for Professors

Charlottesville, Va., May 31 (Spl.).—The rising cost of living has forced the University of Virginia to embark on a five-million-dollar fund-raising project for the benefit of underpaid professors.

With living costs up 56 per cent over 1940, the faculty member's buying power today is "less—often sharply less—than at any time in the last 20 years," the university declared.

Raising the amount over a 20-year period will enable the institution to retain present scholars and teachers, fill vacancies with equally qualified men, give adequate recognition to distinguished educators on the faculty, seek and obtain special top-flight men on occasion and attract young men beginning their careers.

Democracy That Works Called Best Defense

By The Associated Press

CIO President Philip Murray said yesterday America's best defense against communism is not speeches or bullets but "a democracy that really works."

In an article in the American Magazine, Murray offered a six-step program he said is "essential if we would make our ramparts proof against totalitarian attack." His six steps:

(1) Strengthen civil liberties; (2) furnish Federal aid to schools; (3) broaden Social Security; (5) curb prices and profits; (6) raise minimum wages and assure a minimum annual wage for all workers in industry.

At American U.

U.N. Change Opposed By Austin

Changing the United Nations to make it "an association of states that may be able to agree easily" would lead "inevitably" to war, Warren R. Austin, chief of the American U. N. delegation, warned last night.

Austin spoke briefly to American University's 186 graduates after receiving an honorary doctor of laws degree conferred by the university for "the most distinguished public service of the year."

Without mentioning Russia by name or referring to proposals in Congress to "veto proof" the U. N. with or without the Soviet Union, Austin said:

"The easy agreement among the members within two or three blocs would lead inevitably to the hardships of war, while the difficult agreement among differing states in one United Nations will lead, however tortuously, to the blessings of peace."

He said he believes in the United Nations Charter, as it now stands, "even more than I did two years ago."

Austin was introduced by Baron Silvercruys, the Belgian Ambassador.

Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review of Literature, another commencement speaker, urged the United States to seek, under Article 109 of the U. N. Charter, a general conference of nations to devise ways to make the U. N. effective.

Cousins, who received an honorary doctor of letters degree, suggested the conference take inventory of U. N.'s accomplishments and failures and then revise its charter to give it power to enforce and maintain world law. "Control," he said, "requires power."

A doctor of divinity degree was given Stevens Bucke of Boston, editor of Zion's Herald.

Forum to Discuss Revision of U. N. Charter Tonight

Revision of the United Nations Charter will be discussed in a public forum at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the National Press Building Auditorium, 14th and F sts. nw.

The forum is sponsored by United World Federalists, Americans for Democratic Action, and the American Veterans Committee.

Paul Porter, former OPA administrator and vice president of ADA, will preside. Speakers will be Cord Meyer, jr., national president of UWF, Edgar Ansel Mowrer, foreign correspondent and columnist, Representative Jacob Javits (R., N. Y.), and Arthur Sweetzer, Washington information director of U. N.

After statements by each of the speakers and a discussion, the meeting will be thrown open for questions from the floor. Tickets will be 60 cents and will be available at the door.

Business Outlook

John Q. Public Like Mouse On Treadmill of Prices

By J. A. Livingston

THE CARTOONIST customarily depicts the average American consumer as a barrel with a man in it. All wrong. John Q. Public, according to the canvassers of the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan and the economic analysts of the Federal Reserve Board, is like a mouse on a postwar treadmill. He's trying hard to keep up with inflation. And he's not gaining ground.

Livingston

Higher prices have reduced John Q.'s sales resistance. He's afraid that before he gets around to buying his home or automobile or refrigerator, the price will be up again. Therefore, the sooner he buys the better.

John is tricked by what is happening to him and 'most everybody else. Wages are up; so are salaries; so are farmers' income; so are partnership profits; so are dividends. Half the households (spending units) in the United States reported a rise in income in 1947. Only one out of five reported a decline. The whole shelf of United States family income has risen to new highs.

Many householders are spending more than they earn. But they console themselves with the thought that it won't be long before ends meet. They argue that it takes a little time to get adjusted, to get reconverted to peacetime conditions. One thing pops up after another that they attribute to the aftermath of the war. Old car falls apart—repairs mount up, so they have to get a new car. Or Mary has to have an operation. Or Susan has outgrown her clothes and has to buy a new wardrobe.

THE TENDENCY is to regard as unusual a lot of expenditures that in prewar days would be put in the day-to-day budget. The hope is that some day prices will stop climbing, and then, like magic, the household budget will balance.

As a result of this it-will-work-out philosophy, last year the number of households with liquid assets on hand—that is, savings bonds and bank deposits—showed a decline for the first time since the war. There were three million fewer households which held savings bonds as rainy-day reserves. And people generally were readier to go into debt than in '46. Nine million spending units used instalment credit in 1947, twice the number in 1946.

Concluded Federal Reserve Board analysts: "The substantial dissaving in 1947 reflected the consumer willingness to spend freely." Whereas in 1946 the tendency to go into debt was concentrated in the income classes of $3000 and less, last year a "significant rise took place in the number of dissavers with annual incomes of $3000 to $7500." The increase in living costs edged up into the upper-income brackets.

Throughout '47, people were optimistic. And for good reason. Most consumers still carry over from the war large reserves of bank deposits and savings bonds. Moreover, 27% of U. S. householders expect that their incomes will be larger a year from now. Another 38% expect no change in income.

AS A RESULT, the commodity price break in February of this year did not materially affect demand. Intentions to buy new automobiles and new homes today exceed the capacity of both the motor and house-building industries to produce. Nor is there any important abatement in interest in durable goods in general—radios, refrigerators, furniture, etc.

To be sure, sentiment shifts fast. In early 1946, one out of two householders expected prices to rise. A year later, when economists were predicting a recession, only one out of eight persons expected continued inflation. Then in July, when a recession didn't come, they changed their minds. The proportion rose to one out of every three. And in January, 1948, as the inflation continued, the proportion rose to one out of two.

After the February commodity price break, however, only one householder in seven would bet on higher prices. In this case, however, the expectation was for food prices to go down or level off and clothing and other prices to continue up. So demand for autos, refrigerators and furniture did not abate. People plan to buy even though they have to go into debt to do so. Which suggest that banks and finance companies ought not to lack business for the rest of the year.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?
If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:
Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.
To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia, so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.
Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

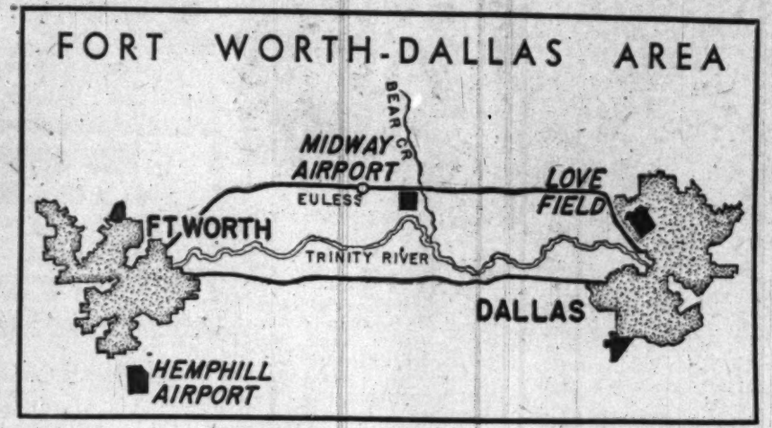
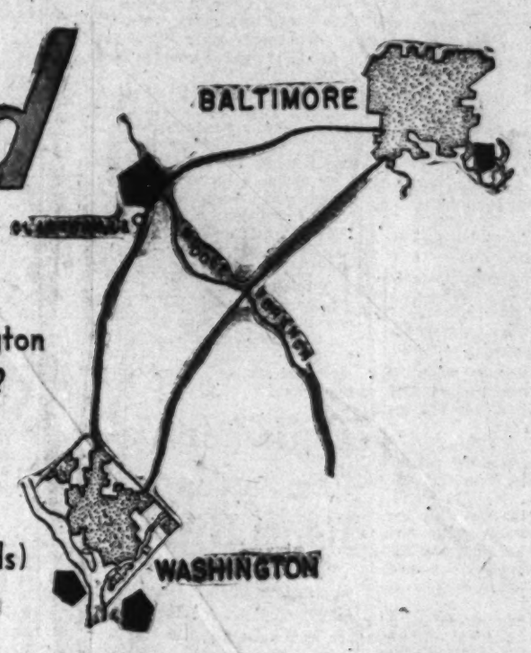
*Latest available figures as to Fort Worth traffic.



Background



Compare maps (same scale). Suppose CAA planned a superairport at Clarksville, with shuttleports at Washington and Baltimore—19 mi. out from each—would you like it? For Washington read Dallas—for Baltimore read Fort Worth—for Middle Branch read Bear Creek—For Clarksville, Md., read Euless, Tex.—and you have the picture. Love Field, Dallas ($12,000,000 plus voted bonds) is modern, close in, adequate to main-flight traffic; 8th in volume in the United States. Why junk it?

The House Had Time To Hear Both Sides

Mr. GARY. Mr. Chairman, I yield ten minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Wilson).

Mr. WILSON of Texas. Mr. Chairman, I made a little talk Friday with regard to airport funds that are included in the Civil Aeronautics Administration appropriation. We down in Dallas, Texas, feel that the CAA has not dealt fairly with our city. We have the oldest municipal airport in the United States, in which we have an investment of $12,000,000. As between the Dallas and Fort Worth areas, Dallas furnishes inbound and outbound 83 per cent of the passenger traffic, including that whole area; the Dallas area furnishes something like 87 per cent of the cargo traffic of that whole area.

The CAA has apparently—in setting up in this budget and earmarking $2,608,000 to create and build a new airport known as the Fort Worth International Airport which is 12 miles farther out than Love Field at Dallas, Texas, which is a total of 19.5 miles from downtown Dallas and 17.2 miles from downtown Fort Worth—they have indicated in their justifications for this appropriation the fact that they intend to relegate Love Field*, which is a great airport, to a secondary position to be used as a feeder field for the Fort Worth International Airport.

I may say that within the last five months there have been 60,000 passengers per month in and out of Love Field at Dallas; there have been millions of pounds of cargo in and out of Love Field at Dallas. We have a bus system which goes to Love Field, which is only 6½ miles from downtown Dallas, on the edge of the city—bus service at 10 cents per passenger. You can ride a taxicab from any of the hotels for $1.25.

If Love Field is relegated to a secondary airport and an auxiliary airport, as they say in their report, notwithstanding its pre-eminent position in the field of air in the Southwest, it will result in a cost to the passengers who use the commercial air lines of from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 per year in order to save the air lines $10,000 a month. . . .

Mr. Chairman, since the oxcart in this country there has been one criterion, one impelling motive that has moved the Interstate Commerce Commission and the various corporations or railroad commissions of the several states, and that is the question of convenience and necessity. To whom? To the majority of the traveling public, not to the air lines, not to the railroads, not to the bus lines, not to the truck companies, but to a majority of the traveling public. . . .

Dallas has an estimated population of 550,000. Greater Fort Worth has an estimated population of some 300,000 to 325,000—maybe 350,000. You can see from the actual facts and figures quoted by CAA in its justification that out of every 10,000 people in Dallas County 871 of them ride airplanes. Out of every 10,000 people in the Fort Worth district, 341 ride the airways.

Now, is there any justification under the sun for destroying Love Field and wasting Federal money in order to build another field that we will have to travel, without bus service, upon narrow highways, take that extra hazard, travel 19.5 miles and haul cargo at an estimated cost of 20 cents per pound additional from that airfield to the downtown area?

*"Our plan is to make Love Field the secondary air-line airport to supplement the large airport to be developed at the Midway Airport site to serve the Dallas and Fort Worth Metropolitan Areas."—From CAA Regional Office report signed by RALPH LEE JR., airport engineer. Sept. 10, 1947.

Rep. Wingate Lucas Speaks for Fort Worth

Mr. GARY. Mr. Chairman, I yield ten minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Lucas).

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Chairman, I rise to speak to the same subject. I have the honor of representing Fort Worth, Texas, in the Congress of the United States, and this Fort Worth airfield about which the gentleman from Texas (Mr. WILSON) was speaking. I regret that it is necessary in these perilous times that we should discuss such a relatively trivial matter in this important body, when we have national and international problems facing us which we should be legislating upon. I regret that a municipal problem, affecting only a certain section of Texas, should demand our attention, and I apologize for it. I want to tell you, however, that it is none of my making.

Members of this house, the crux of this is only one thing: Dallas does not want Fort Worth to have an airport; that is all there is to it. Dallas does not want Fort Worth to get any Federal funds for an airport; that is all there is to it.

For the City of Dallas to in any way protest the allocation of funds by the CAA under the Airport Act to the City of Fort Worth for the construction of a municipal airport is preposterous. . . .

We feel we have the same right to ask for help in constructing our own municipal airport as Houston, Chicago, Atlanta, or any other city in the United States. We do not feel that it is any of our business where the City of Atlanta, Ga., builds its municipal airport, nor do we feel it is any of our concern as to where any other city in the State of Texas builds its airport; neither do we feel that it is any business of the officials of Dallas, Texas, as to where Fort Worth decides to construct a municipal airport.

Fort Worth is not blessed with the fine airport Dallas, Texas, has—constructed to a Class IV airport by the use of money provided by the Federal Government during the recent World War. Incidentally, this money was furnished on a 100-percent basis, whereas the maximum the City of Fort Worth can receive for its airport, under the Airport Act, is on a fifty-fifty matching basis. The people of Fort Worth should have the privilege of building an airport to serve its community—let Dallas build whatever they please and wherever they please.

At the time Fort Worth announced that its municipal airport would be built south of the city, no objections were raised by Dallas, or any other city in the State of Texas, but when Fort Worth started to build an airport in the eastern part of Tarrant County, the Dallas objection began. . . .

She cries for hearings, she wants hearings so that she can present her case, meaning that she wants to stop Fort Worth. Fort Worth did not cry for hearings when the Civil Works Authority allocated some money to be spent on Love Field; Fort Worth did not cry for hearings when WPA allocated some money for Love Field. Fort Worth did not cry for hearings when the Army spent $2,500,000 during the war on Love Field.

An Appeal to Congress

It's Not a Local Squabble!

THIS IS NOT just a Dallas-Fort Worth squabble about an airport. This thing involves air service to the American people—we come to you, and through you, to the American people. We don't presume to thrust a local matter upon you at this time of national and world crisis.

We bring our case because it is a test case. It is a key case in air transportation—and regulation. What threatens the oldest municipal airport in the country can wipe out your own port in your own home town. It could wipe out the National Airport right here in Washington.

WE PLEAD THE CAUSE of public necessity and convenience against encroachment of air line interest and convenience. We admit air lines into Washington and Baltimore could show a saving by dumping Washington and Baltimore traffic at one stop, instead of two—leaving all of you to find your way 19 miles into town, as best you can.

We admit that Texas air lines can save money by dumping Dallas and Fort Worth passengers into a cow pasture 19 miles out, instead of bringing us into town, where we can catch a bus for a dime or a taxi for $1.25. We showed the public interest by spending $4,000,000 of Dallas money on Love Field. We showed it by enlarged facilities just completed.

Whose necessity is public necessity? Whose convenience is public convenience? Who ought to regulate air service—the air lines or the public? These issues are at stake. They are nation-wide issues. They are Congress-size in impact.

WE ALLEGE that the Fort Worth regional office of CAA arbitrarily, unreasonably and secretly planned this Midway Airport 19 miles from Dallas to displace our modern, improved and adequate Love Field.

We allege that the site was in fact located by the air lines and not by the independent judgment of CAA. By consequence, if not by intent, the regional office is serving the air line convenience at the expense of the public.

We allege that the Midway site is hemmed in by water, railroad, power line and highway obstacles so as to make it dangerous. (One Fort Worth representative actually advocates depressing the highway under runways to make room at this site.)

We allege that a purported airport to serve an area of four counties was designated upon the advice and consent of Fort Worth unilaterally, and without notice or hearing for Dallas.

We allege that CAA records have been concealed, changed and juggled to hide partisan and unilateral imposition of this airport against the will, against the necessity and against the convenience of 80 per cent of the flying patronage of the area supposed to be served.

These allegations we will prove, if given an open hearing with the right to subpoena witnesses and cross-examine opposition witnesses. Dallas has been denied such a hearing from the beginning. CAA refuses.

WE DO NOT ASK Congress to give to Dallas an inch or a penny of advantage over Fort Worth—or over anybody anywhere. We do not begrudge to Fort Worth the finest and most convenient airport which her patronage can justify or her celebrated initiative can contrive.

All we ask is that Congress postpone action until a full, fair and open hearing of both sides can be held, with cross-examination of all witnesses so that the full truth of this amazing case can be brought before the whole nation.

Out of such a hearing, we believe, will come the formulation of a new and better national policy for regulating air transportation and protecting the true public necessity and the true public convenience in access to air travel. THANK YOU.

Herbert A. Bergson Called a Good Bet For Anti-Trust Job

A good bet to be nominated to be Assistant Attorney General in charge of the antitrust division is Herbert A. Bergson, the executive assistant to the Attorney General. A Boston native, Bergson has the support of New England Democrats. John Maecher is acting chief, and he also has support for the post.

ECA: Walter Rhinehart is the assistant personnel director at the Economic Cooperation Administration. Previously, he served on the personnel staffs at Veterans' and Federal Works, and he has a distinguished war record. A splendid appointment.

PEOPLE: Leland Barrows of State, is slated for an overseas assignment in a top administrative post for ECA . . . Charles Schwarz, former Treasury press chief, has returned from Tokyo where he set up an informantion program for the Japanese government at the invitation of General MacArthur. Civil Service Commissioner Arthur S. Flemming will go to England next month to study the British British civil service system. His resignation is slated to be announced late this week.

NOTES: Government girls are now free to make applications for rooms at Arlington Farms. Public Housing Administration has lifted its order which banned new tenants at the Government-owned and operated dormitory . . . Another hearing on efficiency ratings will be held this afternoon by the Senate Civil Service Committee . . . Civil Service has an exam open for patrol inspectors ($3021 to start) to fill vacancies in the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

HIRING PLAN: The Civil Service Commission today will announce a new plan to hire hard-to-find workers. Briefly, it amounts to a return to the on-the-spot-test-and-hire method used by Federal agencies during the war. But the plan will be limited only to those jobs where the demand exceeds the supply, such as stenos, typists, certain scientists, etc.

The exams will be given by Civil Service boards the country over. The new order means that many more of the boards will have to be set up to carry out the faster and the more direct method of recruiting. All placements must be made in accordance with the veterans' preference laws. Civil Service will review all appointments made under the plan to make sure all rules and regulations are observed.

The hiring plan is designed to give the Government a better break in competing for the services of well-qualified people who have offers from industry.

CIVIL SERVICE NOTES: Civil Service promises to give Washington area steno-typist tests more frequently to prevent competition among the many agencies for these people. The next exam will begin next Monday . . . The closing date of the social worker test has been extended to July 6 . . . A total of 1399 eligibles received eligible ratings on the recent laboratory mechanic test . . . A new Civil Service order will result in the firing by July 30 of mathematicians and metallurgists in grades P-2 to P-5 in the Washington area who do not have competitive status. Their jobs will be filled by persons who passed recent tests for these jobs.

LOYALTY: A five-man regional loyalty board has been set up in Seattle to hear the cases of employes in the Eleventh region, who are accused of disloyalty. Members are Stephen F. Chadwick, chairman, of Seattle, who is a former national commander of the American Legion; Carl C. Donaugh, Portland attorney; Judson F. Falknor, dean of the University of Washington law school; Leo A. McGavick, Tacoma attorney, and Charles A. Sprague, former Oregon Governor.

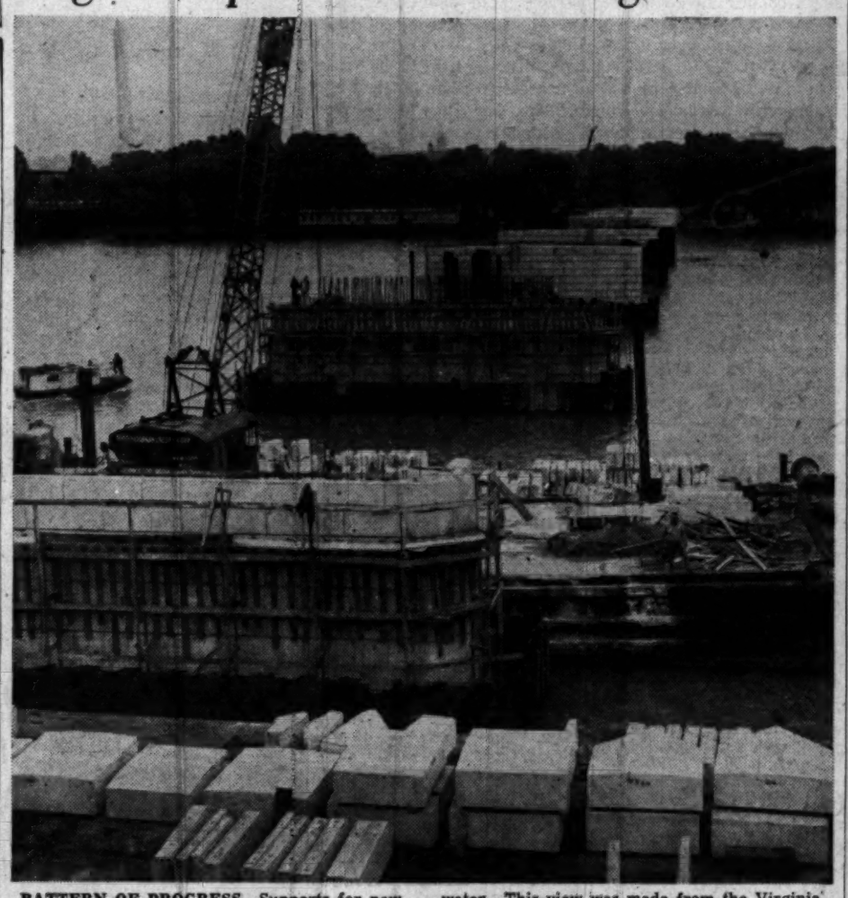
SECURITY: Sam Boykin is the State Department's new security officer. His is a tough job. It's downright impossible for him to please all factions on the loyalty of State Department employes. Sam has been an assistant to Assistant Secretary Jack Peurifoy. He suceeds Hamilton Robertson, who resigned recently.

ECA: It isn't generally known, but Representative Everett Dirksen, the hard-hitting Illinois Republican, is advising ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman on his speeches, statements and policies. Dirksen, who won't run for re-election because of an eye ailment, has been boosted by his many friends in Congress for a top ECA job.

PAY REPORT: Senator Taft and Speaker Martin have promised to hold their long-planned conference on Federal pay raises either today or tomorrow . . . MONEY: Several major appropriation bills are slated to come out of the House Appropriations Committee this week. They are: bills for ECA, Army, Air Forces, Navy, and a Treasury supplemental. . . .

JOB: Representative Noble J. Johnson (R., Ind.,) who is the President's nominee to be judge of the U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, is handling the legislative appropriation bill for the House. Several other Congressmen were after the judgeship.

Progress Report on the New Bridge



PATTERN OF PROGRESS—Supports for new bridge across Potomac River stretch across the water. This view was made from the Virginia shore. Work is progressing as scheduled

New 14th St. Bridge Half Done in Fall

By Don Oleen
Post Reporter

They're using come-alongs, seals, skirts, and coffer dams to push Washington's new Fourteenth Street Bridge across the Potomac.

While they build piers for the 2430-foot, four-lane span, men are working 70 feet above the water—and 40 feet below it.

Pier construction for the new bridge, being handled by the Merrit, Chapman & Scott Corp. of New York City, should cost about $2,800,000. Started last fall, it is due to be finished October 15.

Should Be Ready in '49

Another firm will finish the bridge superstructure. M., C. & S. engineers estimate the new bridge should be ready for traffic by the fall of 1949 at a total cost of nearly six million dollars.

At the bottom of the whole project will be the "seals"—in bridge-building lingo, concrete bases for the bridge's 16 piers.

Perching on the river bottom as much as 50 feet below water level, they in turn are based on steel piles which bury as deep as 120 feet below the Potomac surface.

Drop Coffer Dams

They drop coffer dams, huge steel "cigar boxes" with the tops off, over the pier area, sink them to the bottom, then pump out the water.

In these pumped-out cigar boxes, men build the wooden forms and fill them with concrete. Often they work 40 feet beneath the Potomac's canoeists and pleasure boats.

Construction crews are pummeled by constant waves of noise: purring cranes, the pile driver's wallop, the roar of pump engines, the screech of barge whistles.

In their parlance, a "skirt" is the part of the company's towering pile driver used to keep the steam hammer centered on the pile it drives into Potomac muck.

And a "come-along" is a chain hoist used to lift heavy weights in the construction work.

Many Gadgets Used

Among the more fabulous gadgets used in the bridge construction is a floating mixing plant which takes cement, gravel, and sand from three adjoining barges, shakes well, and pours concrete for the piers.

Towering 70 feet above the river, it can put out 1600 yards of concrete in a 24-hour period.

Most of the men are experienced hands. Says Assistant Project Manager Stanley Ibenthal: "The older men know what to do when they hit a snag. That's why you see so many of them."

'Screwball' Charge Leads To 4 Separate Court Actions

By Roger B. Farquhar
Post Reporter

A 12-month legal feud between two Woodside Knolls, Md., neighbors, a high-ranking Navy physician and a Veterans Administration attorney, has led to four separate court actions. The winner is still in doubt.

It all began when the attorney called the Navy doctor a "screwball" on May 28, 1947.

Following his use of the word, which he later defined in court as meaning "a comment on the unnatural actions of a man," Attorney James T. Crouch of 9601 Riley pl. found himself charged with disorderly conduct by Naval Capt. Thomas J. Kennedy, 1203 Brookville rd., a member of the Naval Retirement Board.

Acquitted, He Sues

In Silver Spring Trial Magistrate's Court, Crouch was acquitted of the charge. He then countered with a $5000 damage suit against Kennedy in Montgomery County Circuit Court, alleging false arrest.

Last November a jury of six men and six women heard the case and awarded $3000 damages to Crouch, who claimed he had been "brought into public scandal and disgrace" and also "suffered great anxiety and pain of mind."

Despite the judgment, Crouch has not yet collected a penny. Attorneys for Captain Kennedy asked the court to set aside the jury verdict on the grounds the amount was excessive and the jury was governed by "passion and prejudice."

Reduced to $1400

On March 8, Circuit Court ordered the $3000 judgment reduced to $1400. Kennedy's lawyers then appealed the case. The appeal is now pending in the Maryland Court of Appeals.

Latest development in the dispute is the filing in District Court last week of a damage suit by Kennedy, which names Crouch as defendant and asks for $50,000 because of the "screwball" epithet.

The two principals agreed in testimony that the incident arose from an attempt by Crouch to obtain Kennedy's signature on a petition of the Woodside Knolls Citizen's Association, which opposed a rezoning.

In refusing to sign the petition, Crouch said Kennedy declared: "Anything the citizens association is for, I am against." Crouch testified he replied: "Mr. Kennedy, you are just a plain screwball."

Captain Kennedy's version was somewhat different. He said Crouch acted like "a racehorse tout." According to Kennedy, when he refused to sign the petition, Crouch yelled: "You old fool. You won't listen to reason. I'll get you for this."

Both men testified they shook hands on who would "get" the other first.

Lorton Men Questioned On Gambling

Several Prisoners Quizzed in Probe Now Under Way By Grand Jury

By Murrey Marder
Post Reporter

Several prisoners from Lorton Reformatory have been questioned in the District's gambling probe, it was reported yesterday.

While it is not known whether the men involved actually appeared at secret sessions of the special grand jury conducting the gaming investigation, or whether they were questioned privately, their appearance in the probe has caused considerable alarm in gambling circles.

At least two, and possibly more Lorton inmates, are said to be involved. All were convicted on gambling charges or charges growing out of gaming, it is reported.

Fay Refuses Comment

United States Attorney George Morris Fay yesterday refused to make any comment whatsoever on whether or not he has questioned Lorton prisoners.

For several days, however, the reports have persisted, and yesterday it was learned from a generally reliable source that Lorton inmates have been questioned in connection with the probe on at least two occasions.

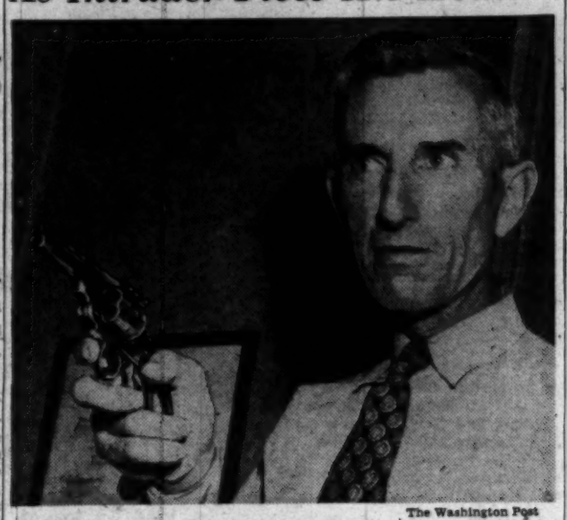
The questioning may have taken place in Fay's office, or before the grand jury. Secrecy has surrounded the grand jury meetings, and it is very possible that the grand jury met unknown to reporters.

Gambling circles are fearful that, if questioned, the prisoners may be bitter enough about their experiences to talk freely—especially in a case where a man took a "rap" for others.

One recent Lorton inmate, Charles R. Warde, former cooperator of the fashionable Trojan Club here, is known to have appeared before the grand jury. Warde was released from Lorton on May 13.

At first it was believed that Warde's grand jury appearance gave rise to the other rumors, but it was later reported that one, or more, of the Lorton inmates was questioned after Warde testified, in addition to one prisoner, or more, who appeared prior to Warde.

1918 Veteran Empties Gun As Intruder Flees His Home



The Washington Post

BUT ROUTED PROWLER—Robert E. Guillot, 49, of 3013 Dent Place nw., woke to hear someone creeping up the stairs Sunday night. When he got up to get his gun, the burglar heard him and fled through a first-floor window. Guillot fired twice, but is sure he missed

A World War I machine-gunner opened up with a revolver at an intruder in his home at 3013 Dent pl. nw. early yesterday but apparently did not find his mark.

Robert E. Guillot, 49, who served with the Seventy-ninth Machine Gun Battalion in France in 1918, told police he was awakened about 5:20 a. m. by creaking sounds on the stairway.

Guillot reasoned it was someone coming up the stairs and thought it probably was his son, Robert, jr., 20, who sleeps downstairs.

He called out his son's name. When he received no answer, Guillot grabbed a .32-caliber revolver from a dresser drawer and dashed to the head of the stairs.

Intruder Flees

The intruder heard Guillot stirring and fled back down the steps. Guillot fired from the top of the stairway, then ran down. He quickly observed that the front door was still locked, so he fired from a hallway in the direction of the back door in the kitchen.

When the first excitement had subsided, it was discovered the housebreaker had entered and departed through an unlocked living room window.

Although police doubted that Guillot, a retired filling station proprietor, had hit the intruder, they alerted hospitals to be on the lookout for anyone seeking treatment for a bullet wound.

Police reported 33 housebreakings from Saturday morning to late Monday afternoon, and 23 automobiles were stolen (of which 19 were recovered). Nine deaths were investigated (one suicide, one traffic death and seven due to natural causes); two attempted robberies, and $179 was taken in four holdups.

Restaurant Robbed

Charles Rayburn, 1235 13th st. nw., reported someone hid in the basement of the Rayburn Restaurant, 1727 N. Capitol st., at closing time Sunday night, then made off with $35 from the cash register.

Hartwell Parker reported someone entered his apartment at 321 U st. nw. while he was asleep and stole $45 from a billfold in his trousers pocket.

Thieves also visited a construction job of the R. E. Latimer Construction Co., in the 4300 block of Nichols ave. se., and stole two heavy-duty batteries from bulldozers, valued at $120.

One of the oddest thefts was that of a bass drum worth $110 from the dance deck of the SS Robert E. Lee, docked at 6th and Maine ave. sw. The drum was the property of Richard Strange, musician, 915 R st. nw.

Memorial Day Here Is Free of Auto Deaths

Toll for Weekend Is 4 for Area, 3 in Virginia, 1 in Maryland

The District and nearby Maryland and Virginia ended the long holiday weekend last night with no traffic deaths yesterday but recorded four for the three-day period.

Three of the deaths were in Virginia, the other in Prince Georges County.

In addition to those previously reported killed in traffic smashups was Louis Cook, 21, of 409 E. Monroe ave., Bethesda, Md., whose chest was crushed when his car overturned on the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway south of Alexandria Saturday night. He died early Sunday in Alexandria Hospital.

There were no traffic deaths in the District during the holiday weekend, although police reported 25 persons injured, none seriously, in crashes between Saturday morning and late yesterday.

Two families—six persons in all—were rushed to Casualty Hospital by the Marlboro rescue squad following an accident at 5 p. m. at Crane hwy. and Croon rd., three miles south of Upper Marlboro.

Injured were Frank Farrell, 44, his wife, Mrs. Anna Farrell, 39, and their daughter, Doris Farrell, 17; of Alden, Pa., and Lawrence Harding, 51, his wife, Mrs. Helen Harding, 50, and their daughter, Kathleen Harding, 18, of Astola, Pa.

Their injuries and conditions were: Farrell, dislocated shoulder, not serious; Mrs. Farrell, head injuries, serious; Miss Farrell, cuts and lacerations of legs and face, fair; Harding, crushed chest, fair; Mrs. Harding, head injuries, fair, and Miss Harding, broken collar bone, not serious.

An official police version was not immediately available, but one witness reported that an automobile sideswiped a truck and that the truck veered across the highway and toppled over on top of another automobile.

In Prince Georges County, police sought a hit-and-run driver who struck down a brother and sister at about 12:30 a. m. on Melwood rd., about a half mile north of Marlboro.

The victims, Joseph Forbes, 18, and his sister, Catherine, 19, of Upper Marlboro, were found unconscious in the road and were taken to Freedmen's Hospital. Joseph was admitted with a fractured left leg. His sister was released after treatment for lacerations to the back of her head.

At about 5:40 a. m., a car which police said was driven by Early B. Joyce, 30, of 706 N. Henry st., Alexandria, Va., crashed into a light pole on 14th st. nw., just south of the east driveway to the Jefferson Memorial. Joyce and two passengers were treated at Emergency Hospital.

Holiday Death Toll In Nation Is 328

The Nation's three-day holiday death toll stood last night at 328, with 180 of them traffic fatalities. The figures did not include unknown dead in the Vanport, Oreg., flood.

The Associated Press said California had the most deaths, 24, of which 16 were traffic fatalities.

Total fatalities from miscellaneous causes were falling short of last year's 482. Traffic deaths also were fewer than the 225 predicted by the National Safety Council for the weekend.

Taxi Victim Dies, Traffic Toll Now 34

District traffic deaths 1948.. 34
Deaths this day last year.... 30
Total traffic deaths 1947.... 72

The District traffic toll for the year went up to 34 yesterday with the death of Garnet A. Owens, 52, of 1446 Belmont st. nw. at Emergency Hospital at 6 a. m.

Owens suffered a fractured skull when he was struck by a cab May 21 when he stepped from a streetcar loading platform at 14th and Belmont sts. nw.

The driver, Robert L. Carnes, 27, of 415 3d st. nw. was ordered held for action of the coroner yesterday. He was released in custody of the City Cab Co. pending a coroner's inquest.

Rape Charge Holds Despite 'No Law' Plea

John L. Chapman, jr., attorney for George M. Brown, 26, a plasterer, of 1312 Corbin pl. ne., argued in Municipal Court yesterday there is no existing statute under which the defendant could be charged with rape. He contended the relations with a mentally retarded woman were without physical force.

"The woman involved is 30 years old, according to calendar years and she submitted willingly," the lawyer declared.

J. Warren Wilson, assistant United States attorney, prosecutor, insisted the woman lacked the sense and knowledge of a child of 6 or 7 years, a fact that was obvious to anyone.

"No man should be allowed to impost himself on someone so obviously handicapped. Society must be able to protect its unfortunates," he stated.

Brown is accused of meeting the woman in a delicatessen near her home and taking her to his nearby basement apartment Saturday night.

Youth Is Burned Filling Lanterns

A 15-year-old Silver Spring youth became a flaming torch yesterday when he upset a kerosene can while filling lanterns for a Silver Spring construction job.

At Washington Sanitarium he was identified as Thomas Troxler, 117 Normandy dr., Silver Spring. He suffered multiple third degree burns.

Silver Spring Rescue Squad members who took the lad to the hospital, said the boy's clothing ignited at the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad underpass and that a passerby extinguished the flames by throwing the lad to the ground and throwing sand over him.

2 Men Caught In Chase From Stolen Auto

Two suspected thieves, who were chased by a policeman on foot through the grounds of Gallaudet College Sunday morning, pleaded guilty to taking property without right in Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Walter J. Casey ordered the pair, Thomas R. Harding, 20, and John A. Riley, 28, both of 1913 Pennsylvania ave. nw., held under $300 bond each. They will report to him for sentencing June 17.

Police said the two men fled from an auto, which had been reported stolen by Edcel N. Paschall, 816 8th st. nw., when they were spotted at 8th st. and Florida ave. ne. by Pvt. Warren O. Smith, Fifth Precinct.

Smith said he was on his way home from duty and first noticed the pair when he heard the auto "bucking." They saw his uniform and fled, he said. He chased them several blocks in a cab to Gallaudet College and followed them on foot into the grounds.

Riley was arrested on the grounds, while Harding was picked up after he entered a private home at 8th st. and Florida ave ne. and tried to hide in the bathroom, police said.

Methodists Ready To Open Parley

Members of the Baltimore annual conference, representing the Methodist churches in Maryland, the District of Columbia and parts of West Virginia, will open a four-day session at the American University today.

Some 350 clergymen and an equal number of laymen are expected to attend.

On Friday ministers will be ordained and appointments to charges will be made. Among the ministers who will retire are:

The Rev. Dr. B. W. Meeks, Howard Park Church, Baltimore; the Rev. Dr. W. M. Michael, Center Street Church, Cumberland, Md., and the Rev. Dr. C. H. Cochran, Calvary Church, Martinsburg, W. Va.

126 Traffic Tickets Fixed; 7 Diplomatic

Of 126 traffic tickets adjusted between May 23-29, police reported, seven were for diplomatic personnel charged with minor offenses. Of the total number, 118 received warnings and eight cancellations.

Two of the diplomatic offenders would have been required to post $5 collateral and the remaining five, $3 collateral, police said. They included:

Shou Eng Coo, 1759 Lanier pl. nw., charged with passing a stop sign; H. R. F. Brett, 4335 Reno rd. nw., parked too close to a bus stop; Humberto Conde, 2709 34th pl. nw., parked abreast, and Alberto M. Zeballas, Argentine Embassy, no parking at any time. Conde's ticket was also adjusted at the request of the Argentine Embassy.

Also Edward A. Leonatdi, 3901 Jocelyn st. nw., obstructing a sidewalk; Cheng H. Wang, 1812 Ingleside ter. nw., parked less than 40 feet from a corner, and Dr. J. Coreth, Austrian Legation, parked too close to a loading zone.

Ten persons also benefited from adjusted tickets because of their claim they were illegally parked to load or unload heavy merchandise. They included:

Anthony D. Hilliard, 1540 9th st. nw; Charles M. Flagg, 1332 R st. nw.; Jack Rosenthal, 410 Nicholson st. nw.; Charles E. Lauxman, 2035 34th st. ne; Peter Levin, 8004 Blair Mill rd., Silver Spring, Md.; Lucus Larman, jr., 20 Chesapeake st. nw.; David Ardam, New York City; Murray R. Peterson, 2931 N. 1st st., Arlington, Va.; George L. Herbeck, 1431 Saratoga ave. ne.; Vincent L. Gentry, Dunbar Hotel.

Charles S. Kiess, 5701 40th pl. nw., told police he was parked in a no parking at any time zone because he was a bank runner and had a large sum of money with him.

Voluntary Racial Choice in Draft Labeled 'Fascist'

The National Council Against Conscription yesterday denounced as "an essentially Fascist idea" a proposal to permit voluntary racial segregation under a new draft.

The suggestion was made by Senators Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.) and Burnet R. Maybank (D., S. C.). They said they would seek to amend the draft bill when it reaches the Senate floor to permit draftees a choice of serving in units composed solely of members of their own race.

". . . If the amendment were to pass," the council said, "we would have for the first time in American history segregation both of a so-called 'inferior race' and of a 'super race' or 'master-race,' an essentially Fascist idea.

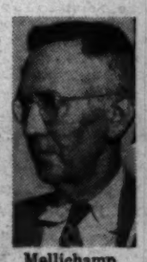
"Army divisions composed entirely of those who believe they belong to a superior race would be dangerous to America."

Mystery in Pocket

Key Ring Returned After 34 Years

C. M. Mellichamp of Louisville, Ky., paid a visit to Washington this weekend with a mystery tucked in his pocket.

The story started back in 1914, when Mellichamp was living in Edgefield, S. C., where he was a postmaster during the Wilson administration. About that time he lost a key ring with a small silver plate on which his name, address, and the date 1914 were imprinted.



Mellichamp

He doesn't remember where he got the ring, or when he lost it. For over 30 years—until several weeks ago—it was completely out of his thoughts.

In 1922 he left Edgefield for Louisville, where he works with the railroad YMCA. Several weeks ago he received a package containing the ring and five strange keys from Miss Micbie Hulme, 49 John Roberts Homes, Alexandria. It had been forwarded to him from Edgefield.

Miss Hulme, 15-year-old student at George Washington High School, told him she had found the ring near the Capitol grounds March 30.

The real mystery, Mellichamp feels, is where the key ring spent the intervening 33 or 34 years. The worn plate and the five strange keys indicate that it has been in steady use, but no one in Edgefield, where the story was printed in a local paper, knew who used it.

Perhaps someone in Edgefield found the ring, then came here to work and lost it on a holiday tour of the Capitol. Perhaps it passed through several hands. Mellichamp hopes that someone who can clear up the mystery will write him when he returns to his home, 516 Oak st., Louisville, next week.

Area News in Brief

Navy Distributing Campaign Medals

Distribution of World War II area campaign medals to eligible discharged or inactive duty naval personnel will begin today in Greater Washington.

Members of forces are eligible who served in the European-African-Middle Eastern area between December 7, 1941, and November 8, 1945, or in the American or Asiatic-Pacific areas between December 7, 1941, and March 8, 1945.

Medals will be issued at the Navy Recruiting Station, 1400 Pennsylvania ave. nw.; the Naval Receiving Station, Anacostia; the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit, Naval Air Station, Anacostia; Naval Reserve Training Center, Naval Gun Factory, and Navy Recruiting substations at Alexandria, Arlington, Winchester, Stafford, Staunton and Culpeper, Va., and Hyattsville, Md.

To prove eligibility applicants must present discharge certificates, certificates in lieu of a formal discharge, or release orders.

Veterans' organizations may act as agents for their eligible members in obtaining medals from the nearest naval issuing station, the Potomac River Naval Command announced.

An official of the Military District of Washington said the Army is planning a similar distribution for Army veterans and will announce issuing points shortly.

X-Ray Unit in Store

Chest X-raying equipment in downtown Washington will be augmented by a portable unit in and main store of Woodward & Lothrop today, marking opening of the Washington Chest X-Ray Survey's Good Resolutions Week. The portable unit will be set up on the department store's second floor, near the 11th and G sts. corner, and will be in operation daily from 9:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. The unit will operate in addition to the permanent X-ray station at 14th st. and Pennsylvania ave. nw.

A mobile truck unit will be placed in operation today at Connecticut ave. and Albemarle st. nw., in front of the Chevy Chase Ice Palace, and will open also from 9:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., making a total of 16 portable X-ray units in operation here this week.

Good Resolutions Week, survey officials said, is dedicated to "those Washingtonians who have intended to have their chests examined since the drive started, but just haven't got around to it."

Safety Contest Set

Leon Chatelain, jr., president of the Washington Board of Trade, will be chief judge of a summer traffic safety essay contest sponsored by the Commissioners' Traffic Advisory Board and the Department of Vehicles and Traffic, the sponsors announced yesterday.

The other two judges will be Col. Alvin B. Barber, chairman of the Board of Trade's traffic committee, and Charles H. Burton, chairman of the Junior Board of Commerce Traffic Committee.

Through the cooperation of merchants and individuals, 25 prizes, including a $100 bond, will be awarded children 14 years and under who contribute the best 100-word essays on how children can avoid traffic accidents. Deadline for submitting entries is midnight, July 1.

Little Black Dog

When a little black dog followed Johnnie Tonseth home from Nebraska and Connecticut ayes. nw. Sunday night it didn't know Johnnie already had a dog, two cats, and several turtles and fish.

Johnnie's mother, Mrs. T. H. Tonseth, 5126 Nebraska ave. nw., is now trying to find the owner of the stray. It looks like a black spitz, is clean and minds well. When it came home with Johnnie it was wearing a harness but no tag. The Tonseth's phone number is Ordway 5490.

'Musicades' at Armstrong

Memorial Rites, Recreation Mark Close of Holiday Here

The Washington Post

BRIGHTWOOD CEREMONY—Linda Smith, 11, of 220 Quackenbos st. nw., decorates a grave in the Battle Ground National Cemetery at 6000 Georgia ave. nw. The ceremony was held at 3 p. m. yesterday under auspices of the G. A. R. and the Brightwood Citizens Association. Also in the picture are Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming (center), who spoke, and Dr. John Clagett Proctor, the chairman

Washington tourists and citizens wound up the Memorial Day weekend yesterday with some attending special services for the war dead while others turned to holiday relaxations.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), in an address delivered at the Battleground National Cemetery, near Walter Reed Hospital, warned that "now the doctrine of popular soverelgnty is facing its greatest test . . . for there are leaders in all parts of the world who pretend to believe that the day of popular authority is gone and that autocracy will take its place."

He claimed we can "best honor the men who died for free Government by living to maintain the principles for which they fought." This, he warned, "we cannot do by any compromise with the false dogmas of autocratic power."

Services Jointly Sponsored

The services were sponsored jointly by the GAR Memorial Corp. and the Brightwood Citizens Association.

In nearby Greenbelt, Md., an estimated 1000 persons participated in ceremonies at the Greenbelt War Memorial in the community's center, opposite the post-office.

They heard Rabbi Morris A. Sandhaus, former Army chaplain for northern France and Belgium, assert that "wherever people have fought for freedom, Americans have been at their side." This, he declared, "is true for today—whether the battles for freedom are in Greece or Patagonia or Israel, there American honor and American strength and American understanding will be."

Residents saw a parade led by Battery A of the 224th Field Artillery of Greenbelt's National Guard unit. Chairman of the program was the Rev. Eric Braund, pastor of the Greenbelt Community Church.

Parade at Falls Church

In Falls Church, Va., several thousand persons from nearby communities lined the streets to wave on a parade sponsored by Falls Church Post No. 130, American Legion, and Martin-Leppert-Sipes Post No. 9274, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Music was furnished by the United States Maritime Comission Band, the Herndon High School Band and the Fairfax High School Band.

A memorial plaque in tribute to the area's dead in all wars was presented to the Falls Church High School by Irving Diener, Alexandria attorney, who was master of ceremonies.

A parade and flag-raising ceremonies scheduled to be held yesterday at the mammoth Fairlington housing development in nearby Virginia were postponed until Saturday because of the unreliable weather, Webster Tenney, president of the Fairlington Association, announced.

Late afternoon found thousands jamming transportation facilities, both leaving and arriving. AAA attaches reported travel was heavy, with thousands returning from nearby beaches—despite the wet weekend.

Union Station from late afternoon and until late at night was jammed with both incoming and outgoing passengers. On some trains travel resembled that of wartime.

Police Lieut. William R. James estimated 40,000 visited the Zoo. And Leonard Schloss, general manager of Glenn Echo Park, said some 8000 turned out to take a spin on the roller coaster, ferris wheel and other rides. About 3000 splashed in the pool, he said.

Elsewhere, Washingtonians golfed, rode horseback, played tennis, dug in their gardens or just loafed. Most retail stores, all banks, and the schools were closed. Federal and District Government employes, as well as most workers in private establishments, had the day off.

Sidney Ross, 70, FHA Aide, Dies in Florida

Mr. Ross, whose home here is at 1303 S. Barton st., Arlington, had been in Coral Gables about a year as an FHA representative.

He entered Government work in 1941, serving during the war as a civilian with the Signal Corps headquarters at the Pentagon. Later, he went to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, helping in the reconversion of war plants. He joined FHA about two years ago.

Born in Kennebunk, Me., Mr. Ross attended schools there and was graduated in 1901 from the Cornell University School of Architecture. Until his entry into Government service, he practiced architecture in New York.

Some of the building he helped design are the United States Military Academy cadets' mess hall, the Veterans' Memorial Bridge in Rochester, N. Y., and a number of buildings in the Pennsylvania State Capitol group.

He belonged to the Cornell Club in New York.

Funeral Rites Incomplete

Mr. Ross leaves his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Ann Ross, a daughter, Barbara, both of the Arlington address, and a son, John O. Ross of New York City.

Mrs. Lyons, 95, Succumbs In Georgetown

Mrs. Sarah J. Lyons, 95, who remembered the Civil War and President Lincoln and had lived in the same house in Georgetown for 56 years, died Saturday at her home at 3338 P st. nw.

Mrs. Lyons, native of Surrattsville, Md., had lived in Washington for the past 70 years. She would have been 96 in July.

Mrs. Lyons spoke frequently of the Civil War, in which her brothers fought, and remembered President Lincoln well. Mrs. Lyons also told of living near Mary Surratt, who was executed as an accomplice of John Wilkes Booth after the assassination of Lincoln.

For the past 56 years Mrs. Lyons had lived in the same Georgetown house, which was built by her husband the late John J. Lyons, when they were married. Mr. Lyons, a carriage painter, died 33 years ago.

Mrs. Lyons was a member of Holy Trinity Church, 36th and O sts. nw., and the Ladies' Sodality at the church. She leaves a son, Raymond F. Lyons of 1023 Upshur st. ne., and three daughters, Mrs. Stella B. Tucker, Chicago; Mrs. William J. Curtain and Miss Alma G. Lyons, both of the P st. address. Also five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at her home at 9:30 a. m. today, followed by requiem mass at 10 at Holy Trinity Church. Burial will be in Holy Rood Cemetery.

Frank C. Peyraud

Highland Park, Ill., May 31 (AP).—Frank C. Peyraud, noted landscape artist, died today. He would have been 90 tomorrow.

Peyraud's paintings won numerous prizes during the first third of the century.

A native of Bulle, Canton Fribourg, Switzerland, he came to the United States in 1880. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Krysher, also an artist.

Public Is Invited On Legion Moonlight

The public is invited on the annual moonlight cruise of the District of Columbia Department of the American Legion at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday on the SS Mount Vernon.

Music will be furnished by the Fort Stevens Drum and Bugle Corps. Veterans from Walter Reed, Bethesda Naval and Forest Glen Hospitals will be guests.

Mrs. Ball Is Dead at 91 At Coral Gables

Mrs. Fanny Gustin Ball, Washington resident for 40 years, died Sunday night in Coral Gables, Fla., after an illness of one year. She was 91.

Mrs. Ball was born in Ohio and spent about 50 years in Blanchester, there. She came to Washington with her husband, George T. Ball, retired railroad official, about 40 years ago. After Mr. Ball's death in 1932, she lived with her brother at 1437 Park rd. nw. Mrs. Ball had been in Florida since September, 1947.

She leaves a brother, George Gustin, of Coral Gables, and two grandchildren, Mrs. Charles Seymour, of 3336 Reservoir rd., in the District, and Col. Gustin Nelson, of Coral Gables. Two great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Emily Kennedy

Mrs. Emily C. Kennedy, widow of an Associated Press foreign correspondent, died Sunday at the Home for Incurables after an illness of several years. She was about 70 years old.

Mrs. Kennedy traveled for many years with her husband, John Russell Kennedy, while he was reporting in London, China and Japan. After his death 15 years ago she returned to Washington and lived at Tilden Gardens Apartments, 3000 Tilden st. nw., until she suffered a severe fall several years ago.

Mrs. Kennedy was born in New Orleans, La. Her only child, a son, died in Japan and is buried with his father there.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Charles W. Lowry, rector of All Saints Church, Chevy Chase, at 12:30 p. m. today at the Lee funeral home, 4th st. and Massachusetts ave. ne.

Arthur Semple

Jersey City, N. J., May 31 (U.P.).—Arthur Semple, 35, Jersey City newspaperman and publicist for the Hudson County Republican committee, died in Jersey City Medical Center today.

Semple was instrumental in the recent successful campaign of Robert C. Hendrickson, New Jersey State treasurer, for the GOP nomination for United States Senator. Previously, he had worked for the Jersey Journal and the New York Herald Tribune.

William Martin Camp

Napa, Calif., May 31 (AP).—William Martin Camp, 36, well-known writer, died today of a bullet wound in the head. Coroner Charles Burchell said a preliminary investigation indicated Camp was worried over finances.

A former newspaperman, he was author of "Skip to My Lou," a best seller; "Retreat, Hell!" a story of the Marines in World War II, and a late novel on San Francisco. Camp, who served with the Marines in China, was to have been the main speaker today at Memorial Day services at Calistoga.

Rev. Paul G. Favour

Laguna Beach, Calif., May 31 (AP).—The Rev. Paul Gordon Favour, 64, retired Episcopalian minister and uncle of Actress Bette Davis, died yesterday of a heart ailment. The clergyman served twice as international exchange preacher to England. He received his doctor of divinity degree at the University of Dublin.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gail S. Favour; two sons, Paul Gordon Favour, jr., of Shenandoah National Park, Va., and John W. Favour, of Laguna Beach, and a daughter, Mrs. Harold A. Carmichael of Rutland, Vt.

Prof. M. H. Hunter

Chicago, May 31 (AP).—Prof. Merlin H. Hunter, 59, head of the department of economics at the University of Illinois, died today of a heart ailment.

A native of Chandlersville, Ohio, he was a specialist in taxation and public finance. He had headed the economics department at the University of Illinois since 1938 and had been a faculty member since 1916. Earlier he had taught economics at Ohio State University and Cornell University.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Alcoholic Wife Divorced Man After Exhausting His Efforts to Help Her, But Since He Married Fine Second Helpmeet, She Courts His Notice

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I was married for years to an alcoholic wife, who cared nothing for cleanliness, either. During those years I raised a good boy by making him a pal; and now he is married, happy, and doesn't drink.

I am a hard worker, have held the same job for 25 years and have many men friends here. During Sara's sprees, I would tell friends she was ill, and in fact was obliged to call a doctor occasionally because of her condition.

In those years, pride kept me from consulting anyone except our minister and two doctors. The minister wasn't much help. I felt he was disgusted and thought it hopeless; but the doctors, knowing my shame and humiliation, kept my secret and did their best.

Working with the doctors, I planned trips, remodeled the house, bought the best of everything, trying to interest Sara. On paydays I gave her new dresses, lingerie, etc., but she wouldn't wear them, only hoard them. Finally I gave up.

Uses Slander And Sentiment

SARA got a divorce, took everything I had, and later I married a good woman, who truly believes cleanliness is next to godliness. She is a wonderful cook, and has a fine disposition, we go places together, have nice friends in for meals, and for the first time in years I have peace, contentment, happiness and pride in my home life.

However, Sara is waging a planned campaign to wreck our happiness. She comes back here from her home town to drink in places where no respected woman would go; she circulates slanderous stories about my son, my wife and me; she telephones me at home and on the job, writes to me, sends gifts, etc—though birthdays and Christmas meant nothing to her before,—and no matter how I protest, she keeps it up.

I discuss these things with Nan, my present wife, who says, "Don't worry; live above it; forget it as as soon as you can; you did all you could to help her," etc., but I get angry and upset. If Sara were a man, I would know how to deal with her, but I have never struck a woman in my life.

Nan says this badgering doesn't worry her. However, I am afraid it does; and afraid that if it continues it will cause trouble between us. At times I feel I should give up my job and leave here. What do you think? Please advise. J. N.

Man Is Acting Somewhat Weak

DEAR J. N.: You have a real helpmeet in Nan, so don't be a weakling on her hands, as you would be if you were to pull up stakes and leave town to "hide out" from Sara's badgering.

Sara can make trouble between you and Nan only if she succeeds in her malicious intent to keep your thoughts moodily fixed on her much of the time, in which case you would be only half a husband in relation to Nan, lacking the lightness of heart and peace of mind to give her undivided interest and full appreciation of her loyal ministrations to your welfare.

It is good married teamwork to keep Nan posted about Sara's crackpot skirmishing, especially as regards her attempts to get clubby with you, so that Sara can't take her by surprise or "get her goat" by referring to exchanges that she (Nan) hasn't heard about from you. But it isn't manly of you to blubber, fume and look sick with anxiety about Sara's pestering, when reporting new instances of it to Nan.

Iron Indifference The Best Antidote

TO HOLD Nan's respect, you must display mature sense and strength of character in fending against Sara, which means that pursuant to Nan's sound advice, you must develop a tough philosophic attitude towards the nuisance campaign; and as Nan says, live above it in general.

Judged on performance, past and present, Sara is an incorrigible psychopath, shameless and vicious, who gets a kick out of mocking decency and hurting intimates, hence doesn't merit anybody's sympathy, as the pastor long since indicated. It were craven to fear and foolish to humor her; rather, iron indifference immovably maintained affords your best hope of putting her to rout by degrees.

When to Give Gifts

Wedding announcements never require a reply or present. There is no obligation to send a present or even a reply to an engraved invitation to the church only.

An invitation by written note requires a reply and also a gift. It is customary (but not obligatory) to send a present if you accept the invitation to the reception.

Senora de Molina to Be Honored

Senora de Sosa Molina, wife of the Argentina minister of war, will be honored at a luncheon by the Pan American Liaison Committee of Women's Organizations Saturday, June 5, at 12:30 at the United Nations Club.

Recently arriving on her first trip to the United States, this will be Senora de Sosa Molina's first opportunity to be entertained by a group of North American women.

Among the honor guests will be Senora de Belt, wife of the Cuban Ambassador; Senora de Lleras, wife of the director general of the Pan American Union; Senora de Drago, wife of the charge d'affaires of Argentina; Senora de Lucero, wife of the military attache of Argetnina, and Senora de Quiros, wife of the counselor of Argentina.

Other honor guests are to be Mrs. William Manger, wife of the assistant director of the Pan American Union; Mrs. W. J. Fulbright, wife of the Senator; Mrs. Burdette Fitch, Miss Meredith Howard and Miss Muna Lee.

The guest of honor will be presented by Mrs. Thomas Burke who will also talk on her experience with women's organizations in Argentina where she recently spent over three months of her five-and-a-half-month trip to Latin America.

Mrs. John T. Lucker, president of the Pan American Liaison Committee, will preside. Mrs. R. Mills McClintock, general chairman, will be in charge of the program. Assisting in arrangements are Mrs. Clarence Norton Goodwin, Mrs. John Donaldson, Mrs. Louis Renfrow, Mrs. Evelyn Boyer and Miss Marguerite Rawalt.

S. Dakotans to Meet

South Dakota's former Senator and Mrs. William J. Bulow will be guests of honor at the annual luncheon meeting of the South Dakota State Society Sunday noon, June 6, at the Lafayette Hotel.

Senator and Mrs. Bulow will be feted by officers of the society and members of the congressional delegation and their wives. Also expected to receive guests are Senator and Mrs. Chan Gurney and Senator and Mrs. Harlan J. Bushfield.

State Society To Close Season

The South Carolina Society of Washington will give a tea on Sunday, June 6, from 5 to 7 at the Women's National Democratic Club in honor of a number of prominent South Carolinians now residing in Washington.

Honor guests include Senator Olin D. Johnston, president of the society, and other members of the South Carolina delegation in Congress; also A. L. M. Wiggins, Undersecretary of the Treasury; J. Monroe Johnson, Interstate Commerce commissioner; Harry Slattery, former Undersecretary of the Interior; James F. Byrnes, former Secretary of State, and Allan Johnstone, general counsel for the Federal Works Agency.

Union Day Celebrated At S. African Legation

By Elizabeth Maguire

IT SEEMS FEW went away for the holiday, but stayed home instead to go to the party given by the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Andrews at their imposing legation on Massachusetts avenue. Those who did go away, missed one of the best parties of the year.

The occasion celebrated Union Day, the day in 1910 when four provinces of South Africa—Transvaal, Orange Free State, Natal and Cape Colony—became a union by an act of Parliament.

Mrs. Andrews is one of the loveliest hostesses in town, and yesterday the doors of the legation were thrown hospitably open to hundreds of guests. The wide hallway where she and the Minister received, the several large drawing rooms and the combined rock garden and rose garden were filled with members of residential and diplomatic society.

In the dining room a most inviting buffet was spread, centered with a large bouquet of white lilies, blue and pink delphinium and babies' breath. There were roasted turkeys, baked hams, lobsters, different salads, rolls, coffee ice cream and a variety of cakes.

Guests See Garden

Lady Berendsen walked into the garden with Lady Wilson, and Senator and Mrs. William J. William Fulbright formed a group with the new Minister of Great Britain, F. B. Hoyer Miller, and the latter's mother-in-law, Mme. Rene de Marees van Swinderen. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman were there and Mrs. Walter Wyatt and her daughter, Miss Laura Belle Wyatt.

Talking with Mr. and Mrs. Loy Henderson was Miss Carolyn Nash. Seated at table in the far corner of the garden were Mrs. Gilbert Hitchcock, Mrs. Wilbur Carr, the Ambassador of Canada, Hume Wrong, and Ralph Totten, our former Minister to South Africa.

Senora de Belt, wife of the Cuban Ambassador, was escorted by Guillermo, jr., her oldest son, and the Minister of Iceland and Mme. Thors came without their pretty daughter, Margaret, who is in New York seeing her cousin, Helga Vilhjalmson, off to Iceland.

Senora de Dillon, wife of the Ambassador of Ecuador, was there in a hat of sea green tulle and white roses. It is not surprising to learn that the Ambassadress paints, as she always looks like a picture herself with her unfailing flair for picking right colors to go with her brown eyes and chestnut hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Biddle came down the receiving line followed by the Minister of Switzerland, Charles Bruggmann, and the British Minister, Sir John Balfour. Miss Lydia Andrews, young daughter of the host and hostess, busied herself with her contemporaries in the crowded dining room. The stinkwood panneling and furniture in this room, brought from South Africa, made it the handsomest room in the legation.

Ambassador Attend

Among the many glimpsed in the drawing room were Mrs. Peter Ansberfy, the Ambassador of the Netherlands and Mme. Van Kleffens, Miss Dorothy Stirling, sister of the Minister of Australia, the Charge d'Affaires of Spain Don German Baraibar, the Charge d'Affaires of the Argentine and Senora de Drago, Mrs. Frank Morrow, Col. and Mrs. Felipe Munilla, who are leaving today for a week in Atlantic City, and Gen. and Mrs. Charles Drake and their daughter, Miss Marrine Drake.

Still others in the never-ending list were the Ambassador of Norway, Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstierne, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos del Mar, the Ambassador of Belgium, Baron Silvercruys, the Ambassador of Honduras and Senora de Caceres, Mrs. Thomas Bell Sweeney, Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling, Gen. and Mrs. A. C. McAuliffe, Fred Roy, and Mrs. Herbert Woodward.

Romanian Minister Will Give Reception

THE Minister of Romania and Mrs. Ralea are giving a reception Thursday, June 10, from 6 to 8 o'clock, on the occasion of the Centennial Anniversary of the 1848 Revolution.

L. C. Gardner, Jr. Marries Miss Irwin In Church Service

Miss Margaret Arabella Irwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Irwin, became the bride on Saturday, May 29, of Leander Carl Gardner, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gardner, also of Washington. The Rev. Alvin Lamar Wills officiated at the ceremony held at 6 p. m. in the Church of Our Saviour.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white marquisette gown with finger-tip illusion veil and carried a nosegay of white rosebuds.

Mrs. John Greer Irwin, sister-in-law of the bride, and matron of honor, wore nile green marquisette and a flower hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet. The maid of honor, Miss Betty Ann Lockwood, cousin of the bride, from Maplewood, N. J., was in pale yellow marquisette with a flower hat and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Mr. Gardner was best man for his son and ushers were James Franklin Gardner, brother of the bridegroom, and John G. Irwin, brother of the bride.

After a honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will return to Washington to live.

MRS. LEWIS C. NORTON

The First Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Naomi Victory Hayes and Lewis Calvin Norton which took place Sunday, May 30, at 4 p. m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Hayes of Chickasha, Okla. Mr. Norton's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Calvin Norton of Chino, Calif.

Mr. Hayes gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white slipper satin gown made with sweetheart neckline embroidered in seed pearls; long fitted sleeves and a hip length peplum edged in seed pearls. She carried a white prayerbook with roses and stephanotis. The Rev. R. Edward Dowdy officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Faye Evelyn Widener, maid of honor, wore a nile green slipper satin gown and a headdress of talisman roses to match her bouquet. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ben Luse in pink satin, and Miss Betty Jo Donavan in yellow satin. They carried bouquets of Dutch blue iris, sweet peas and baby's breath and wore dresses to match.

Serving as best man was John R. Ellis and ushers were Derwood Beasley, Lowell Moore, Ralph James and Preston Boling. A reception in the parlor of the church followed the ceremony.

After a trip to California and a stop at the Grand Canyon on their return, Mr. and Mrs. Norton will live at 1556 16th st. north, Arlington, Va.

The bride is a graduate of the Oklahoma College for Women. She has been with the Navy Department for five years. Mr. Norton attended the University of Minnesota, Notre Dame and received his degree in engineering from the California Institute of Technology. He served three years in the Navy. He is at present employed at the Weather Bureau.

E. M. Straus Marries Miss Nagler

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Nagler and Everet M. Straus took place May 29 at Hotel Beekman, New York City, the Rev. Jonah B. Wise officiating. Mrs. Straus is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Nagler of New York City, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Leo G. Straus of Paterson, N. J., and the late Mr. Straus.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white satin wedding gown, cut with tight-fitting bodice and sweetheart neckline. Her veil of tulle fell from a coronet trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Joseph Weber of Washington, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Henry A. Straus was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Edmund Nagler, brother of the bride, and Lieut. Comdr. Joseph Weber, USN.

The bride was graduated from Hunter College, and did graduate work at the American University in Washington, and is a member of the Washington Branch of the American Association of University Women.

Mr. Straus attended Wesleyan University, and was graduated from the University of Chicago. He received an M.A. from Columbia University.

Holiday Guests

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Sigmund have taken a cottage at Ventnor, N. J., for the summer. They had as their guests there for the holiday weekend Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nordlinger, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pocker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Luchs and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Nordlinger.

Election Will Close B'nai B'rith Sessions

The seventy-second convention of District Grand Lodge, No. 5, B'nai B'rith, will end its three-day session at the Statler today with election of officers and action on various committee reports.

Reports of the Veterans Affairs and Social Service Committee were accepted at a late afternoon session of the convention yesterday. A resolution that each lodge contribute a voluntary sum to the National Jewish Hospital and the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital was among those adopted.

A joint luncheon of the District Lodge No. 5 and Women's Council at the Statler yesterday had Rabbi Amram Prero, national director of B'nai B'rith Youth Organizations, as guest speaker.

Installation ceremonies were held last night for the officers of National Capital Lodge, 1742, new local B'nai B'rith unit at the Jewish Community Center, 16th and Q sts. nw. A dance and reception for convention delegates followed the ceremony at 10 p. m. in the Cafritz Auditorium.

Other highlights of today's program will be a men's luncheon at the Statler with Dr. Max Baer, director of the B'nai B'rith Vocational Service, as guest speaker, and a lunch for the Women's Council at the Indian Springs Country Club. Frank Goldman, president of the Supreme Lodge, B'nai B'rith, will speak at the final banquet tonight at 7:30 in the Statler.

Alexandria to Have Garden Tableaux

There will be tea and tableaux in the adjoining gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Smith and Capt. and Mrs. Duval Duckett of Alexandria on Friday from 4 o'clock on. The garden fete will be for the benefit of St. Paul's Parish Guild.

One tableau will portray a party given by Jane Cary Fairfax, who will be represented by Miss Linda McDonald. James Wallace Hoof will be portrayed in a tableau by Courtland Warfield, and Miss Ellen King will act the part of Mary Helen Dangerfield, daughter of John Dangerfield, who was one of the outstanding citizens of his day. All tableaux will roll back the curtain of time, giving visitors a glimpse of Alexandria of long ago.

Children whose families were christened at St. Paul's will take leading parts. Philip Beverly Hooe, son of Bernard Hooe, Mayor of Alexandria in 1837, will be represented by Calvert Hand, and Hanna Bushrod Washington will be represented by Miss Jeanette Martyn Cabell.

Among the distinguished names on the old Parish record are those of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis of Woodland. Mrs. Lewis is the former Nellie Custis.

Proceeds from the garden fete will go to the building fund for the new recreation room in the Parish House.

MRS. HAROLD GLASSMAN
. . . wed in white satin

Glassman—Temin

Miss Betty M. Temin and Harold Glassman were married May 27 in Chev Sholom Synagogue on May 27, Rabbi Zemach Green officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Temin of Washington, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Glassman of Heyrut Bet, Israel.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed in seed pearls and a veil held by a tiara of lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Adele Temin, who wore a gown or orchid organdy and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. Glassman attended the Toronto Conservatory and Peabody Conservatory and is presently attending Catholic University School of Music. After three years in the Army, the bridegroom is attending the University of Maryland School of Engineering.

Mancuso—Rinaldi

Miss Anna Rinaldi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Rinaldi of this city, was married May 27 to Henry Mancuso, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Mancuso of Reynoldsville, Pa.

The ceremony took place in Holy Rosary Church with the Rev. Nicholas D. Rinaldi, brother of the bride, officiating. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown with marquisette yoke. Her long veil of illusion was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried white roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. Mary Coporaletti, matron of honor for her sister, was attired in yellow marquisette and matching headdress and carried red roses. Eleanor Mancuso, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, wearing pink marquisette and carrying an old-fashioned bouquet. Bridesmaids were Miss Anna Marino and Miss Mary Gentilcore. Both wore aqua marquisette and carried talisman roses. Samuel Mancuso was best man for his brother and ushering were Angelo and Joseph Rinaldi, brothers of the bride.

Schaffer—Carrigan

The marriage of Miss Regina Grace Carrigan, daughter of Mrs. Ernest L. Bargquist of Baltimore, and William K. Schaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schaffer of Washington took place May 22.

Setting for the ceremony was the chapel at Fort Lincoln, Bladensburg, Md. Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Bargquist, the bride wore a dress of white organza with wide ruffle on the circular train. Her tulle veil was trimmed with lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Louise James was matron of honor, wearing orchid organdie and carrying yellow roses. Bridesmaids were Miss Noreen Carrigan and Mrs. Mary Berkley, attired in yellow dotted swiss and carrying red roses. All wore picture hats to match their gowns. Ardeen Trossbach, in a dress of peach-colored chiffon, was flower girl.

James Devaling served as best man and ushers were Clarence and Clifford Schaffer.

the bride wore an ivory satin gown and a veil of heirloom Belgian lace and illusion. She carried calla lilies.

Miss Connie Spiridopoulos, wearing orchid taffeta and carrying rubrum lilies, was maid of honor. Misses Mary Kekeris and Zue Vouzikas were bridesmaids, wearing nile green taffeta and carrying rubrum lilies.

Louis J. Chaconas was best man and Stephen Spiridopoulos, Peter Karadimos, George Karadimos, Angelo Karadimos, Emanuel Karadimos, John Chipouras and Peter Cokas were ushers.

After a Miami wedding trip, the couple will reside in Washington.

Heads N. Y. Society

Harold B. Barnett was elected president of the New York State Society at a recent meeting in Pierce Hall.

Other officers who were elected to hold office during the coming year, starting July 1, are Senator Irving M. Ives, Representative James W. Wadsworth, Pascal D. Fallon, John S. Richardson and Miss Ethel May Noden as vice presidents; G. T. Buckley, treasurer, and Miss Dorothy M. Gollinger, secretary.

Martz—Janowiak

St. Dominic's Church was the scene of the marriage on May 22 of Miss Clare Janowiak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Janowiak, and Robert William Martz, son of Mrs. Marie Martz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin and veil of illusion which fell from a crown of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Veronica Janowiak was maid of honor for her sister, and wore gold colored satin. The bridesmaids, costumed in green satin, were Miss Miriam Wassink and Mrs. Eleanor Martz. James Martz served as best man and ushering were Howard Lewis and Jimmy Arvanitis.

Study Is Conducted On Potato Values

Blacksburg, Va., May 31 (AP).—Here are some hints that may help housewives decide whether or not to peel potatoes. Virginia Agricultural Extension Service made public these findings of a recent study of cooking and nutrition and home economics:

Potato skins protect the food value of the spud. Leaving the skin intact fully protects the potato's store of vitamin C. Mashing potatoes causes only a small loss of this vitamin. Frying is the process that is most destructive of potato food values.

The bureau also looked into carrots and found that: Whether scraped or pared, the carrot keeps about 90 per cent of its vitamin C in cooking. Salt in the cooking water speeds up the loss of vitamin C from carrots.

The researchers found generally that cooking in pressure saucepans is a good method for holding food value.

How to Get Paint Analyzed

TO steam or not to steam? You can take your choice with this new iron with a removable steam attachment. For ironing sprinkled cotton clothes, leave the steam attachment off. When ready to steam-press woolens or steam-iron rayons, just slip the device back on the iron

Can you tell me of any place in Washington where I can have paint analyzed? R. S. G.

There doesn't seem to be a laboratory in Washington which analyzes paint for private individuals. However, the United States Testing Co., Inc., 1415 Park ave., Hoboken, N. J., is one firm which offers this service.

I've been hunting for closet bag hangers and frames. I have made some closet bags according to plastic manufacturer's suggestions and now no hangers to put in them! Do you know where I might buy them? J. W. H.

In a search for closet-bag hangers and frames, I found a wholesaler who says he could get them in wholesale lots, but has not bought them because he felt the demand did not justify it. His suggestion to you for obtaining them would be to obtain the name of a firm which makes plastic bags and write to this concern, asking for the name of a firm which makes this metal equipment. This wholesaler was sure you could buy such equipment on a retail basis directly from the factory which makes them. Here's another thought: The closet shop of a local department store said they have had numerous requests for this equipment. Because of this, you might be able to persuade the buyers for such a department to stock them.

Would you direct me to a shop selling graduated sizes of screw top jars for powders and such? I have two fine antique lids for which I need jars. D. B.

Your best chance of getting screw-top jars to fit your lids is at an antique store. To find the jars will probably take considerable time but, by a visit to the antique stores in your vicinity, you can make your needs known. Then when a bottle in the size you need shows up, they will perhaps notify you.

Is there any possibility for removing rust spots from a blue cotton shirt and cream-colored and gray rayon shirts? The stains are not large, but prominent, and I do not dare use the oxalic acid method described in your column the other day. K. L. L.

I'd suggest using the rust-removing soap that is sold in tubes and availabe at the 14th and New York ave. store of a large local drug chain. This affects some colors but not others, so it might be well to try it out on the shirttail first.

I would be very grateful if you or any of your readers could tell me of a safe method of relieving my pet cat of fleas? I have tried flea powder, but it didn't work out so well, as the cat licked himself and now I can't come near him with the powder. Is there a better way? A CAT LOVER.

You can greatly reduce and, in time, completely eliminate the fleas by getting rid of the eggs and larvae. To do this, frequently go over the place where the pet usually stays with the vacuum sweeper. If the cat has a bed, sprinkle it generously with naphthalene or moth crystals and cover tightly. After thoroughly cleaning the rooms where the cat stays, bathe the cat to get rid of fleas on it. Repeating this treatment whenever fleas appear will in time eliminate all of them.

We have a downstairs lavatory I should like to "paper" with cloth (not purchased yet). Will you tell me how I can do this, the paste to use, and perhaps some fabric suggestions. Would it be necessary to varnish or shellac it because of splashing from the sink? I would be greatly appreciative for advice on this and also, your suggestions where I can obtain pattern wallpaper. E. M.

Since you have not purchased the material for covering the walls, I would strongly advise against using cloth for this purpose. All cloth tends to stretch when wet, as it would be if paste were applied. This tendency, together with the resulting limpness, would make it difficult if not impossible for an inexperienced person to handle. Then, too, as you suggest, it would need to be given a protective covering to make removal of water spots easier. It would be, in my opinion, very much simpler to choose an appropriate washable wallpaper. One has only to leaf through the many sample books on display where wallpaper is sold, to find countless patterns—many of them designed to resemble chintzes, brocades, etc. These same books contain many huge patterns. They are much in vogue now. Purchase wheat paste for applying the paper.

Is cotton ticking used for covering pillows suitable to make shorts from? F. E. S.

Most cotton ticking is too heavy and closely woven to make it suitable material for shorts. It is possible, however, that a lighter weight ticking might be used for sport shorts.

A Homemade Cherry Stoner

If you have no cherry stoner, use a new steel pen point. Place the point of the pen in the pen holder and use the other end to scoop out the pits. This method will leave the cherry whole.

Nice Hangers

The plainest wooden hangers can be lacquered to harmonize with the color scheme of the closet where they are doing service. If that is too colorful, why not give them a coat of glossy black? It is very smart.

U. S. to Liquidate Information Setup

For lack of an $18,000 appropriation, the compact little Government Information Service Library is to be liquidated.

For 15 years the library, handily located at 14th st. and Pennsylvania ave. nw., helped such people as:

The man who wanted to sell pillows to the Navy and didn't know where to go or whom to see, and the equally bewildered man willing to turn his California laboratory over to the Government in the event of another war;

The foreign embassy that wanted information on Federal regulations concerning crematories;

The woman in Chevy Chase who had to locate a friend employed somewhere in the Government and get her on a 6 p. m. train because her mother was near death;

The White House official calling for the "Baruch report on medicine";

Started in Small Way

Back in 1934 the library began with a filing cabinet and a librarian, Miss Clara M. Edmunds. During the war it became a part of the greatly expanded United States Information Service, with a staff of more than 150 persons to answer questions about the hopelessly complex Government and its past and present activities. Then the decline set in. Today the staff includes only Miss Edmonds and three clerical assistants.

The library, now a part of the Office of Government Reports, also includes some 35,000 reference books and pamphlets and 35 filing cabinets of the material that experience has taught the librarian someone is going to ask for. It is a specialized collection shaped like a pencil point for its purpose, and was assembled almost without expense to the Government.

Yesterday, Miss Edmunds, fingering a letter, reflected that the "United States is the only Government without an information service."

The letter—from one of the 80 major Federal agencies, bureaus, boards and commissions to which the library has been a guide—read:

"In accordance with the attached letter from the President to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, the affairs of the Office of Government Reports will be liquidated June 30, 1948. Therefore your services will be terminated on that date . . . S. T. Adams, Personnel Officer, Bureau of the Budget for Office of Government Reports."

Several Federal agencies have asked for the library's collections. They are apparently going to the Senate Library, a unit designed for another purpose and whose services are not available to the general public.

Holiday Packs House For Concert

By Paul Hume

Giorgi Ciompi and Elio Gianturco played sonatas and a concerto for violin and piano last night in Phillips Gallery.

The holiday evening found a packed house for the violinist who had been widely heralded before his concert. Ciompi's gifts are immediately apparent, and diminish in stature as he plays an entire program.

First of all he has a fine, rich tone. It has little shading, and is often pressed too hard as in the opening of the Vivaldi concerto. The vibrato is constantly in evidence and never varies though the expressive content of the music on which it is used often changes. Ciompi also possesses a soft tone, but he seldom uses it throughout a single phrase. He could well study the playing of such violinists as Francescatti and Szigeti.

Technically he is brave, and adequate. There is feeling for the large line in such works as the Franck sonata, but little authority at present. In other words, it has not yet become in any sense a part of the performer himself.

One could reasonably anticipate that Tartini and Vivaldi would be familiar to an artist from Italy. But no audience would have thought that a violin and piano team would do such violence to Beethoven and Franck as marked the second half of the program. Rhythmic values in Beethoven's "Spring" sonata were ignored, and the whole style of the introspective score was lost in the technical problems confronting both players.

The Franck is a work possessing its own unique passion. When played as though all passion had been spent several hours before the performance began, it expires for lack of light and air. Gianturco, adequate indeed in the first half of the program was unable to cope even passably with the Franck. Tempos were cut in half, death rode the keyboard. This was not music.

Let us be constructive: Ciompi has a fine foundation. If he wishes to rise above hundreds of violinists in this country who equal him today, he must become an artist. How he is to do this he surely knows.

Accord Seen For Future of West Germany

London, May 31 (NYHT).—The six-power conference on western Germany overcame tonight its final obstacles to full agreement on the political and economic future of western Germany and will end tomorrow, barring unforeseen difficulties, it was learned tonight.

The delegates emerged tonight with what they confidently believed was a compromise formula designed to set up early next year a western Germany government and a seven-power international authority to control the allocation of the coal, coke and steel of the Ruhr.

Tomorrow afternoon, the conference is scheduled to issue a brief communique simply announcing the conclusion of the talks and stating that a full summary of the results will be pulished later. This report is expected to be issued next week, probably 24 hours before the whole western German problem is debated in the French Parliament.

The meeting late today appeared to settle the two main points which had blocked agreement for the last week. These points, which apparently were so delicate that they were not even discused in the conference since last Thursday, were:

1. The constituent assembly to draw up a constitution for western Germany will be convened September 1. The French had protested against this precise timing in fear primarily of a sharp reaction from the Soviet Union. The United States and Britain, however, insisted that the time-table be kept.

2. The estimated fifty-five delegates to the assembly will be selected in a manner to be decided by the parliaments of the various Laender (states) of western Germany. Originally, the French had insisted that the parliaments appoint the delegates, while the United States and Britain wanted them elected on the basis of universal suffrage. Under terms of the compromise formula, the parliaments will decide whether to appoint them or put their selection to the people of the Laender.

Presbyterians Against Split

Atlanta, May 31 (AP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (South) today voted down a proposal to withdraw from the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. The vote was 274 against withdrawal and 108 for.

In debate, the council was condemned as being pacifistic and anti-business, and was linked with agencies listed as Communist-front organizations. Defenders said the criticism was not justified, and the council was the only agency presenting a common front of Protestantism.

'Super-Patriotism' Held Needing God

Seattle, May 31 (U.P.)—A warning that "super-patriotism" must be balanced by the higher sovereignty of Almighty God or it will go the way of fascism was given delegates to the 160th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church (North) today.

The Rev. Dr. Jesse H. Baird, moderator, said "super-patriotism is wrought with dangers if we don't exercise care."

A summons to Presbyterians throughout the world to "bring whole-hearted energies to bear on the race problem," was given by Henry R. Luce, editor and publisher of Time and Life magazines.

One on the Aisle—

Hope's Man Has Grandiose Ideas

By Richard L. Coe

Moody Monday

RUFUS BLAIR,
Paramount Pictures,
Hollywood, Calif.

Dear Rufe:

Thanks for your letter from Double-Dubuque on Black Friday.

Yes, I would decidedly say Bob Hope would find a Washington welcome even in dank, blank August by the banks of the Potomac. I'd suggest he come equipped with his own air-conditioned diving bell for that one-night stand.

Sure, I remember his one-night stands of two summers ago, that flying trip to 32 cities for 36 shows in 28 days. For some now forgotten reason we ran into his cavalcade while parking a car down in Norfolk, and until "Road to Rio" I hadn't forgiven him the inconveniences of a Virginia traffic jam.

Parts of your letter make me laugh. You ask: "Should the show be outdoors in some local arena, ball park, college stadium, etc., or inside, say, your civic auditorium or maybe in a huge theater?"

Rufe, you just don't know your Washington. Some of those things we ain't got . . . "civic auditorium . . . huge theater," my foot.

The best bet, I'd say, would be to try to take over the Watergate, which will be used by the National Symphony and a few other groups, some private, this summer. The place can play to 10,000 and the sound system is good.

Barring that, you might try Clark Griffith's ball park. College stadia accessible to most of us don't exist, and unless Paramount can talk Loew's into renting the Capitol Theater there's no indoor spot of sufficient comfort. The nearest thing is Constitution Hall, but it's not air-conditioned.

Weekend Nights Best

You ask what night of the week would be best for Washingtonians. Friday or Saturday, Rufe. On either of those two nights you could probably play two shows and wind up at 2 a.m. with your pockets full of gold.

I hope you realize you're asking all this of a most unbusinesslike citizen of a drowsy, apathetic town.

Your question makes me long for the derring-do that put St. Louis and its Muny Opera on the map.

"Muny" opera is the nickname St. Louis has given its outdoor Municipal Opera in Forrest Park. Thursday night Muny will open its thirtieth season to an audience of 12,000.

In case you've never seen it, Rufe, "Muny" is a beautiful spot. They don't give opera; they revive old musical shows on a large scale; tossing in star players, vaudeville acts and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra under Edwin McArthur. The place is surrounded by trees; St. Louisans are enormously proud of it and people drive to performances from hundreds of miles around.

They do new musicals, too. This year's opener will be "Auld Lang Syne," with Henry Sullivan's score based on old Scottish airs and the lyrics from Robert Burns' poems. John Murray Anderson is to do it next season in New York. We almost had it here at Olney last summer, but it turned into a bigger venture than Olney could then accommodate.

Keep the Prices Down

So you see why your question made me think of St. Louis and the audiences of nearly 18 million who've visited the place on warm summer nights for 29 years. We just don't have anything like Muny here, but if we did maybe Bob could have found a home for his projected plane jaunt. How I do ramble on.

Still, I'm pretty sure a lot of us town-bound Washingtonians would be glad to laugh with your pal, Hope, come August. One more thing, though, Rufe:

Keep the prices down. If you should manage to get the open-air Watergate, some seats will have to be free, but with so many you ought to be able to do fine with tickets under a buck. What you'll do about the folks who paddle their own canoes up to the barge rests solely with the Hope wisecracks. The canoes get the show free.

Hope this answers your questions, Rufe, and that you'll be along soon to peck at that lunch I owe you. "Oklahoma!" reports that the Paramount visit was swell.

$75,000 Store Blaze Still A Mystery

Officials yesterday still were unable to determine the cause of a "mystery" blaze which swept through Snyder Hardware Store, East Falls Church, early Sunday, destroying stock valued at an estimated $75,000.

Fire Chief A. C. Scheffel of Arlington County, said yesterday after a visit to the wrecked three-story frame building it had been established the fire started in the basement.

Origin of the blaze, discovered about 3 a.m. which roared from the basement to the third floor through an elevator shaft could not be determined, he said.

Chief Scheffel said he understood the building and its contents were insurance-covered and reported that owners revealed stock inventories were placed at between $65,000 and $75,000 on January 1.

He would not estimate damage caused to the building, but pointed out that fire did not break through the side walls. The roof was destroyed.

Hundreds of cans of paint, linseed oil, turpentine and solvents exploded, as well as shotgun ammunition, firemen reported. Many deep freeze units and refrigerators were burned.

Nine pieces of equipment from Falls Church, Clarendon, Ballston and Cherrydale fought the blaze until 10:30 a.m.

Report Calls For Razing of 'Temporaries'

Activities of the Commission of Fine Arts from July 1, 1944, to June 30, 1948, are summarized in a report just prepared.

The commission, headed by Gilmore D. Clarke, New York landscape architect, calls attention to "the need of additional permanent buildings to take the place of the numerous temporary buildings that occupy park land."

The report expresses hope "that these temporary war buildings in the central area of Washington may be removed soon, in view of preparations that are being made for the sesquicentennial celebration in 1950 of the founding of the city.

The report also describes World War II memorials, designs for which have been submitted to the commission in compliance with Public Law 456, Seventy-ninth Congress, and defines the threefold intent of such memorials as "gratitude, recollection and inspiration."

After describing various appropriate types of memorials, the commission says there is one general principle that should be observed: The memorial should provide an effective setting for an annual meeting or act of remembrance, such as the placing of a wreath on Memorial Day.

Mar memorials of the civic improvement type, such as playgrounds and clinics, are disapproved of by the Commission because "these civic improvements do not as a rule fulfill the precise purposes of a commemorative monument."

In tabulating its work the Commission, of which H. P. Caemmerce of Washington is secretary, states that it held a total of 29 meetings, in addition to numerous subcommittee meetings, from 1944-48, and that an average of more than 350 questions of art involving the public interest were submitted annually.

Soviet Relations Threatening War, Robertson Warns

Harrisonburg, Va., May 31 (AP)—United States Senator A. Willis Robertson said here today that if this nation's strained relations with Russia are not repaired, they will lead to the most destructive war of all time.

Addressing a Memorial Day audience, Robertson asserted that the Russians were not sincere when they signed the United Nations charter, and have nullified it by use of the veto.

He said the United States had dispersed the greatest military power the world has ever seen on the assumption that the United Nations would be an effective agency for peace.

"Now, the Nation sees that we must rebuild a powerful military because force is the only language the Soviet leaders understand," he said. "We must make the Soviet Union understand there will be no peace of appeasement."

Blasts and Fire Raze Pittsburgh U. Laboratories

Pittsburgh, May 31 (AP).—The chemical engineering laboratories of the University of Pittsburgh were destroyed by a spectacular fire late today. Fire Chief William Davis estimated the loss at $500,000.

Explosion of dynamite, gasoline and other inflammable material fed the towering flames and hampered firemen in their efforts to control the blaze. Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

Included in the loss was a P-51 Mustang Army plane valued at approximately $200,000 which was being used by engineering students for study of aeronautics.

Chief Davis said at least nine explosions were attributed to dynamite and 10 were caused by tanks of gasoline.

Cuba Presidential Candidates Make Final Appeals

The government appealed to the populace to remain clam on election day tomorrow.

There are 4 candidates for President and 572 men and women seeking election to the Senate, the House of Representatives and other posts. The presidential candidates are:

Senator Carlos Prio Socarras, 44, anti-Communist whose chief campaign plank was praise of the administration of outgoing President Ramon Grau San Martin.

Senator Eduardo Chibas, 40, a minority party candidate, also anti-Grau.

Senator Juan Marinello, 49, the Communist candidate.

Marshall Plan Ship Greeted in Italy

Genoa, Italy, May 31 (U.P.)—United States Ambassador James C. Dunn formally greeted today the first aid ship to arrive at an Italian port under the Marshall Plan.

The United States Ship James Bowie, which docked with a cargo of 9000 tons of food and equipment, was, Dunn said, "evidence of the faith of the American people in the future of the Italian people."

Another American ship, the James McKay, later docked at Brindisi, in southern Italy, with 9000 tons of flour.

Reece Takes Slap at Tour By President

Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican National Committee declared yesterday that President Truman's trip across the country, starting Thursday, "will, of course, be as 'non-political' as the Pendergast machine."

(Mr. Truman first entered the national scene in 1934 as a Senator, having been elected with the help of the Kansas City political organization headed by the late Tom Pendergast.)

Reece, in a letter to party workers, asserted:

"Just why it is deemed necessary to pin a 'non-political' label on an obvious campaign trip is something of a mystery, although some light might be shed upon the subject if it were revealed whether the United States Treasury or the Democratic National Committee is footing the bill."

The White House said the cost will come out of the President's annual travel allowance.

Reece added:

"His obvious purpose in traveling across the country accompanied by a retinue of newspaper reporters, photographers and newscasters is to bolster up the waning prospects of his party and of his own candidacy."

"Gentler Sex" Has This Gent Bluffed

D. T. Tichnell of West Lanham Hills, Md., urges me to stand my ground against irate women drivers. Among other things, he says:

"Their greatest deficiency is in the use of hand signals. One never knows what information they are trying to convey.

"I have been so close to accidents on so many occasions as a result of these confused signals, that I have been forced to adopt a new technique for them.

"When I see a lady put her hand out of an auto window, I immediately come to a complete stop. And, if possible, I back up to a safe distance."

MAIL BAG

Dear Bill:

Your item about correct time was interesting, but I wonder how many people know how the Naval Observatory checks the correct time.

When a certain star crosses the meridian, it marks the end of one 24-hour period and the beginning of another.

The observations are taken at night, by instrument, and deviations in the master clock are recorded in fractions as fine as one-hundredth of a second.

The master clock is never touched or changed; in fact, it is looked at through a periscope, so that the heat of the body of the observer will not affect it.

In case your readers are interested, the earth has two main motions. It spins on its axis once every 24 hours, with a speed of about 1000 miles per hour at the equator. At the same time it is traveling around the sun, completing the 584-million-mile trip in 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9½ seconds, sidereal time—a speed of about 18½ miles per second.

There is a third movement, which amounts to approximately one second in each 2000 years. But let's not go into that.

G. R. Cooley

Dear Mr. Cooley:

An excellent suggestion—inasmuch as I'm still hunting through the dictionary for "sidereal."

Bill.

$64 QUESTION (CONT.)

The other day we ran a jingle from a girl who asked, "Where's my leap year bachelor?" E. E. R. responds with:

Frankly, I think the quest's in vain;
(I'm looking for the very same.)
But if I find one, by year's end
I'll ask him if he has a friend.

"Margie" has also been "looking," and recent developments in the Mary Worth comic strip have centered her sights on a likely prospect. She writes:

The question on my leap year quiz
Is: "Tell us who Doug Van Cort izz."
Restore my lost slumber
With Doug's private number;
I'd gladly change my name to hizz.

He said that it is not his intention to flout the authority of the United States Government, and that he is exercising his Constitutional right to question, by legal process, the right of a congressional committee to ask him what his politics are. If the Supreme Court decides that Congress has the right to ask him if he is a Communist, he will accept this interpretation of the Constitution and purge himself by answering the question . . . During this discussion a Viennese, who arrived here only two weeks ago, asked him: "But ARE you a Communist?" The director replied: "No."

Dr. Hugo Sperber, the Viennese criminal lawyer, once defended a client who was convicted of stealing. The prosecutor asked a heavy sentence because the defendant had been so brazen in his theft that he did it in broad daylight. "It is not permitted to steal at night time," said Sperber. "The prosecutor now asks a heavy sentence because my client stole in the daytime. I ask you—when SHALL my client steal?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Friendship Train to Russia?

By Drew Pearson

Reports from Europe indicate that we are muffing the ball in the exchange of so-called "peace notes" with Russia. We wrote a note to the Russians saying that the door was open to diplomatic discussions. The Russians fired back saying that they would like to talk. Then we replied that we didn't want to talk after all.

Pearson

There have been some explanations and counterexplanations since then, but the net impression in Europe has been bad. The Moscow radio makes us out as warmongers.

If the Russian people and the American people could pierce part of the iron curtain and ever get on speaking terms, there would be as little chance of war between us as between the USA and Canada. For governments don't declare war when their people are overwhelmingly opposed to war.

Believing, therefore, that the only sure way of preventing war with Russia is a people-to-people relationship, I have written a letter to Joseph Stalin. It may not accomplish anything. It may not even get a reply. But you never accomplish anything in this world without trying, so here is the letter:

Letter to Stalin

"Washington, D. C., May 31, 1948.

"My Dear Premier Stalin:

"As you may have heard, a large number of Americans, acting quite spontaneously, last year organized a train of friendship to carry food and good will to the people of Europe at the Christmas season.

"There was nothing governmental about this Friendship Train. We, the American people, were merely conscious of the fact that Europe was suffering and we wanted to do our part—and do it directly from people to people. So a Friendship Train started rolling from California to New York with the hope of collecting perhaps 100 carloads of food. In the end, 700 boxcars of food were collected by all sorts of people, farmers, housewives, war veterans, school children, labor union members and businessmen—all of it collected in the spirit of the Sermon on the Mount.

"I recall, Premier Stalin, that at one time you studied for the priesthood, and doubtless remember from those days the messages of the Sermon on the Mount and the Brotherhood of Man. The Friendship Train was conceived in that spirit.

"We carried our food not only to an old ally, France, but to our former enemies—Italy, Germany and Austria. We would have liked also to have visited eastern Europe and your country— had Americans been permitted to go there.

"We, the American people, know the tremendous sacrifices of the heroic Russian people. We know the devastation suffered by your towns and villages. And we, having been spared Hitler's bombings and blitzkriegs, feel a certain responsibility to alleviate suffering and hunger wherever it exists.

"Therefore, this letter is written to you, Premier Stalin, as we commemorate America's war dead, who more than anything else would like to know that they had not died in vain, and that their sacrifice had finally ushered in an era of peace. It is written to you at a time when tension between our two governments is great, at a time when your newspapers and ours are speaking of a war which neither of our peoples want."

Lift Iron Curtain

"One reason for this tension is suspicion on the part of the peoples of both countries, suspicion generated by the fact that they do not know what is going on inside the other's country. The so-called iron curtain has given Americans the impression that something mysterious is being developed inside your country which may lay waste our cities and farms.

"So I would like to suggest to you, Premier Stalin, that you lift a corner of the iron curtain as the first step toward improving diplomatic relations between us—which you have requested in your recent notes. I propose that we, the American people, again organize a Friendship Train, this time from the pepole of the United States to the children of Russia. For children should not be made to suffer the mistakes of their fathers. We will take this Friendship Train full of food to the Soviet Union on a nonpolitical basis so as to prove to you and your people that the American people want friendship, not fear; that we are very weary of war.

"Our Friendship Train through Russia will not engage in politics. We will ask no special privileges, no political priorities. We only ask that we have the opportunity to deliver our gifts in person as guests of your people, to meet them face to face and tell them that these gifts are from the heart of the American people.

"I can assure you that your acceptance of this friendship gesture would be a carried out in all sincerity by us and might be a milestone in avoiding the war which I am sure none of us wants, but toward which we seem to be drifting.

"Very sincerely yours,
"Drew Pearson."

That's the letter I am sending Stalin. I don't know that he will act on it, but if he doesn't, then we will know exactly where we stand with Russia. We will know —and can tell Europe—that the shoe is on the other foot and that it is Russia, having rebuffed this act of friendship, which is the real warmonger.

I also know that if Stalin should act favorably and if a new American Friendship Train were ever allowed to visit Russia, a part of the Russian people would realize that the American people are not warmongers, but genuine believers in people-to-people friendship. And between people who understand each other, it is not easy to make war.

Here's what PROFESSIONAL HAIR Treatments Can do for You!

Before You Treat Your Hair to Professional Care . . . KNOW THESE FACTS:

R. W. FARRELL, Trichologist

What Do Treatments Include?

Briefly, Hair Experts' treatments are a scientific combination of ultraviolet lamp therapy, special laboratory-created formulae, exclusive germicidal application, and professional massage applied scientifically at prescribed intervals. Treatments are pleasant and relaxing, administered in private.

How Long Before OBVIOUS Results?

For most scalp-disorder cases that we handle, it usually takes about 4 weeks of concentrated treatments to rejuvenate the scalp—correct local disorders, purge out infectious germs, clear clogged passages; overcome complex dandruff; normalize excessive dryness or oiliness, and energize the scalp to support and maintain the growth of normal hair. Then the scalp is treated to support and maintain continual hair growth.

How Much Do Treatments Cost?

Rates are reasonable. Because of the huge volume of business we control, our rates are lower than others. Also, more rapid results induced by our exclusive Vigo-liquids make treatments unusually fast and effective, and much more economical.

Why Do Professional People Prefer Hair Experts?

Because BASED ON ACTUAL RESULTS, our treatments have proved most effective! We number among our clientele bankers, members of the clergy, lawyers, nurses, professional athletes, and many public officials.

Treatments IN TIME Save Money—Save HAIR!

Most bald people could have saved their hair . . . had they acted in time! Once you notice symptoms of weak or thin hair, act immediately before fatal follicle shrinkage makes restorative treatments impossible. Come in IMMEDIATELY for a free, private consultation and complete examination. Relax under our pleasant, professional care, and get ready to enjoy thicker, virile hair.

• No Odorous Chemicals! • No Foul Smelling Ointments!

Atomic Union Hikes Wage Demands 11c

Oak Ridge, Tenn., May 31 (AP).—Workers at an atomic research laboratory here, restrained by Government injunction from striking before June 7, have increased their hourly wage demands from 15 to 26 cents.

The action was voted yesterday at a meeting of the AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council. A National Labor Relations Board poll will be held Tuesday and Wednesday to determine whether the union's 875 members want to accept a new contract offer by Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corp.

The company's new contract calls for an average hourly increase of 10 cents for production workers in the Oak Ridge national laboratory. The present average wage is $1.38 an hour.

Kenneth L. Scott, AFL organizer, said about 500 members of the union voted unanimously in favor of the new wage demand. Scott predicted the union will reject the company's offer "overwhelmingly" in this week's poll.

Asked if that would mean a strike, he said:

"We'll have another mass meeting next Sunday at which we will decide what course of action to take.

"I will say this, though," he added, "We will not strike against the Government. If the Government takes over the plant from Carbide and operates it under the same conditions it is operating, the union will not strike."

The Government obtained an injunction last March 19 preventing a threatened walkout by the union.

8 Women Treated For Illness After Hotel Breakfast

Eight women, part of a group of 50 sightseers from New York, were treated by a physician yesterday after being taken ill at the Ebbitt Hotel, 10th and H sts. nw.

After using a stomach pump on the patients, Dr. A. R. Greenfield, 924 19th st. nw., advised the women to rest in their rooms before returning home. He said their condition was "good."

The women felt ill shortly after breakfasting at the hotel, Dr. Greenfield said. The hotel assistant manager, H. A. Kutchton, said 175 other persons also were served breakfast, and the eight women were the only ones to complain.

Dr. Carl Dauer of the District Health Department laboratories, said Dr. Greenfield's report indicated no evidence of food poisoning.

Circus Hand Loses Life Trying to Halt Wagon

Pittsburgh, May 31 (AP). — A circus laborer gave his life last night in attempting to halt a runaway animal wagon at the lot of the Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey Circus. He was identified as Huston R. Absher, 26, of New Orleans.

Fellow employes said Absher was crushed to death when he tried to halt the wagon, which broke loose from a tractor and headed toward a group of spectators. A woman was struck and her leg broken.
